Air Force To Close Three U.S. Bases, Cut Back Fourth

Shift To Missile Strength Brings Shutdown Orders

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force, in a missile-age shakeup of its U. S. operating bases, announced today that it will close three big air bases and reduce a fourth to reserve unit status by June, 1962.

Mitchell Air Force Base, Long Island, N. Y., will be closed by June 1961. Chennault Air Force Base, Lake Charles, La., and MacDill Air Force Base, Tampa, Fla., will be shut down by June, 1962.

Donaldson Air Force Base, Greenville, S.C., now headquarters of a troop carrier wing, will be reduced in personnel and operate as headquarters for a reserve troop carrier squadron. The change will take place by June, 1962.

The Air Force also announced that Hunter Air Force Base, Savannah, Ga., will change from a Strategic Air Command base with B-47 bombers, to a military trasport service base in the spring of 1962.

The Air Force said these and 19 other moves and conversions grew out of a study of changes brought on by its transition from manned airplanes to a mixed force of missiles and aircraft.

Base closings result from a policy of locating support units on as few bases as possible and deploying combat units at bases which can be used for new missions such as missile operations.

The Air Force pointed out that it has scheduled the inactivation of numerous B-47 jet bomber wings and that several air bases no longer will be needed as a result.

It said operation of big strategic missiles, like the Atlas and Titan, can be carried out more effectively from bases which also are used for piloted bombers.

Lumumba Quits Leopoldville In Surprise Move

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—A surprise flight by ousted Premier Patrice Lumumba to his bush country stronghold today brought strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu racing back to Leopoldville, and there were reports he had ordered his troops to arrest Lumumba on sight.

The left-wing Lumumba, under United Nations troop guard in his official residence for the last six weeks, abruptly departed unescorted in a chauffeur-driven car for Stanleyville. He left a note that he would attend the funeral of his infant daughter and then would return to the capital to resume his demand for control of the government.

Lumumba's written statement stressed he was "not going to Stanleyville as a refugee."

His departure immediately recalled reports last week that Lumumba might try to form an independent nation of the eastern Congo district with Stanleyville as its capital. His brother, Louis, is political leader in the city where mob rule has replaced law and order.

Lumumba's month-old daughter died Nov. 18 during treatment in a Swiss hospital. The body was brought back for burial.

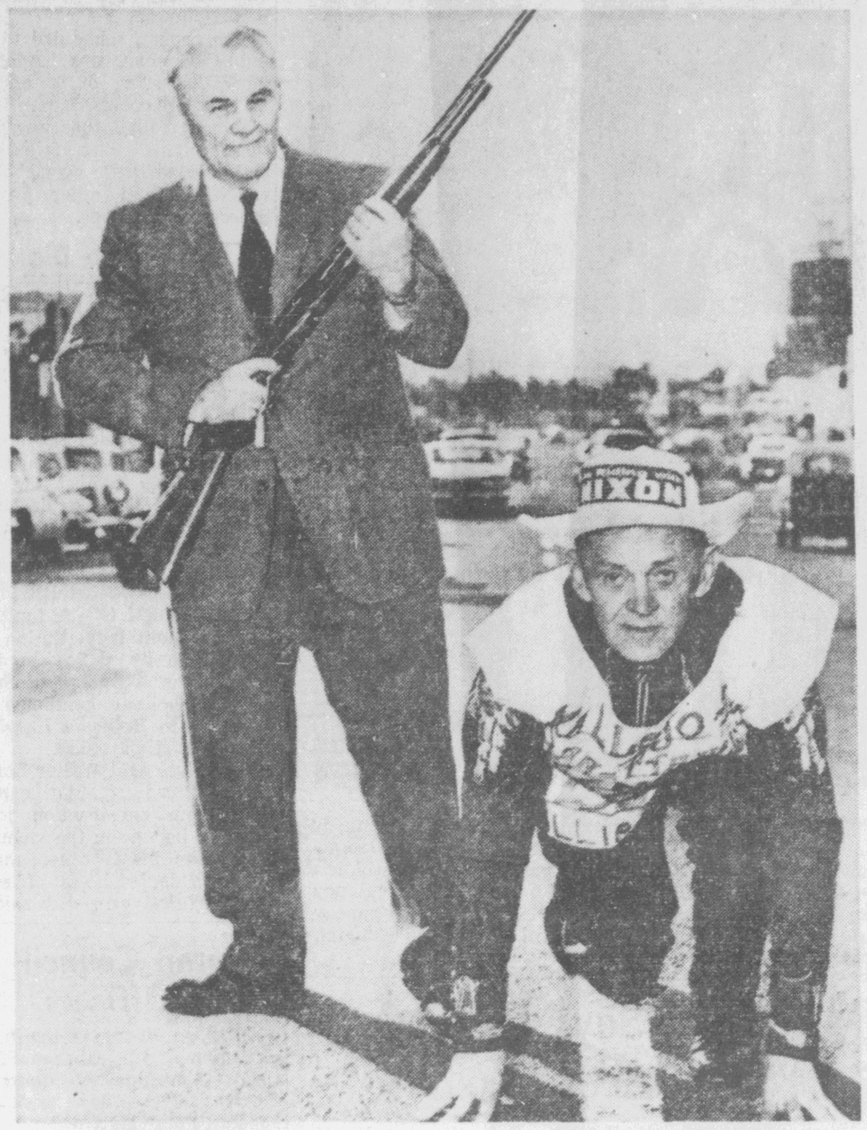

Bay Herring Run Starts

Sausalitans hooked bass right from the edge of the sandspit this morning as start of the herring run brought the bass close to shore in pursuit of their own breakfasts.

The herring run in Richardson Bay attracts bass in from the sea. When the bass chase the herring, the latter surface. Hundreds of seagulls and some pelicans were swooping down to eat the herring this morning.

Bass caught today ranged from five and 13 pounds, said Al Urbais of the Sausalito Boat and Tackle Shop.

The herring are expected to run for about two more weeks, Urbias said. They are a little early this year, normally running in December and January.

ON THE MARK FOR ELECTION PAYOFF

Alexis (Ollie) Ross, Vallejo swimming pool manufacturer who styles himself variously as a count and as "national Republican chairman," bet Tony Valladao, Vallejo bar owner, that Nixon would be elected President. The wager: The loser would have to walk from Vallejo to San Francisco. Ross gets start from Valladao as "official starter" in this photo taken at 10 a.m. today. Forced to go the long way around because pedestrians are forbidden on the Oakland Bay Bridge, Ross hoped to reach San Rafael some time this evening, then detour via Sausalito to the Golden Gate Bridge and the last lap to the San Francisco City Hall. MARIN BAY DEVELOPMENT

Assessment Plan Dinner Meet Set

Latipac-Perini Co. will wine and dine San Rafael city officials in San Francisco this evening to sell them on a $2,728,944 assessment district for Marin Bay.

Stone and Youngberg, the San Francisco investment counseling firm which has set up the proposed assessment district for the Marin Bay developers, has invited all members of the city council, plus City Manager Dan E. Andersen, Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles and City Engineer Dominic Selmi, to the 6 p.m. dinner at the Concordia-Argonaut club.

The dinner, according to the invitations, will be "to discuss the proposed City of San Rafael assessment proceedings for the Marin Bay development."

Details of the assessment district, largest ever proposed in San Rafael, are set forth in a book of some 200 pages, with accompanying maps, prepared by the San Francisco civil engineering firm of Daniel Coleman. (The same firm, incidentally, was hired in September by the city council to prepare a master plan of San Rafael streets and traffic pattern, at a fee of $15,000.)

Assessments per lot would run from $7,250 to $25,000 with two much larger parcels bearing assessments of $48,826 and $104,235, respectively. Lots would be sold with the assessments as encumbrances. Latipac-Perini reportedly has already sold some lots, subject to assessment.

The assessment district is proposed to be set up under the Public Improvement Act of 1911. This would leave sale of the bonds up to the developers, but the city would provide in-

Kennedy Jobs For Acheson, Bowles Hinted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President-elect John F. Kennedy today set up conferences with former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Chester Bowles. Both have been mentioned in connection with key foreign policy posts in the new administration.

Kennedy arranged to meet with Acheson at the home of the former secretary of state this afternoon. He will see Bowles at a breakfast meeting at the Kennedy home tomorrow.

Bowles, who decided not to seek re-election as U.S. represenative from Connecticut to devote full time to the Kennedy campaign, has figured in speculation over Kennedy's choice of a secretary of state. He is a former U.S. ambassador to India.

Acheson, a controversial member of the cabinet in the Truman administration, has been mentioned as a possible U.S. representative to the United Nations or the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

His more likely role, however, is a foreign policy advisor—a role he was expected to play at the meeting with Kennedy.

Kennedy also will meet here tomorrow with Gov.-elect Terry Sanford of North Carolina and Bert L. Bennett of Winston-Salem, chairman of the North Carolina Democratic Executive Committee. Kennedy invited them to meet with him.

60-Year Peek Into Future Sees 5-Fold Increase In Marin Population

(This is the first of five stories digesting the voluminous report of the Army Corps of Engineers on the Bay Area's future, as it affects Marin.)

By RANDALL GOULD

Spectacular growth of Marin County during the next 60 years, including a fivefold population increase to 790,000, is forecast in a report just issued by the U.S. Department of Commerce under the title "Future Development of the San Francisco Bay Area 1960-2020."

Prepared and published for the U.S. Army Engineer District, San Francisco Corps of Engineers, the volume predicts economic, land use, population and reclamation prospects for nine counties as an aid toward achieving maximum use of the area's resources.

An introductory summary says that Marin by the end of this year "will have developed about 14 per cent of its urban land potential, making it the most extensively developed of all North Bay Counties." In 2020 this should have risen to 62.9 per cent.

Marin is lumped with Napa, Solano and Sonoma as now having just under 20 square miles devoted to industrial use but with an expected figure in the year 2020 of nearly 70 square miles for the three counties. But Marin will rise only from a present four to nine square miles 60 years hence.

These same counties now use a little more than 100 square miles for residential and commercial uses but their requirement is expected in this category to rise to about 780 square miles through the next 60 years. During the same period, land devoted to agriculture is expected to diminish from a present 2,400 square miles to just over 1,700 square miles.

Much of the remaining marshland areas throughout the Bay Area will be reclaimed by 1990 for various purposes among which recreation "may be comparatively important," says the survey.

Venezuela Acts To Crush Riots

President Accuses Reds, Calls Out Army

CARACAS (UPI) — President Romulo Betancourt called out the army today to combat wild street rioting which he said was aimed at putting Venezuela under a Communist dictatorship

Constitutional guarantees were suepended throughout the nation for an indefinite period because, Betancourt said, the government will not tolerate "civil war" in Venezuela. As the president spoke, riots raged through downtown Caracas. The presidential palace was put under heavy tank and infantry guard. Street barricades were erected to divert traffic.

The president's decisions were announced to the people over a nationwide radio and television hookup. His speech came after a four-hour emergency session of the cabinet.

SUPPORT DECISION

Top government, army, political and labor leaders supported Betancourt's decision to use troops to end the street rioting which has paralyzed the city.

Betancourt specifically accused the Communist Party and leftist political movements of being responsible for the disorders.

"They form a part of the insurrection which seeks to establish in Venezuela a regime similar to that in Cuba," he declared.

The president's speech came as leftist-led demonstrators surged through the city, provoking frequent clashes with guardsmen and military police.

25 INJURED

At least 25 persons were injured in the first few hours of rioting, most of them tear-gas victims.

Many more persons were injured by flying stones, or trampled by the mobs as they fled in wild disorder before the tear-gas assaults.

It was the fourth—and worst—day of anti-government rioting. At least three persons have been killed and more than 125 injured so far. An estimated 66 persons have been arrested.

Solon Scores Proposal To Fix Drug Price

McCarthy Charges Law Would Also Ban Advertising

State legislation to legalize price fixing of prescription drugs and prohibit their advertising is being planned at the same time a federal grand jury is investigating allegations of price fixing in this field, State Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-Marin) charged today.

He displayed a letter on recommended legislation which called for prohibition of advertising.

MADE STAND CLEAR

"I thought that we (the legislators) had made our stand clear back in May, when we stopped efforts by the State Board of Pharmacy to set up restrictive price advertising rules."

Referring to a hearing at which it was agreed that a state licensing board would overstep its functions and usurp legislative prerogatives in attempting such restrictive legislation, McCarthy alleged, "in effect they are now asking us to clear the way for such a ruling."

BACKS LEGISLATION

He disclosed that he had been given a copy of a letter written by Floyd N. Heffron, executive secretary of the California State Board of Pharmacy, to the Joint Healing Arts Committee appointed by the board.

This said the Pharmaceutical Institute — for which Heffron also has acted as spokesman— is to back legislation "that

New Orleans White Pupils Skip Classes

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Four Negro girls and two white children returned to classes today in two elementary schools which once held more than a thousand white students.

"You've got the whole school to yourself now," shouted a bystander as three Negro girls—all 6-year-olds in the first grade—returned to McDonogh School. It was true. The last white student had left the school before a holiday shut down classes all last week.

At William Frantz School, one Negro girl went back to her first grade class with the two white students, one of whom is a little girl in kindergarten who goes home at noon every day. On Nov. 18, the last day of school before the holiday, there were four whites in Frantz.

The smallest crowds of hecklers since integration began Nov. 14 were on hand in front of the two schools today. And attendance over the entire system increased sharply over the first week of integration.

Siren's Wail Causes Air Raid Scare

The wailing of the Belvedere fire siren across Richardson Bay at 3:30 a.m. today sounded like an air raid warning to many persons.

Three women telephoned the Sausalito Fire Department, three persons called the Belvedere police, the Mill Valley police called Sausalito police, and the county communications center in San Rafael telephoned the Sausalito Fire Department to learn what it was. Several asked if it were an air raid.

The blast was from a new siren of the Belvedere volunteer Fire Department, which sounded to call firemen to put out a blaze in the front seat of Dr. Benton Mathews' car at 54 Peninsula Road.

SPECIAL APPARATUS

Larkspur firemen wearing special breathing apparatus battled a smoky fire yesterday that caused damage estimated at $4500 to a two-story hillside house.

Twenty-three firemen, with three trucks, confined the fire to the rumpus room and garage and had it under control in four or five minutes. But it took some time to get inside, Chief George Bartram reported. "It was about the smokiest fire I've ever seen." he said.

Firemen used the special breathing apparatus—Scott air packs—and a smoke ejector to get into the house.

The chief said the rumpus room and contents were a "total loss" but firemen managed to save some of Briggs' personal records stored there.

Destroyed were antiques, a freezer, icebox, stove, two beds, some mattresses and cushions, Bartram reported. The rest of the frame house had considerable smoke damage.

Cause of the blaze was still under investigation today, but it may have been the electrical wiring, the chief said.

Kentfield Fire Department sent one truck and several air packs to assist Larkspur.

Cites Needs In Defense, Foreign Aid, Education, Research, Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's commission on national goals has outlined a program for America in the 1960s that would cost billions of dollars more of government spending.

This could mean a tax increase, the commission of 11 distinguished Americans concluded in a 30-page report made public by the White House yesterday. A copy was sent to President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Specifically, the commission urged the nation to arm adequately no matter what the cost and to spend billions of dollars more on education, foreign aid, research and cities.

The national goals proposed by the commission also included the elimination of racial segregation, the reduction of unemployment, and a foreign policy that preserves the United Nations while remaining ready to negotiate with the Soviet Union on any reasonable basis.

The commission and its report stem from President Eisenhower's State of the Union message almost two years ago. In it, the president said the nation should define its national purpose and goals.

The report now serves as a legacy from the Eisenhower administration to the incoming Kennedy administration. In several respects, the recommendations resemble the "New Frontiers" program outlined by Kennedy in his campaign.

Eisenhower created the commission last January, naming Dr. Henry M. Wriston as chairman. Dr. Wriston is president-emeritus of Brown University and president of the American Assembly, an educational institution.

Frank Pace Jr., chairman of General Dynamics Corp., and a former secretary of the army, is vice chairman.

Members of the commission did not agree on all goals. Among them, AFL-CIO president George Meany dissented from several recommendations.

The commission said racial segregation should be wiped out by 1970 and barriers in education, voting, housing and other fields should be sharply lowered by that date.

The commission said the United States should maintain and strengthen the military alliances of the free world. But nuclear disarmament should be the ultimate goal.

Foreign aid, the report said, should be increased and shared by all major free nations.

Tax revision also was proposed. The commission said this would include more liberal depreciation allowances for industry and the closing of tax loopholes.

Doctors Say Kennedy Son, Mother Fine

WASHINGTON (AP) — The John F. Kennedys — father, mother, newborn son and small daughter—all appear to be doing splendidly, thank you.

Father from time to time, however, did show some slight signs of harassment.

The word from the Kennedy doctors yesterday was that the baby, John F. Jr., born Friday, was coming along fine, was perfectly healthy and had its first regular feeding — three-quarters of an ounce of powdered milk formula.

NORMAL BABY

Dr. Edward B. Brooks, a pediatrician, said the youngster has reacted entirely normally for a premature baby born by Caesarean section.

One new statistic was provided—John Jr. is 20 inches long. It was announced earlier he has brown hair.

As for mother Kennedy's condition, Dr. John W. Walsh, who performed the Caesarean section, said she was feeling bright and chipper and that "everything is really going beautifully."

SEES HER SON

Mrs. Kennedy saw her son for the first time Saturday evening. She rode a wheelchair to the nursery and her husband, who by then had seen the baby six times on previous visits, went with her.

Kennedy reported his wife pleased and happy. She probably will be discharged from the hospital in about 10 days.

Over the weekend, the president-elect solved one problem —how to tell Caroline about the addition to the family. He informed her that her mother was away getting her a brother.

Yesterday morning the president-elect and Caroline came out of their home and walked three blocks to Mass at Holy Trinity Church.

CARRIES DOLL

Inside the church, Kennedy had his troubles.

Caroline, who had been greeted with "happy birthday" shouts all along the way, was in bubbling spirits and never sat still for an instant.

She sprawled on the kneeling bench. She stretched out on the seat. She ducked under the pew. She clambered over a pew divider and snuggled up to a teen-age girl.

At that point daddy retrieved her. Once more she scrambled under the pew, once more she was retrieved and spent the rest of the service on her father's lap.

ON WAY TO CHURCH—President-elect John F. Kennedy and his 3-year-old daughter, Caroline, leave their Georgetown home on way to church yesterday. It was Caroline's birthday and a small crowd of well-wishers called "Happy Birthday" as she walked with her father. Later Kennedy visited his wife and their new son in Georgetown Hospital. AMA Chief Says Kennedy Has No Medical Mandate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Dr. E. Vincent Askey, president of the American Medical Assn., said today President-elect John F. Kennedy's narrow election victory denied him a mandate to make massive changes in medical care programs.

Askey urged the nation's doctors to pitch in and back the recently approved federal-state program of merical care to the aged, strongly supported by the AMA.

He said this was the best strategy for combating an expected drive by the Kennedy administration to junk the present plan in favor of medical care for the elderly under the social security program.

Askey made the remarks in a speech for the second session of the AMA's 14th clinical meeting in a fighting mood.

His speech sounded the same battle cry as previous speakers —the AMA should not permit Keunedy's election to slow down its vigorous fight against the social security medical proposal.

"While our profession clearly may face a hard struggle in the 87th Congress on the issue of medical care for the aged under socnal security, there is no ground for defeatism," he said.

"The president-elect's margin of victory is so narrow that it would be difficult for even the most zealous adherent to consider this a mandate for a massive program of social change."

ALLEGED RINGLEADER SOUGHT

3 Suspects Face Charges In Southland Kidnaping

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Police today will seek formal complaints from the district attorney charging a married couple and the wife of a suspect still at large with the $200,000 kidnaping of sportsman Anthony Alessio.

The man and two women were arrested in Hollywood Friday, two days after Alessio, 41, was found uninjured following payment of the ransom by his wealthy family.

Police said $77,000 of the ransom was recovered when the three were arrested—but $123,000 of the money in $100 bills and less was still missing and presumed by police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation to be in the hands of three or four suspects still being sought.

Those already arrested are John Gorman, 29, and his wife Ruby, 30, of Monterey Park, and Selma Marrone, 25, of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Marrone is the wife of ex-convict Frank Marrone, 32, a Los Angeles bartender now being sought in the United States, Canada and Mexico as the possible ringleader of the gang that carried out the kidnaping last Tuesday.

Other suspects still at large have not been identified.

Alessio, member of a wealthy California family which among other interests own the Caliente horse racing track in Mexico and the Hotel Del Coronado near here, was grabbed by two armed men Tuesday outside his San Diego home.

Alessio was blindfolded and handcuffed and held for about 32 hours before his family was told where to find him in a motel after payment of the ransom.

Soldiers From Fort Baker Repel 'Enemy' In 3-Day Southern Marin War Exercise

Unit Combines Mock Battle, Construction

Marin civilians were unaware of it, but an armed "enemy" was repelled on the beaches of Southern Marin last week.

The 561st Engineer Company (Port Construction) of Fort Baker turned combat soldiers for a three-day "battle" at Kirby Beach, while constructing a loading ramp at Lime Point and a finger pier at Horseshoe Cove.

The company bivouacked at artillery bunker emplacements on the beach. By noon of the first day, both construction projects were under way, with a a two-week schedule for completion.

TIGHT DEFENSE

A motor convoy was harassed briefly by "guerilla elements" en route to the beach. A command post, field mess and hospital were set up, with outposts manned around a tight defensive perimeter.

But an "aggressor" force, comprised of soldiers from (of all places!) the 16th Base Post Office, commanded by Capt. Alfred Brazeau, was infilitrating the area—its mission to delay work on the projects, disrupt communications and harrass the 561st with rifle and gas attacks.

By 4 p.m. the First Platoon of the 561st, under Second Lt. Jack Rossman, had put up a heavy wooden framework for the ramp at Lime Point. As the second shift of construction workers worked into the night, it was suddenly hit by aggressor machine gun and rifle fire.

AGGRESSORS RETREAT

Sp/5c Earnest Wrench, a welder, described the attack this way, "We were working under lights when they attacked. Even after we cut off the lights, we could spot them by their rifle fire in the night."

Within 30 minutes the aggressors had retreated.

Most of the men were able to grab only a couple hours of sleep during the first two days. On the second day, the aggressors opened up with a cross-fire on the First Platoon. Soldiers from the First Platoon inched their way up the hill, routing the aggressors, who had theoretically suffered a high number of casualties.

Meanwhile, the Second Platoon, led by Second Lt. Richard Broberg, had begun work at Horseshoe Cove by 7 p.m. the first day. Although no attempt was made by the aggressors to attack in the first two days, the dock area was heavily ringed by guards.

AROUND THE CLOCK

Work went on around the clock as huge piles were driven into the ocean's bed. The finger pier, when completed, will be an access point for small craft.

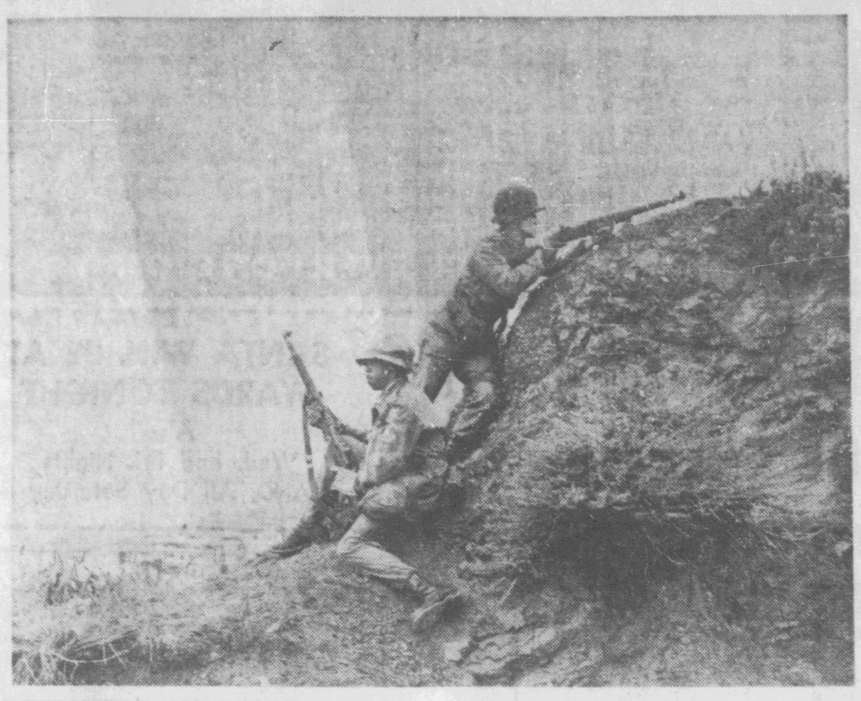

Cajt. A. G. Pieruccini, commanding officer of the 561st, was in charge of the 72-hour test. "One of the main considerations of this test," he said, "is our ability to function as infantry soldiers, if the need arises."

At the project areas and bivouac site, the soldiers, under harrassment from the aggressors, utilized every phase of their 16-week training, from first aid to the processing of prisoners of war.

A team of five umpires headed by Capt. Louis J. Giovane, rated the performance of the 561st during the test.

A the end of the third day, weary but high spirited troops moved from the bivouac area and returned to Fort Baker.

"If this is how it is in combat," exclaimed one soldier, "I'm glad I have had this training."

Participating will be Mrs. Jean Larkin of Wolfe Grade, Elizabeth Leng and Loretta DaValle of Kent School and Mrs. Mary Jane Smith and Mrs. Carol Auslen of Greenbrae School.

The term terra cotta is derived from the Italian and means "fired earth."

County Board To Consider Neider Plans

Strawberry property owners are expected to show up in force at the Marin County Board of Supervisors chambers tomorrow afternoon for two items on the agenda have stirred up past excitement, first before the Planning Commission and last week before the supervisors who hastily ordered a continuance.

The continued item, scheduled for 2 p.m., involves two projects approved by the planners —one at what property owners call "the main entrance to Strawberry" where Neider wants to place apartments on 13 acres near Highway 101, the other concerning an artificial 72-acre island east of Strawberry Point.

The island project merely involves Neider's wish to have lot sizes reduced from 10,000 square feet to 7,500. But neighbors have been raising a multitude of other issues ranging from navigation to use of road.

A third project involves property still under water, 25 acres to be filled along the east shoreline of Strawberry Point for erection of what attorney Bryan R. McCarthy has forecast would be the plushiest apartments anywhere to be found, with the finest of situations. The planners turned this down and it now comes up on appeal.

Ten matters sent by the planners in ordinary routine will also be heard after 2 p.m.

BUILDING CODE DUPLICATION WASTES CITED

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Untold millions of dollars are being wasted in California yearly because the state has no uniofrm building code, according to a noted architect.

Prof. Henry Charles Burge, dean of the University of Southern California School of Architecture, said yesterday adoption of a uniform code could result in enough savings to pay for the 1.75-billion-dollar Feather River Project.

"Each year the people of California, its crafts and its businesses are wasting untold millions of dollars because of the towering pile of overlapping, contradicting or duplicating building codes and regulations," Burge said.

He said a uniform code also would free architects from unnecessary costly restrictions which result in poorly designed buildings.

Burge estimated that all of the books of regulations covering all aspects of construction now in effect in California would be about the height of a six-story building if piled one atop the other.

Most new railroad passenger cars are 85 feet long, but on some lines they vary from 60 to 88 feet.

Storm Lashing Way Across Great Plains

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadic winds, thunderstorms, blinding dust and swirling snow drove across the Great Plains as autumn's most severe storm moved eastward into the Mississippi Valley today.

South of the front, gusty winds from the Gulf of Mexico sent the mercury to record heights for the season. Shirtsleeved citizens enjoyed Sunday outings.

As the front advanced, icy winds from the northwest tumbled temperatures and drove blinging snow from Colorado into Nebraska and northwest Kansas. Snow depths had reached four inches early today.

The sharp contrast kicked up severe thunderstorms in Kansas, where a tornado flicked across the edge of Concordia, a town of 7,100. Several buildings were damaged, power lines and trees were knocked down.

Forty miles northwest of Concordia, .55 inch of rain fell in 10 minutes, the Weather Bureau said.

Elsewhere in Kansas, tornadic winds ripped apart buildings on four farms southeast of Wichita. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace R. Walters of Wichita were injured when their car was blown off a highway. A woman was injured by flying debris at Hutchinson.

In New Mexico, ice and snow made roads hazardous in the northern sections and choking dust cut visibility to five miles in other areas. Clara P. Yowell, 58, Hobbs, N.M., was killed in a car that skidded off icy pavement and overturned.

$118 Stolen From Building Concern

Goodman Building Supply Co. at 775 Redwood Highway in Alto was looted of $118 over the weekend, it was reported today by Dick Harris, owner.

Sheriff's deputies said Harris told them the money had been taken from a hiding place in the storeroom, apparently by someone who knew the layout of the building.

The company safe, in which records are kept, was opened but not rifled, Harris said. Undisturbed in the safe were signed payroll checks, he said.

Entry was made, officials said, through a back door of which a window pane had been broken.

The highest altitude in the city of New Orleans is 15 feet, and the lowest four feet below sea level.

Nerves Produce Variety Of Ills

by Dr. Robert W. Pearce

Too many of us have been told, your trouble is nerves, just nerves.

Nervousness is not unusual. But it should not be dismissed lightly. More and more doctors are coming to the conclusion that nervous tension is the result of a chemical imbalance in the body.

Nerves can cause an upset stomach, pains in the chest, legs and other parts of the body. What causes these pains and the chemical imbalance in the body?

Your spine consists of 24 bone segments. These bones sit on top of each other. They have a hole in the center and through this hole passes your spinal cord and the nerves to all parts of your body.

A fall, a sudden twist or even poor posture may move one of these spinal segments or vertebrae slightly out of line. Nerves become pinched when this happens and a chemical imbalance can result. You begin to feel irritable and have pains and eventually break down in health.

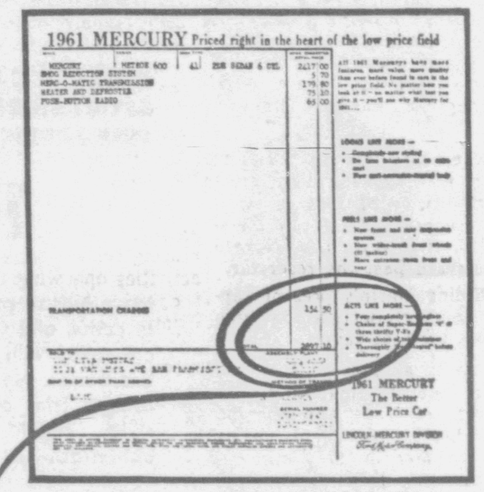

Chiropractors use X-ray and other scientific instruments to determine whether your nervous tension is caused by a misaligned spine. They are well-trained to correct such defects and help restore you to health.

BRINGING HOME THE CHRISTMAS TREE

Most of Marin's youngsters probably think Christmas trees grow in tree lots. But when you want a really big one—as the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce did for its Lytton Square holiday display—you have to go to the tree's natural habitat. In this case, the natural habitat was on Marin Municipal Water District land a mile above the Frank Valley Road. The tree was cut down and a trail to it cleared ahead of time. At left, three airmen from the 666th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron hike up to get the tree. They are (from left) A/1c Jesse Acosta, A/3c John Quillen and A/3c Thomas Blanch. In next picture Bob Robertson, chairman of chamber of commerce yule decoration committee, ties chain to foot of big double-trunked tree selected (which was sawed down, not chopped). The tree is next seen ready for tying behind tractor for downhill haul to Mill Valley. At far right, tractor driven by Joe Ponte of Mill Valley Street Department starts the haul. At left is Donald Victorino, city gardener. (Independent-Journal photos by Dick Steinheimer) roads to freeway class. Highway 101 will continue to develop into a true freeway throughout Marin. The same is shown for the Shoreline Highway, despite current effort to modify this to a more leisurely and scenic status.

Bay Area Urban Land Use Growth Foreseen

Connecting these two will be a short freeway section, the existing Lagunitas Road from just north of Point Reyes Station. This is to connect eastward with a big loop. Its southern section will be the present Sir Francis Drake stretch through Tocaloma, Lagunitas, Forest Knolls, San Geronimo, Woodacre, Fairfax and San Anselmo, deviating thence to go through San Rafael to Highway 101.

The other freeway will connect with Novato in a great northerly swing looping along the general line of the Petaluma Highway and Novato Boulevard past the reservoir.

Noting Marin's present rapid southerly-section development, the text says:

"As is at present the case with Marin, major future growth of Napa and Sonoma Counties is most likely to be concentrated in their southern sections which border the bay.

"For a considerable part of the projection period, the character of this growth is likely to be predominately (but not exclusively) suburban. As the southern reaches of Marin and northern East Bay residential areas become more crowded, the Bay Area's expanding population will find the southern portions of neighboring Sonoma and Napa Counties increasingly attractive for residential development."

Because of present high population density, San Francisco is expected to show the least growth, though reaching 1,018,000 by 2020 from 793,000 now. A total Bay Area population of 14.4 millmillion is expected in 60 years from a present 3.8 million.

Overall North Bay population is expected to go up nearly eight times as compared with five times for Marin, and "26 per cent of the total Bay Area population in 2020 will live in the North Bay Counties as compared with 19 per cent in 1990 and 14 per cent in 1960."

Most intensive industrial and commercial development is expected to be in the southern part of the Bay Area, with services providing more jobs than wholesale and retail trade — wholesale business in particular being expected to gravitate more and more toward Los Angeles.

By 2020 it is expected that 2,400 square miles, or two-thirds of the available area, will be in urban use, with the dominant trend one of "urban encroachment onto agricultural lands" and increasingly intensified land use.

The Bay Area is expected to remain a headquarters and operating center for construction activities operating throughout the world. Agriculture, mining, forestry and fishing are expected to provide less employment.

North Bay counties will still have land for urban development in 2020, it is thought but industry, commerce and residential activities will have taken up all land suitable for urban purposes in the South Bay area.

MINK STOLE'S LOST AFTER FAMILY ROW

A $1,500 mink stole appeared lost forever today after a family row between a Greenbrae man and his wife early yesterday.

The husband, Robert Kenneth Weeks, 34-year-old caterer of 150 Corte Balboa, was jailed on a citizen's arrest by his wife, Jeanne Marie. He was free today on $262 bail, scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court on an assault charge tomorrow at 1:30 p.m.

Sheriff's deputies said Mrs. Weeks told them she and her husband began arguing while driving from San Francisco about 4 a.m. yesterday.

The climax of the battle came, she said, when her husband pulled the stole from her shoulders and threw it out the window of the moving car just before they reached the toll plaza of the Golden Gate Bridge.

California highway patrolmen searched the area but found no trace of the fur, they said.

2 Runaway San Jose Boys Picked Up Here

Two boys, 13 and 14 years old, were picked up early today at the north end of the Richardson Bay Bridge, ending a runaway from their San Jose homes.

They admitted to Sheriff's Deputy Dennis Shine that they were running away, he said.

Crime Confab Delegates Win Appeal

NEW YORK (UPI)—The U.S. Court of Appeals today reversed the conviction and sentences of 20 delegates to the Apalachin, N.Y., underworld convention of Nov. 14, 1957. The men had been charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice.

In the opinion of the three-judge panel, "There is nothing in the record of the trial to show that any violation of federal or state law took place or was planned at the gathering. . . "

The 20 delegates to the so-called "hoodlums convention" were sentenced last spring to prison terms running from three to five years and 13 of them were fined $10,000 each.

The men were freed on bail pending their appeal. The decision today upset two years of efforts by federal law enforcement agencies, which had sought to discover the reason for the conclave at Apalachin.

The ruling was a major reversal to the Justice Department's new strategy against alleged crime syndicates. This strategy had been to prosecute for criminal conspiracy in cases where suspected syndicate leaders jointly refused to answer questions on grounds of self-incrimination.

Complaints Oust Three Salesmen

Three self-styled salesmen were hustled out of Marin County last night after numerous complaints from residents in the Homestead area that the men were ringing doorbells and soliciting.

The three, all from Fresno, were Michael Carey, 22; James McLeod, 20, and Robert L. Morris, 20.

They told sheriff's deputies they "were not peddling" but "conducting an educational survey." They said the represented a magazine company.

Officers told them either to apply for solicitors' licenses or leave the county.

Auto Victim Gains

Mrs. Joann Edmundson of 719 Spring Street, Sausalito, was reported as "fair and improving" in Marin General Hospital today. Mrs. Edmundson suffered a broken nose and jaw and other injuries in a Golden Gate Bridge auto accident last Thursday

MISHAP TOLL DIPS DURING HOLIDAY SPAN

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's accident death toll during the four-day Thanksgiving weekend ran lower than for the similar holiday periods of the last two years.

The 597 deaths counted today included 436 in traffic, 52 in fires and 109 in all other types of accidents.

The holiday weekend traffic toll compared with a count of 433 taken for comparative purposes by the Associated Press over a weekend of corresponding length

Last year the 102-hour period from 6 p.m. Thanksgiving eve to midnight the following Sunday yielded 650 dead—445 killed on the highways, 70 in fires and 135 in miscellaneous accidents.

The count the preceding years was 626, including 454 traffic deaths, 54 in fires and 118 in miscellaneous accidents.

Marin Tennis Players Back After Tourney Competition

Two 14-year-old San Rafael High School students were back in school today telling their classmates about the thrill of competing in the National Indoor Junior and Boys Tennis Tournament in St. Louis.

Steve Stockton and Harvey Klyce of San Rafael arrived home last night from the tournament with the satisfaction of having reached the national semi-finals before losing in their doubles play. Stockton also reached the quarter-finals and Klyce the third round in singles play.

The boys, whose trip was financed by contributions from Marin County organizations and individuals, finally were eliminated from doubles play yesterday afternoon in the semi-finals by Bill Bane of Odessa, Tex., and Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex. The score was a well-fought 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Earlier, they advanced to the semi-finals with victories of 6-1, 6-3 over Leo Destopare and Tom Weinstock of St. Louis, and 6-4, 7-5 over Frank Conner and Brian Smith of East St. Louis.

In singles play the fourth-seeded Stockton lost to John Pickens of Alabama in the quarter-finals. A round earlier Klyce was eliminated by Pickens.

Stockton and Klyce competed in the boys division, 15 years of age and younger.

McCarthy Calls Span Job Waste Of Money

Creation of a $12,000 job of assistant general manager of the Golden Gate Bridge District was stigmatized as "a waste of money" today by State Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-Marin).

Although McCarthy said he thought the manager himself should be "capable, competent and able to carry on all functions of his job," he added that the job itself should be abolished in favor of something better.

"I would recommend the abolition of the general manager's position at the present level," he said, declaring that instead somebody should be hired who would combine administrative ability with a backing of civil and structural engineering knowledge.

"He should be able to carry on the functions of administering the bridge," McCarthy said, "while looking out for all safety precautions in the most important thing, the engineering feature."

McCarthy made clear that he had no criticism of the personal ability of new assistant, William H. Hendricks of San Rafael.

"Bill is very capable," he said. "In fact he could probably do a better job than (James) Adam (the general manager)."

Ultimately the Golden Gate Bridge ought in any case to be brought under a unified arrangement with other bridges in the Bay Area, McCarthy added, although the plan should be one to prevent accumulation of too much power in a few hands.

McCarthy said he did not favor making the Golden Gate Bridge toll-free, but the Richmond Bridge toll should drop from 75 to 25 cents.

Talks Slated On Fate Of Young Slayer

The future of Clifford E. Fortner, teen-age slayer of 12-year-old Lorna Lax, will be discussed tomorrow afternoon in the chambers of Judge N. Charles Brusatori, Marin County juvenile court judge.

Fortner, 16, broke out of Langley Porter Clinic in San Francisco last Tuesday with another clinic inmate, Michael Miller, also 16, of Mill Valley.

Fortner, whose parents live at 65 Hermit Lane, Kentfield, was committed to the clinic April 22. He was accused but never formally charged in the murder of Lorna Lax Nov. 16, 1959, in a Kentfield thicket.

Meeting with Judge Brusatori in closed session at 4:30 p.m. tomorrow will be Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety, Probation Officer Walter Busher and young Fortner's attorney, Thomas P. Boyd.

The juvenile court could send the youth back to the clinic for further treatment or order him tried on a charge of murder.

The two escapees were captured after they ran a stop sign in Mill Valley. Fortner is being held in Marin County Juvenile Hall.

Youth Lands 'Chute Near Front Yard

KINGSTREE, S. C. (AP) — Douglas James, 19, dropped in at his home for dinner one day recently from 2,500 feet above via a strawberry pink parachute.

The youthful sky diver had meant to land in a field a considerable distance from home and had his mother, Mrs. A. K. James, stationed there to drive him home for the mid-day meal. A strong northeast wind carried him to earth near his own front yard.

spection of the work and the county would collect the assessments with taxes. The city would not be liable in case of default.

Coleman's prospectus provides for sale of the bonds at 91 per cent of their face value (such discounts are customary in sale of 1911 Act bonds, which are not regarded as particularly desirable by bond buyers).

Interest on the bonds would be in addition to the $2,728,944 shown as estimated total cost of the district.

The proposal shows acquisition costs for the improvements (streets, curbs, gutters, drainage, sanitary facilities, underground electrical facilities) at $1,875,411, construction cost at $348,996, allowance for contingencies at $34,899, incidental expenses at $224,032 and bond discount at $245,605.

Included in acquisition costs are such items as $99,000 for acquisition of golf course flood easement on 132 acres at $750 per acre, and $149,625 for acquisition of drainage easements at $5,625 per acre.

At the time the vast acreage for what is now being developed as Marin Bay was sold by the McNear family to Latipac Corp., the purchase price was reported at "about four million dollars."

All members of the city council except Fred Jensen indicated today they plan to attend the winner. Jansen is ill at home with a stomach ailment.

While waiting for the doctor, Mrs. Treanor counted nine other patients coming and going, each wearing an arm cast. There were seven boys, one girl and an adult man—all with broken left arms.

4 Injured In 3 Collisions On Or Near Gate Bridge

Four persons were hurt in three collisions on or near the Golden Gate Bridge within half an hour of heavy southbound traffic congestion yesterday afternoon.

Two of the collisions were on the bridge and almost simultaneous, involving seven cars with injury of three persons about 5 p.m. Traffic backed up to the Waldo Tunnel. Within a short time one more injury occurred in a three-car crash half a mile south of the tunnel.

Stig Gustav Golden of Redwood City was cited by the California Highway Patrol for speeding after a four-car pileup on the bridge in which Naji Mehoi Alash of San Francisco was injured.

Two San Francisco secretaries, Elaine Carlsen, 23, and Loretta Cook, 25, were hurt in an almost simultaneous three-car crash on the bridge. Miss Carlson, driver of one of the cars, was treated at Park Emergency Hosital for knee cuts. Miss Cook, after emergency treatment for cuts on the face, was sent to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Sea Hunt Goes On, But Hope Dims For Pair

Despite dimming hopes, the search for two Coast Guardsmen, feared drowned off the North Marin Coast last week, continued today and over the weekend in response to pleas from the mother of one of the young men.

The men, Enginemen-Fireman Hugh James McClements, 19, of Cotati, and Boatswain's Mate 1/c Anthony E. Holmes, 24, of Street, Md., were apparently washed overboard while returning from a routine rescue mission in Bodega Bay last Wednesday.

Their boat, a 36-foot, self-righting lifeboat, was found aground with its engine running between the Radio Corporation of America and Point Reyes Station.

McClements' mother had urged the Coast Guard to continue looking for her son.

On both Saturday and yesterday, a sheriff's mounted posse of 10 led by Joseph Pecora, several Coastguardsmen and about 40 volunteer searchers from the Point Reyes area, combed the beaches for at least 20 miles.

STOCKS TODAY

COMBINED AP & UPI

NEW YORK—Late profit-taking blunted an upward drive today leaving the stock market with a hodge-podge of plus and minus signs.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3.5 million shares compared with 3.19 million on Friday.

Some issues widened losses, but there were more than enough gainers to leave the market's overall tone irregular. Virtually all changes were fractions to a point.

"I think it is safe to assume that the State Board of Pharmacy in effect recommends this type of legislation," said McCarthy.

He said "the consumer is now amply protected as to advertising" but lacks and needs representation on state licensing boards.

"Some of these state boards seem to lose sight of the main reason for their existence," said McCarthy. "They were set up to protect and serve the consumer, not to conspire in price fixing and restriction of trade."

Landmark Going

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — A 200-plus-year-old clapboard building, which is said to have housed the country's first weather bureau, is going to be torn down. A new building may be erected on the site.

A plaque on the side of the building describes it as "Home of Doctor John Lining, who made the first systematic weather observations with instruments in America January, 1738-February, 1753, in this building, which probably antedates the year 1715. . . ."

Ex-Engineer On Mountain Railway Dies

John Zuffinetti, who was machinist and engineer on the Mill Valley-Mount Tamalpais scenic railway for 17 years, died yesterday at a local hospital after a short illness. He was 73.

Zuffinetti loved his work on the railway, Engine No. 4 being his pet which he took up the mountain on Sundays. The rest of the week his job was to do maintenance on the railway's equipment.

Many times he would blow the whistle on his way home, pick up one or all four of his sons and give them a lift home to the roundhouse, which was behind the Zuffinetti home at 54 Corte Madera Avenue, Mill Valley.

When the railroad went out of business in 1930, Zuffinetti bought the roundhouse. Later it was torn down and sold.

Zuffinetti was a native of Italy and came to California in 1907, settling first in San Rafael. He got a job laying rails for the Northwestern Pacific Railroad. Next he worked for McNear's Brickyard. After four years he went back to Italy to get married. His wife, Ennocentina, preceded him in death.

He returned to settle in Mill Valley and work for the "crookedest railroad." He joined the Mill Valley Street Department after the railway closed, doing maintenance work. He retired in 1951.

He is survived by four sons, Frank, in the Navy on duty in Hawaii; Mario, also a sailor, on the aircraft carrier Hancock, in the Far East; Charles, auto parts salesman of Mill Valley, and Louis, Novato contractor. He is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Rosa Cantoni of St. Louis, and nine grandchildren.

Zuffinetti was a member of Eagles Aerie 256, San Rafael.

A Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church in Mill Valley. Interment will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley.

AUTO HITS FENCE

Car Interior Bursts Into Flames; 3 Hurt

A woman driver and two passengers suffered burns and bruises on Highway 101 just south of Alto today when a lighted cigarette caused a car interior to burst into flames and the driver to ram a fence.

Judy Tristana, 34, of Forest Knolls, a musician, was driving north at 6:30 a.m. when George Abend of 106 Spruce Street, Fairfax, seated beside her, lit a cigarette. Abend later said he is an artist and had placed some rags saturated with inflammable liquid on the floorboards when he entered the car.

Occupants said the whole car interior seemed suddenly to burst into flame, apparently from the rags. Miss Tristana tried to pull to the roadside but hit a cyclone fence and knocked out 15 feet.

Abend and Miss Tristan were admitted to Marin General Hospital and their conditions were termed satisfactory today. Abend suffered burns of the face, hands, right leg and right knee and Miss Tristan was burned on hands, face and feet.

Another passenger in the rear seat, Jean Baker, 44, also of Forest Knolls, received emergency treatment for a cut right thumb.

Water, Balloons Cause Cop Call

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Police cars converged on a grocery where several men were reported trying to break through the roof.

Hobby Recalls History

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—What began as a hobby for Dr. Robert B. Sutton may serve to fill in gaps in the history of education.

Sutton, associate professor of education at Ohio State University, has collected in the past five years more than 2,000 items relating to the history of American education.

Among them are report cards dating back to 1861, an 1827 teacher's contract, an 1849 school newspaper and an 1864 geography reader for Confederate children in Raleigh, N.C.

POWER FAILS, WORK HALTS AT PENTAGON

Lights, elevators, escalators and clocks stopped simultaneously when the power failed at 9:30 a.m. During the blackout, most of the building's 27,500 occupants stood around in corridors lighted by the building's emergency power system.

Meeting Means Liquor Increase

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — It's not unusual for the drinking habits of state legislators to be discussed.

But the Raleigh city council took official cognizance.

Struggling with the municipal budget, a councilman noted that the legislature meets in Raleigh next spring. The council promptly increased its estimate of liquor store income by $10,000.

The seventh of the seven wonders of the world, the Pharos (lighthouse) of Alexandria, was destroyed by a 13th Century earthquake.

Mauritania Becomes Newest African Nation

NOUAKCHOTT, Mauritania (AP)—Mauritania proclaimed its independence of France today and became the 13th French African territory to gain sovereignty this year.

Desert tribesmen danced in the streets of this unfinished capital and Moorish horsemen fired ancient muskets as 57 years of French rule ended.

Claiming Mauritania as its own territory despite the absence of a common frontier, Morocco fought independence unsuccessfully in the United Nations and yesterday held a national day of protest.

Crucial for Mauritania's economic progress is the exploitation of rich iron, copper, oil and probably uranium deposits under its desert surface.

California's Vote Won't Be Official Until Wednesday

SACRAMENTO (AP) — It will be at least Wednesday before California puts out the official vote on the presidential election.

Today was the deadline, but slow returns from the counties prevented the secretary of state's office from certifying the vote.

Asst. Secretary of State Walter Stutler said he was still missing returns from Alameda, Butte, San Diego, Santa Clara and Santa Cruz Counties.

He said he had telephonic reports from San Francisco and Los Angeles pending arrival of their official abstracts.

Stutler said his office could not certify the state vote before Wednesday and that it might be Thursday before the figures are ready.

Unofficial returns gave Vice President Richard M. Nixon a lead of 21,675 over President-elect John F. Kennedy in California.

Marin Needs Responsible, Reliable Taxpayers Group

Everybody's represented but the citizens.

That's what political wags sometimes comment cynically about the situation which envelops our state legislature at Sacramento.

Almost every special interest group you can think of (business, labor, professions, veterans, etc.,) are represented at Sacramento by a "legislative advocate."

"Legislative advocate," of course, is the highly respectable euphemism for the more commonly used term, lobbyist. Regardless of what term is used, they are representatives of citizen groups and, as any legislator will tell you, they perform a very valuable service in providing information to legislators about pros and/or cons of proposed legislation.

To a lesser degree, we have this kind of an arrangement in local government here in Marin. Certain groups make sure that their points of view are known to such as county supervisors, city councilmen, school trustees and others when a matter of special interest is pending.

But as the wags sometimes say, "Everybody's represented but the citizens."

In local government, a taxpayers association is often the best representative that rank-and-file citizens have.

Many communities have highly respected, responsible taxpayers' groups who avail themselves of competent technical assistance to analyze local government expenditures. On the basis of this enlightened approach, they then make constructive recommendations aimed at (1) seeing that taxpayers get their money's worth for public funds spent, (2) bringing increased efficiency to operations of local governments and (3) seeing that worthwhile and necessary governmental services are performed adequately.

Marin could profit immensely from the valuable service that an organization of this kind could perform.

The group who presently use the taxpayers association designation here fail to perform the valued services that groups of similar name perform in other communities. There is abundant evidence to support this conclusion, which we do not have space to review here today.

Let us hope that in days to come there will be a change. Let us hope the day is not too far distant when a group of responsible community leaders will emerge to lead the way in this matter of letting the rank and file of people be heard in the matter of local public expenditures here in Marin.

Marin's Friendly Deer

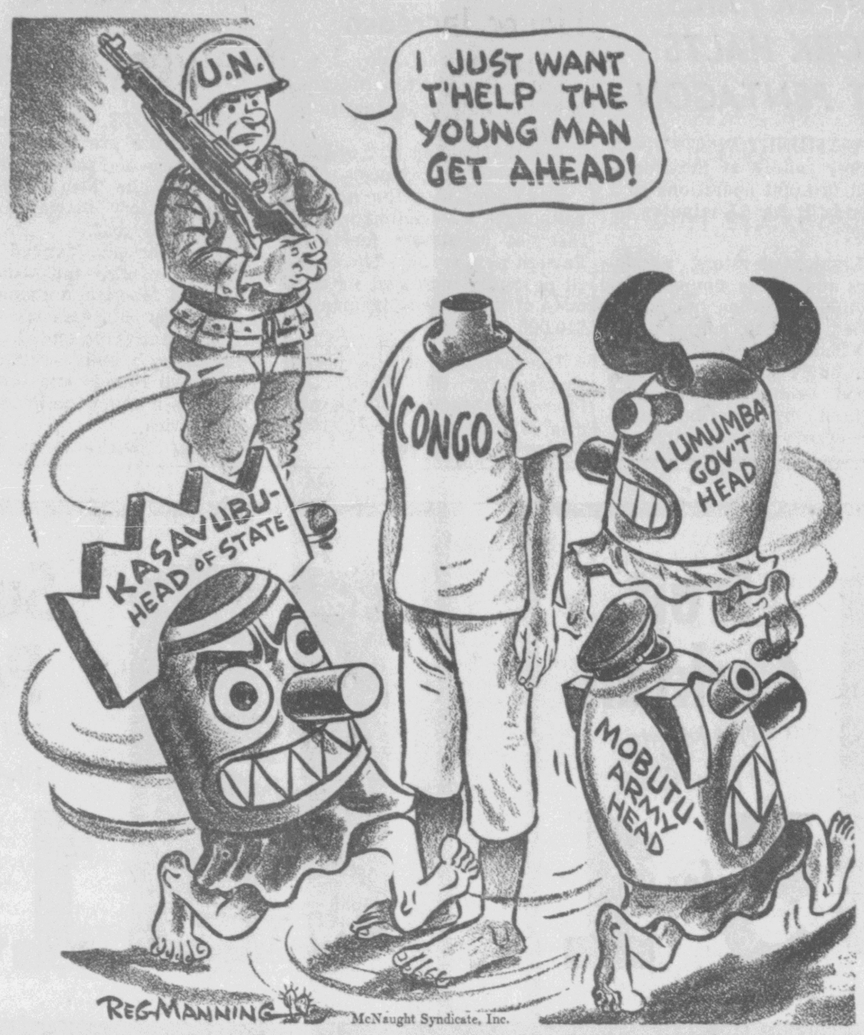

Our Marin County deer, like those in the national parks, are aware that they are pretty safe. They are, by and large, a bold friendly breed.

Indeed, some harassed Marin gardeners are quite certain that our deer are too chummy and destructive. But balanced against these anti-deer people are those Nature lovers who are sure that a deer in the garden is worth a dozen prize rose-buds anytime.

Even their detractors must admit that with their large, liquid eyes and bounding grace of movement they are very attractive creatures. Study one with its big, mule-ears pink-veined in the sun, its soft, black nose working to catch a dangerous scent, ever alert to bound for the brush.

We know we won't win any friends among those people who regard deer as destructive pests, but we must admit our sympathies are with the deer's friends. Anyone can grow flowers. But it takes a special kind of kindness to support a deer.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

I-J Editorial A Disservice

EDITOR,
Independent-Jouranl:

Your editorial of Nov. 21 is the antithesis of logic, a disservice to your readers regardless of their political affiliation, and unworthy of your high editorial standards of perception, morality, and patriotism.

You assert the citizens' right to demand a ballot recount and you applaud their determination in exercising that right. But you say if that recount should disclose "enough errors in three or so states so that Richard Nixon would be elected President, it wouldn't be good for the country . . . it would reap nothing but mistrust and suspicion in this country and abroad."

Would it not be a far more pregnant source of mistrust and suspicion if it turns out that John Kennedy's electorial majority hangs on illegal voting in the key states that put him over? While the 33,710,073 voters who did not vote for him may nonetheless be willing to close ranks behind him as President, are they not entitled to expect him to get there legally? Do not the Democrats have just as much at stake in honest elections as the Republicans?

Is not Mr. Kennedy, who is so concerned over America's prestige in the world, equally, concerned that our vaunted free and open elections also be honest elections? I think he must be, because he is a man of integrity. While he could tolerate having less than a plurality of the popular vote, wouldn't it be a terrible mental hazard to face the leaders of other nations if he were vaulted into power by an open and notorious miscarriage at the polling places?

Just as they did in California, the press and other media promptly proclaimed a Kennedy victory in the nation, but the final returns and audit thereof are not yet in, and the electoral college has not yet spoken. It is only two weeks since election day and you speak as though there were some compelling urgency about closing the books and putting this matter behind us. Surely you know that in former pages of America's history, just as good men as Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Nixon have had to wait many weeks for the voters' verdict —and some of them in a climate just as charged with urgency as the present.

Is not Mr. Nixon and his half of the nation just as entitled to a fair shake as Mr. Kennedy. Does the passage of two weeks snuff out that right? The grass roots demand for recount in suspect areas is a spontaneous expression of outrage and indignation. It should be allowed to run its course and the chips to fall as they will. For you to call it sore losing is a gross misreading of human motivation. Your position is just as untenable as that of a Court of Appeals refusing to hear evidence of jury tampering for fear it might change the decision of the lower court or breed distrust of the jury system. If you truly believe in free speech then you should champion it, not only in theory but in practice. And it is not irresponsible to seek out a cancer in our elective process, no matter whether the finger points at Democratic or Republican misfeasance — or both.

Roman Soldiers Invented Pizza While Stationed In Jerusalam

It's no wonder bees seem so busy. They have to fly a distance equal to two trips around the world just to make a single pound of honey.

How it all began: The pizza pie, a delicacy now rivaling the hot dog in the favor of teen-agers, was invented by Roman soldiers stationed long ago in Jerusalem.

The good old days are now. Prices are about four times as high now as they were in 1900. But the average weekly wage in manufacturing leaped from $12.74 to about $92, a seven-fold increase.

Here's an oddity: Men's fingernails usually grow faster than women's.

The last straw: A husband in the Pachai caste of India can divorce his wife merely bypicking up a straw and breaking it in two in her presence.

We hear so much about juvenile delinquency we tend to overlook one great wholesome fact: Only one out of every 20 teen-agers gets into any real trouble with the law.

President James A. Garfield, who delivered campaign speeches in German as well as English, also could write Latin with one hand and Greek with the other—simultaneously. Today he'd probably be denounced as an egghead.

So who doesn't make mistakes? Singer Mary Martin originally auditioned for the role of Eliza Doolittle in the smash musical, "My Fair Lady." But she didn't like the songs!

The ancient Greeks were wise enough to discover the earth was round but not smart enough to build a really comfortable bed. Their bedsprings were braided leather thongs stretched between two sideboards — the same kind of springs used 2,000 years later by pioneer American settlers.

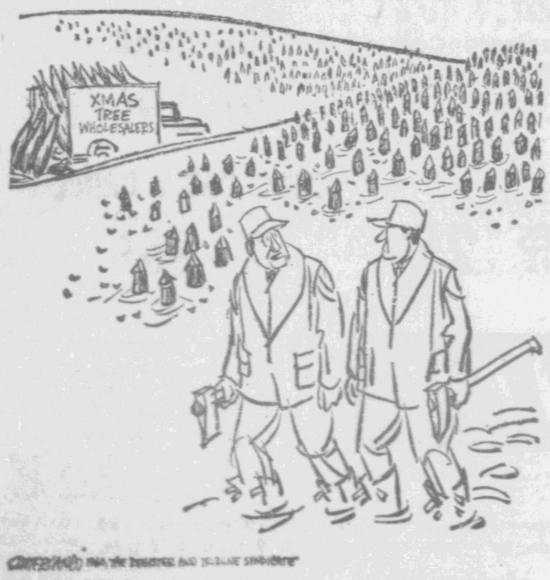

YOU MAY NOT be getting any younger, but the U.S. population is. In 1950 some 34 per cent of it was made up of children and teen-agers. The figure now is 40 per cent.

PROSPERITY NOTE: Americans now spend a billion dollars a week paying off their debts on the installment plan.

Proposed Increases In Taxes Would 'Soak New Car Owners'

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Among all the rumbles concerning forthcoming legislation is one which affects most of the people of California, and some of them more than once. This is the proposal of the state Senate Transportation Committee, headed by Senator Randolph Collier (D-Yreka), for an increase in motor vehicle registration fees to drain more than $66 million a year out of California's auto owners' pockets.

The committee is considering asking increases of $1 in the minimum in lieu tax, and one per cent in the registration renewal fees of all automobiles.

A report to the committee points out this would boost registration fees an "average" of $7.22 for every vehicle in the state of California.

On an "average" basis, this apparently would not be too bad, but when it comes to paying the new taxes, people having late model cars would really be hit by the commit-mittee's suggestions.

ADOPTION OF the plan by the legislature, and subsequent approval by Governor Brown, would hit some owners as much as $40 per car. In other words, people who have purchased late model automobiles would be hardest hit by the increase, rather than having it distributed over all motorists, and all motorists use the highways in probably equal amounts.

The tax might be a just one if equal benefits were going to all automobile owners, but in effect, no more benefits accrue to the owner of a new car than to the owner of an old one. The same thing is true under the present system of taxing, which is highly inequitable. The new proposal, thus, is nothing more than a "soak the new car owner" plan to bolster the revenues of the state which, along with the counties, get the in lieu tax money.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A Park Avenue psychoanalyst was driving peacefully on the N. Y. Thruway when a speed maniac rammed him from behind. The analyst leapt from his car waving his fist and screaming, "You idiot! You numbskull! You rat!" Then, suddenly he remembered his profession, and added, "Now tell me why you hate your mother."

There is no reason for a banquet chairman to writhe when a speaker pulls a boner or says something way out of line. As the late William Collier used to point out when he was acting as toastmaster, "It's my job only to introduce the speakers; not guarantee them!"

A big movie star, handsome, dashing — and dumb, was accorded a reception in Japan. Suddenly called upon to speak, with not a ghost writer within hailing distance, the big star floundered, "Er, hello out there! Er—I want to tell you that your flu has caught on real big in the U.S.A.!"

Sally Stanford's Determined That Old Sausalito Be Preserved

The old-timers are trying to preserve old Sausalito for the new-timers.

Sally Stanford, always young, loves the old things. "I don't like the new things," she says.

And old Shelter Cove laps outside the door. "This cove has been here forever," Miss Stanford says. "This is a magnificent thing . . . nothing should change this beautiful waterfront."

WHY IS MISS STANFORD, active in the preservation-bound Sausalito Foundation, so devoted to keeping water on the waterfront?

"People say I have a selfish interest because I'm on the waterfront," she said. "When I came here in 1948 there wasn't anything here. I packed up the produce and brought it over from San Francisco.

"Sausalito has grown and it can only grow more. It can only be one of the most beautiful places in the world. It is. The property values go from this end of town to the other because of the waterfront—not because of anybody's particular property."

"The waterfront," Miss Stanford adds, "is what brings people to Sausalito. The little harbors, little shops, the Trade Fair. This man (Bill) Conover has done a tremendous thing for the city. I think the ferry boat Berkeley is an interesting thing sitting out there so majestic.

HOW CAN PEOPLE help preserve the beauty of Sausalito? "Speak up," Miss Stanford flashed back.

"Boats, we have a state harbor committee. All these little harbors should be developed. The state is furnishing money. There's a great potential here.

"People have said 'What are they going to do with the cove? The city should make money on it.'

"Do these people realize the great amount that is made on tourist trade alone . . . and that taxes from private enterprises wouldn't be half what is received from tourists who are attracted because of the beauty of the waterfront — and nearness to it?

"They said Darwin had a different theory. We came from fish. Maybe that's why people love water. They love to be near it.

"WATER IS an overpowering thing. The forces of water are like the forces of thunder and of a tremendous storm. It's a challenge to people. We're like 'sea's self a pebble cast,' we're so infinitesmal. We're here for a little while. We come like wind, like water we go.

"Sausalito should be preserved forever. I won't be here. If I can, in a small way, preserve the beauty for the years to come, I will."

Miss Stanford put on a shawl over her bare shoulders, took Loretta, the opera star and ballet dancer, out of her cage and walked over to the old piano. Loretta, a parrot, sang "The Girl That I Married" and "I Could Have Danced All Night." Then we took leave. Going out into the night we sniffed the old town air, got into our car and drove along Bridgeway toward home.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Kennedy Should Not Refuse To Debate With Opponent In 1964

WASHINGTON — Is President-elect Kennedy already preparing to back out of any campaign "debates" in 1964?

One might have thought that the man who so much wanted this year's fifth "debate," would be eager to reschedule it as the first debate of the next campaign!

But Bobby Kennedy is strongly hinting that the answer is NO—no more debating now that the great debater has become President. And when Bobby Kennedy speaks, we have found he usually knows what his brother wants said.

WHAT BOBBY Kennedy is saying in effect is:

1—The debates were a big factor in winning the election.

2—Let's have no more of them.

Now, if you believe that a candidate's campaign — even a President's campaign — is entirely his own business and that the voters should have nothing to say about it, then this Kennedy view is quite tenable; that is, since these debates have accomplished their purpose, away with them.

From this viewpoint Robert Kennedy can argue that you can't expect the President of the United States to share his potentially greater audience with his opponent and by so doing raise the challenger to the level of an equal. Franklin Roosevelt wouldn't debate Wendell Willkie and in 1944 would hardly admit that Thomas Dewey was running.

BUT THERE IS another way to look at these debates. As I see it, these debates are not primarily the possession of the candidates, to be used or denied as best suits their tactical advantage. The debates belong primarily to the voters who are entitled to demand that the nominees appear jointly so that they can be viewed and judged face-to-face and their claims examined back-to-back.

This may or may not be good for candidates under all circumstances. Does it matter? It is one of the best means thus far achieved to enable the voters to choose the President. It is not provable that the debates won or lost the election. What is clear is that they heightened public interest in the campaign, brought out constantly larger crowds at the rallies, increased the total vote, and, in my judgment, have an unrealized and great potential for political education.

I AM NOT suggesting that the format of the debates should be unchanged. These joint appearances were experimental. There should be numerous ways to improve them.

One hour seems too short, two hours too long. An hour and a half would be about right and then some of the issues could be discussed more meatily.

I would like to see at least one of the debates conducted without any panel at all — just a moderator. The candidates could take one or even two main subjects and, in addition to direct argument and rebuttal, could ask each other questions.

Furthermore, it seems to me that one of the mistakes was to look at the debates as "quiz shows" and insist that the panel "surprise" the candidates with their questions. I would favor serving advance notice of what the questions will be—as in the question period of the House of Commons. We want the candidates' considered answers, not their off-the-cuff indiscretions. In compensation for serving notice of the questions, the panel should be free to ask the most probing follow-up questions.

If the voters want these debates, I think they can successfully insist upon them.

Car Mishap Hurts Tiburon Woman

A Tiburon woman driver was in fair condition at Ross General Hospital today after a Highway 101 accident at 1:20 a.m. yesterday.

Rita Winifred Little, 54, of 420 Ridge Road, Tiburon, told the California Highway Patrol she must have gone to sleep half a mile north of Spencer Avenue, Sausalito, just before her light car mounted the divider strip and tore out 50 feet of wire fence before winding up on its top.

Miss Little suffered severe cuts on the forehead, abrasions of both legs and right foot, and possible back injury. Her passenger George M. Saam, 44, of Alameda, received emergency treatment for cuts and bruises on his forehead and shoulders.

Revision Urged In State Law On Youngsters

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A special study commission today reported finding an alarming inconsistency and lack of legal protection in the administration of justice for juveniles and said major law revisions are needed.

The report was submitted by the governor's special study commission on juvenile justice, originally appointed by Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, and continued by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The commission said the law leaves youngsters without many of the protections of due process that adults are guaranteed by the constitution.

The commission said not enough distinction is made between actual delinquents and children who are neglected or abandoned. It suggested setting up three categories in the law: One for dependent, neglected or abandoned youngsters whose bahavior indicates a tendency toward delinquency and for for outright law violators.

The commission also recommended extending the right of counsel to minors and their parents and providing court-appointed attorneys for indigents. It said all hearings should be recorded as a basis for appeal.

Engle Declares Demos Still Strong In State

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif.) said today the Democratic Party is "still strong and vigorous" in California despite the majority vote won by Republican Richard M. Nixon in the presidential election.

Engle disagreed with Nixon's comment that his margin over President-elect John F. Kennedy in the state is a preface to Republican victories in California's 1962 elections.

The Democratic senator cited incomplete figures—not counting absentee ballots — showing that Democratic candidates for 30 congressional seats in the Nov. 8 election grossed a half-million vote advantage over their Republican opponents.

In the races for the State Legislature, he said, the Democratic candidates for state senator polled 84,000 more votes than Republicans and Democrats piled up a 609,000 majority in all contests for the Assembly.

Engle said Kennedy lost the state in a contest result reversed on the basis of absentee vote counting because "the iceberg vote was deeper than we thought."

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The State Division of Savings and Loan will hold hearings in San Francisco Dec. 13 on four applications to establish savings and loan offices in the Corte Madera Shopping Center.

Two applications were for certification by the commissioner approving articles of incorporation. The new association would be Tamalpais Savings and Loan Assn. and Corte Madera Savings and Loan Assn.

First Savings and Loan Assn., Oakland, and Home Mutual Savings and Loan Assn., San Francisco, have filed applications to open branch offices in the shopping center.

Proposed incorporators and directors of Corte Madera and Savings and Loan Assn. are Henry Brocco, Howard B. Crittenden Jr., Harry Diner, William Fahey Jr., Manuel Gomez, Raymond L. Kopf, Richard McCollister, Rex Hickman, Frank Rusalem, Henry E. Tomasini and Mildred M. Vail.

The four hearings will be held in the office of the savings and loan commissioner, 30 Tenth Street, San Francisco, starting at 10 a.m.

Auto Overturns; Driver Injured

A convertible sports car overturned when its driver dozed just after crossing the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge into Marin County last night, throwing out the driver.

Howard O. Mart, 44, of 2396 Mar East, Tiburon, a cement contractor, was in serious condition at San Rafael General Hospital today with a broken arm and other injuries. He told the California Highway Patrol he must have dropped asleep at 10:50 p.m. when he drove up onto the loose gravel on the shoulder of Highway 17 about 300 yards south of Highway 101.

His injuries included a fractured right arm, cuts of left hand, face and head, and both ankles sprained.

Italy's fire losses last year totaled 30 million dollars, less than 4 per cent of those in the United States.

Cool Waters New Hero For 49ers

Rookie Passes S. F To Stunning Win Over Colts

BALTIMORE (AP) — Coach Red Hickey of the San Francisco 49ers ought to be thankful today for the poetic justice in the line about the best laid plans of mice and men going astray.

He planned to beat the Baltimore Colts yesterday with a spread offensive formation featuring John Brodie as quarterback standing seven yards back of center.

An improvised play by two rookies and an injured veteran scored the winning touchdown in the 30-22 upset. The Colts (6-3) are now only one-half game ahead of the Chicago Bears 5-3-1 with three games remaining.

The quarterback, Bobby Waters, was throwing the football for the first time in the National Football League. He was in there only because Brodie had been knocked woozy on a tackle by Big Daddy Lipscomb, who wouldn't have been in position to make it if the 49ers weren't using the spread.

Big Daddy, dropping back off the line from his tackle spot, racked up Brodie after the quarterback had run five yards. Brodie lost a tooth and his senses with 7½ minutes to play.

Two minutes later, Lipscomb tackled C. R. Roberts in the 49er end zone to put the Colts ahead 22-20.

And three plays later, Y. A. Tittle, the veteran 49er quarterback who had relieved Brodie despite a recurrent groin injury, was "run over" by Bill Pellington and Ordell Braase of the Colt crunching crew.

This left the 49ers with only Waters, who went to Presbyterian College in Clinton, S. C., where the student body numbers about 500—boys and girls.

He completed his first pro pass for 20 yards to put the 49ers on the Colt 41. He threw his next pass to Dee Mackey, another first year pro from East Texas State.

Mackey caught it around the 25 where he was being hauled to earth by Milt Davis and Bob Boyd.

"I was wriggling toward the sidelines hoping to get out of bounds to stop the clock," related Mackey. "Then I saw R. C. Owens waving his arms for the ball and tossed it to him."

After catching the lateral, Owens had thoughts of going out of bounds, too, to avoid a tackle because he was hurt. "But I saw only Lipscomb in pursuit and took off for the end zone."

ALLEY-OOP PLAY

Owens hurt his shoulder when he caught a 38-yard "alley-oop" pass for a 49er touchdown three seconds before the half ended. He landed on the shoulder after going up high over Boyd to take the purposely thrown skyscraper by Brodie.

Hickey disclosed the 49ers started practicing the spread formation last Tuesday.

"We didn't think we could play the Colts head-on and wanted something different to shake up their defenses a bit," he said.

In the end though, it was the fact that "the boys just stayed in there and fought and scrapped and won it." he admitted.

Coach Weeb Eubank of the Colts wouldn't attribute the spread formation to his team's downfall.

"We just got the hell beaten out of us," he said, in particular referring to five pass interceptions and a recovered fumble pulled off by the 49ers.

HE'S UP—R. C. Owens of 49ers goes high to snag "alley-oop" pass from John Brodie for touchdown on last offensive play of second quarter against Baltimore Colts yesterday. Field Judge Fred Swearingen watches play. (AP Wirephoto)

HE'S DOWN—Alley-oop pass safely in his arms, the high-flying Owens crashed to end-zone turf with one of his two touchdowns in yesterday's 30-22 upset by the 49ers over Colts. Owens was shaken up on the play and had to be helped off field, but returned in the second half. Frustrated Colt defenders are Bob Boyd (40) and linebacker Bill Pellington (36). (AP Wirephoto)

TITLE IN SIGHT

Eagles Need Only One More Victory

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

OK now, so what can the Philadelphia Eagles do for an encore?

For the second straight time yesterday they beat the defending Eastern Division champion Giants (31-23) with New York's most potent weapon—defense—plus Norm Van Brocklin, and now they need only one victory in three remaining games to get a whack at the National Football League title for the first time in 11 years.

The Eagles get that chance to nail down the Eastern Division title next Sunday when they play the St. Louis Cardinals on the road. And if they miss, then they have added opportunities against the Pittsburgh Steelers and Washington Redskins.

Not so, though, in the Western Division where the defending champion Baltimore Colts are acting as if they don't want the title and the Chicago Bears as if nothing would please them more.

Given a break on Thursday when the Green Bay Packers were upset by the Detroit Lions, the Colts could have helped themselves mightily yesterday, but the San Francisco 49ers outdazzled the champs with an unorthodox passing game for a 30-22 upset victory, while the Bears moved to within a half-game of the Colts by beating the still winless (now 10 in-a-row) Dallas Cowboys, 17-7.

CARDS IMPROVE

The Cards, who seem to improve each week, rallied to tie the Cleveland Browns, 17-17, at St. Louis and the Pittsburgh Steelers proved poor hosts in handing the Washington Redskins a 22-10 beating in other NFL games.

A week ago, after the Eagles had beaten the Giants in New York with the defensive platoon playing a major role, skeptics said, "OK, show me they can do it again."

Well, it took the Eagles a while to get rolling the second tmie with a partisan crowd of 60,457 looking on in Franklin Field, Philadelphia, for the Giants roared to a quick 17-0 lead.

With "gambler" Van Brocklin leading the offense after Dan Burroughs, Bob Freeman and Maxie Vaughn had picked off four interceptions on Giant quarterback George Shaw, the Eagles finally grabbed a 24-23 lead in the fourth period and then added the touchdown that put the game out of reach following recovery of a Giant fumble by Jim Carr.

It was almost as bad for the Browns, too. They held a 17-7 halftime lead, but the Cards kept coming back, closing the gap to 17-10 in the third period on a 23-yard field goal by Gerry Perry, and gaining the tying TD in the final period when Joan Roach connected on a 12-yard toss to Sonny Randall.

BROWNS, N.Y. TIED

Now both the Giants and Browns, who have won all the Eastern Division titles between them since the Eagles took it in 1949, are tied for second with 5-3-1 records compared to Philadelphia's 8-1.

The Colts, now 6-3, simply couldn't cope with San Francisco's passing game in which at times the 49ers had as many as five pass receivers ganged up in one spot. The clinching score came on a 41-yard pass-lateral play involving Rookie Bobby Waters, end Dee Mackey and halfback R. C. Owens with a little more than a minute left to play.

The Bears, who host the Packers next Sunday while the Lions are at Baltimore, struck for two first half touchdowns and then stopped a spirited Dallas bid in the second half to gain their fifth victory against three defeats and a tie. Green Bay and San Francisco are tied for third with 5-4 marks.

Sacramento Quits PCL; Honolulu May Get Franchise

LOUISVILLE (UPI) — Pacific Coast League President Dewey Soriano said the league may operate a franchise in Honolulu next season following the forfeiting of the Sacramento franchise last night by an affirmative vote of seven members.

Soriano said the forfeiture decision was made after William Golsong, president of the Sacramento Solons, failed to show up at the minor league meetings here to confer with PCL officials.

Golsong had notified the league Nov. 15 that he did not intend to operate the club any longer, but league officials asked him to reconsider his decision.

Soriano said a registered letter with a full explanation of of the forfeiture decision was sent to Golsong, who has 10 days to reply to the league.

Two Salt Lake City business men, Maurice Yates and Hal Tate, had been negotiating to buy the Sacramento franchise to move it to Honolulu. Soriano said the league is seriously considering the proposal.

WEEKEND FIGHTS

New York—Mike De John, 210, Syracuse, N.Y., knocked out Billy Hunter, 190, Detroit, 9.

Jawn Jay Eats Crow After 49ers Make Champs Look Like Chumps

CONNOLLY

That black feather sticking out of my mouth never saw a turkey. That's crow, brother, that's crow!

Served up with the San Francisco 49ers' 30 to 22 win over the Baltimore Colts yesterday, that crowd tasted better than any Thanksgiving bird I have eaten in many a year.

I don't mind confessing that my lead paragraph for today's rehash of the Colt game was already in my mind. It went: "What have the Colts got that the 49ers don't have? Johnny Unitas, Ray Berry and nine other guys." That scrap of paper went into the bulging drawer marked "B.G." for bum guesses.

In licking the Colts before 58,000 plus home town fans who wanted to be present when the Baltimores put the clincher on the Western Conference Title, the 49ers really rubbed salt into the wounded pride of the two-time champs, making them look like two-timed chumps.

Coach Red Hickey's men played back to the Chicago Bear game of four weeks ago, except they had the benison of Lady Luck for the first time this year. Fumbles and interceptions came up in 49er possession on all but a couple of occasions, each time providing the incentive for just one more big try.

EVEN SO, the 49ers almost played it too fine. This is one of the few times in the past three or four years that a team has given the Colts the lead and points and then pulled the rug out from under them. Not once but often.

Sure the game made us come up with the bum guess. But it also poured gobs of salve on our wounded ego by the way the win was accomplished.

Over and over we have said that surprise is the one thing that most upsets a pro football team, and that the 49ers should use the direct pass from center to give the quarterback more time and extra blockers. So they surprised 'em and blocked 'em.

We have begged Red Hickey to forget some of his leg weary "old men" such as Y. A. Tittle, Joe Perry and Hugh McElhenny, and to use such as C. R. Roberts, Lenny Lyles, Dee Mackey and Bobby Waters. He did and they showed 'em.

WE GROANED when YAT was inserted for the necktied John Brodie, and held our breath when Waters pinch hit for the pinch hitter. Two plays and a winning touchdown made quite a debut for the youngster. But best of all was the coolness with which Waters stepped through the best defense in the league to fire his passes.

We are reminded of the day Waters showed up at the 49er training camp. When the hopelessness of his chances were pointed out to him, Bobby quietly said, "I didn't come all the way out here to get cut from the squad. I'll make it." That he did.

So far this season, all of our pleas have been answered except one. That is to see Tommy Davis run from punt formation on a fourth down with short yardage. And I wouldn't bet that you don't see that happen before the year is over.

WE MUST join the legion of fans who have said to us, "Why oh why don't these bums play every game up to their capabilities?" It is a tough one to figure out, but I think some coaching staffs are going to learn a lesson from a few more of these surprise efforts.

Surprise 'em and yet get 'em guessing. Get 'em guessing and you get 'em loose. Get 'em loose and your patterns start to work. And in pro football, that's over half the battle.

Archie Battles Texan Tonight

DALLAS (AP)—Archie Moore, who had his first fight when his opponent of tonight—Buddy Turman—was just two years old, is favored to win the nontitle 10-round bout.

Old Archie, who has been deprived of his world's light heavyweight championship by the National Boxing Assn. for failure to defend it, is more concerned with winning over Turman tonight than what the NBA does.

He lost his last fight, to Italian Giulio Rinaldi, and wants to make up for that. Turman, the Tyler, Tex., heavyweight, also has some making up to do—he was knocked out by Canadian Bob Cleroux his last night out.

Turman, 26, is a little more than half as old as Archie admits to.

Minnesota rated a 7-point choice today to beat Washington in the Rose Bowl, Missouri was favored by 5½ over Navy in the Orange, Mississippi by 10 over Rice in the Sugar and Arkansas a 6-point pick over Duke in the Cotton Classic.

Odds-makers also tabbed Penn State to beat Oregon by 7 in the Liberty Bowl, Alabama a one-point choice over Texas in the Bluebonnet and Florida by 2 over Baylor in the Gator Bowl.

Navy and Missouri, the No. 5 team in the top 10, will enter the Orange Bowl on Jan. 2 with identical 9-1 records.

Mississippi, ranked third behind Minnesota and Iowa, rode the strong passing arm of Jake Gibbs to chalk up a 35-9 victory over Mississippi State.

Coach Johnny Vaught's crew, making its second straight Sugar Bowl appearance, is undefeated but was held to a 6-6 tie by Louisiana State in a 10-game schedule.

Florida, hoping until the last to back into the Southeastern Conference title, finished its regular season with an 8-2 record by whipping Miami 18-0.

Alabama, the third school in the S.E.C. to accept bowl bid, defeated ninth-ranked Auburn, 3-0, on Tommy Brooker's 22-yard field goal. The Crimson Tide takes an 8-1-1 mark into the Bluebonnet against Texas (7-3) at Houston, Tex., Dec. 17.

State Semi-Pro Tournament Slated Again In San Rafael

The National Baseball Congress today announced that the 26th annual state tournament for non-professional clubs with players of unlimited age will be staged at San Rafael starting July 21, 1961. A minimum of 16 teams will compete.

Cougress President Ray Dumont said district tournaments and leagues are being franchised throughout California to determine leading teams in state finals.

S. L. "Brick" Swegle of Walnut Creek has been named again to head the California program and supervise the final playoffs.

El Cerrito Hatzell will be the defending state champion, having won the 1960 California state title in San Rafael. The Nesbit-Masonry team of San Jose was runner-up to the 1960 California title in the state tournament.

The 1961 California state champion will qualify directly into the 27th annual National tournament at Wichita, starting Aug. 18, Dumont said.

Raiders Routed As L.A. Nears Pennant

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The American Football League's Los Angeles Chargers can take the Western Division title next Sunday if they stay on their patented recovery formula.

The Chargers were belted a week ago by Buffalo 32-3, which caused coach Sid Gillman to point out that, "The last time we were beaten badly we came back to win four straight and take the lead."

Sure enough, back they came yesterday, beating Oakland 52-28 to drop the Raiders into a a second place tie with Dallas. The Chargers and Raiders go at it again next week, and a Los Angeles victory would insure at least a tie and eliminate Oakland. A victory, plus a Dallas defeat by Houston would clinch matters.

Buffalo blew a 24-point lead in the fourth quarter and was held to a 38-38 tie by the Denver Broncos. No other games were scheduled.

Old reliable Jack Kemp was the man who cranked up the Chargers and sent them on their way. He tossed scoring passes of 69 yards to Don Norton and 63 to Paul Lowe.

Lowe gained 149 yards from scrimmage and Kemp's scoring tosses were his 10th and 11th of the season.

Gene Minge's 15-yard field goal in the final four seconds provided Denver with its tie, but some fancy passing by quarterback Frank Tripucka saved a lot of leg work. Trip hit his favorite target, Lionel Taylor, with three successive TD passes that sliced down a 38-14 Buffalo lead.

Taylor hauled in aerials of 80, 25 and 35 yards.

Bill Atkins kicked field goals of 20, 13 and 31 yards while Elbert Dubenion's twisting, dodging 76 run was the highlight of Buffalo's attack, which seemingly had the game tucked away after a 21-point third period.

Middies Roar Approval Of Orange Bowl

ANNAPOLIS, Md., (UPI) — Coach Wayne Hardin of Navy admitted today that he knows nothing about his Missouri opponent in the Orange Bowl classic, and that anything after last Saturday's Army-Navy game "is purely anti-climattic."

Hardin said it took him all day to unwind from the thrilling 17-12 finish in which Joe Bellino scored one touchdown and saved a Middle defeat in the closing seconds when he intercepted an Army pass on the Navy goal line.

"I think Bellino is the greatest player I've ever seen," Hardin said of his barrel-legged halfback who set a Navy all-time scoring secord this season.

Navy's trip to the Orange Bowl, the first such journey to Miami, Fla., will be the fourth post-season classic for a Naval Academy football team. The Sailors are undefeated in three previous bowl appearances. They tied Washington, 14-14, in the Rose Bowl in 1924, defeated Mississippi 21-0, in a 1955 Sugar Bowl game and whipped Rice, 20-7, at the Cotton Bowl in 1958.

The vote by Navy players for the Orange Bowl was unanimous. There was a resounding roar of approval following the game when Secretary of the Navy William D. Franke asked if they would like to go to Florida for the Orange Bowl.

Truck Driver Wins $62,517 At Track

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico (UPI)—A Los Angeles truck driver was $62,517 richer today after collecting his winnings from the Caliente 5-10 handicap.

Robert Armstrong (of 2231 West 31st Street) correctly tabbed all six winners Saturday in the 5-10 to win the money. When he returned to the track yesterday to collect, Armstrong said his wife did the picking. And the couple would use the money to help out their four married children.

Tests To Determine Cause Of Star's Death

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lengthy laboratory tests will be needed to determine what caused the death of Ralph Anderson, the Los Angeles Chargers' star offensive end, coroner's aides report.

Anderson, 25, died Saturday in the apartment of a girl friend. A doctor said his death was apparently due to natural causes. He suffered from diabetes and had a history of diabetic seizures.

UNDEFEATED CUBAN FAVORED IN S. F. BOUT

Undefeated Luis Rodriguez, who was just 11 years old when Johnny Gonsalves had his first pro fight in 1948, is favored to make the Oaklanders his 35th straight victim when they meet in a 10-round welterweight bout tonight at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium.

The 23-year-old Cuban champion, in line for a welterweight title match early next year, said through interpreters that he expects a tough fight from his clever 30-year-old opponent.

If he makes up his mind to do it—and handlers say he has for this one—the experienced and crafty Gonsalves could five the ambitious contender all he can handle when they start swapping blows.

Promoted by the San Francisco Boxing Club, Inc., the main event will be presented at around 9:45 p.m. The first preliminary bout is scheduled at 8:30. There is no television or radio broadcast.

Vidmar Wins Winter Yacht Race Thriller

By ALFRED MATSON

There were 148 starters in the second Corinthian Midwinter Race Series yesterday, but due to the lack of a sufficient power supply, meaning wind, only about two-thirds of the fleet managed to complete the course.

Keeping up the tradition of summer racing, it was again a battle down to the wire in the IC class between Bob Vidmar's Gypsy and the Rutsan owned by Jake Wosser with the former on top by a few seconds.

In the Cruising Club race, San Francisco Yacht Club entries garnered the win, place and show positions. Dr. Morris Smith was the winner with his Numse, Glen Waterhouse was second in Kay Two and not far behind was Pat Kirrane in the Andale.

Unbelievably Large Silver Salmon In Papermill Creek, Tomales Bay

STEVENS

It's a grand and glorious feeling when an experiment proves a howling success. That probably accounts for the howls of happiness coming from Game Warden Al Giddings.

The experiment was the planting of 54,000 baby silver salmon in Paper Mill Creek and Tomales Bay in October two years ago. The success part comes from the fact that so far this season 50 silvers have been landed, hundreds have been seen rolling and dozens have been lost. Reports have it that lines have been broken, leaders snapped and even a rod or two has been unable to take it.

Giddings has high hopes that the influx of large silvers will increase as time passes this year. That perhaps the Paper Mill Creek and the Tomales Bay will rank as one of the most productive silver salmon waters extant.

DID I SAY large? Right! Unbelievably large for silver salmon (the average weight of a silver salmon is around eight pounds). Recently Frank Allen took a silver salmon on a fly rod in Paper Mill Creek that weighed 21¾ pounds; Carlton Cherrigan landed one of 20¾ pounds and Mrs. "Bunky" Scanlon, two weeks ago, brought in one 15, one 16 and one 20 pounder.

Last year a silver salmon weighing 22 pounds took first prize in the Field and Stream contest (caught incidently, in Paper Mill Creek). Giddings feels certain a larger one will win this year and that it will come from Paper Mill Creek or Tomales Bay.

APPARENTLY these huge silvers are hard to get. Some of the regulars have fished for several days without landing a single fish—they've had 'em on many times, but didn't land 'em. Broken lines, leaders and one or two rods have been reported.

By the way, just to make it worthwhile, there has been some high grade striper fishing in Tomales Bay lately. Not many fishermen out after them. Giddings scouted the Bay last week. Used a fly rod and a half-ounce sinker and sardine bait. Hooked, played and landed a 22-pound striper along with the other two to make his limit. He told me his boat was the only one on the bay.

Speaking of boats — you can launch your own or rent one from Campbell's Golden Hinde Boatel at Inverness. Five of the skiffs may be had with outboard motors.

WERE I to try for a trophy silver in Paper Mill Creek or Tomales Bay, I would try a spinner (Bear Valley or Colorado) either with one side painted red, or with some red streamers of yarn or such. I'd troll at various speeds, preferably with oars instead of a motor. Just imagine hooking a 20-pound silver salmon on your spinning rod or your fly rod. If I used a fly, guess I'd try the Shrimp Fly first.

But you are probably a better fisherman than I am and will have your own ideas. At any rate, a flock of good luck to you.

Bruin Bill Kilmer Is Back Of Week

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bill Kilmer of UCLA was named Big Five "Back of the Week" today after the single wing wizard tailback led his fellow Bruins to a 16-9 victory over Utah.

The 187-pound Azusa senior boosted his All-American candidacy Saturday by tossing six passes good for 60 yards and one touchdown, setting up a field goal and scoring a TD of his own. In 27 carries he gained 180 yards.

Before the game Kilmer led the conference in total offense and punting. The only time he kicked Saturday it was a 61-yarder that raised his 41.7-yard average.

Trojans Lose Finale, Look To Next Year

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Southern California—with a dismal 4-6 season behind it — looks with optimism toward 1961.

Twelve Trojans, including the McKeever twins, are seniors. But Coach John McKay maintains optimistically that he can still come up with an impressive array of experienced varsity talent.

Southern Cal wound up its season Saturday, buried 17-0 in rain and mud by a driving Notre Dame squad.

The Irish, finishing an even more gloomy (2-8) year than USC scored on a field goal after taking the opening kickoff at Memorial Coliseum.

Sophomore quarterback Daryle LaMonica of Fresno engineered all the Notre Dame scores. He carried the ball 10 times for 53 yards and completed one of two passes for 18 yards.

The Trojans nearly got on the scoreboard as the clock ran out but Maples dropped a pass near the goal as the gun sounded.

Minnesota Signs Ed Lopat As Coach

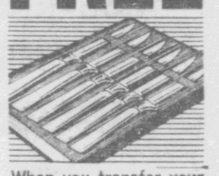

LOUISVILLE (UPI)—The signing of Eddie Lopat as pitching coach of the Minnesota Twins ended a one-year effort to obtain the former Yankee star, Clark Griffith revealed today.

Lopat was hired yesterday by the Twins, formerly known as the Washington Senators, and will succeed Bob Swift, who was the Senators' pitching coach last season.

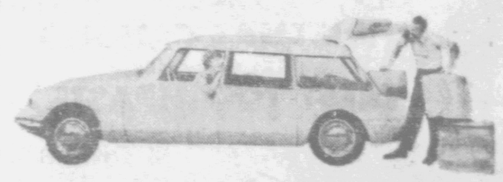

"We tried to get Lopat as our pitching coach a year ago because we thought he was the ideal man to help the kind of staff we have," Griffith said.

Lopat declined to sign with the Senators last year because he felt he had a chance to succeed Casey Stengel as Yankee manager.

Lopat, 42, had an American League record of 166 victories and 112 defeats. He appeared in five World Series with the Yankees, winnng four games and losing one.

The Tree Will Be Up On Dec. 7 For St. John's Christmas Fair

"The tree will be up" in the Parish House of St. John's Episcopal Church, Lagunitas Road, Ross, and the doors will be wide open on Wednesday, Dec. 7, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. to welcome the patrons of the traditional "Old-time Christmas Fair."

Sponsoring the fair will be the St. Mary's Chapter and St. John's League of "Episcopal Churchwomen" (whose presidents are Mesdames George M. Tatum and William J. Doggett, respectively), the Altar Guild and the Young People's Fellowship. Mrs. Eugene A. Ostaggi is directress of the Altar Guild and Mrs. Stanley J. Innes is the advisor to the Young People's Fellowship.

Mrs. Frank Brown is general chairman. Mesdames Julius Jacobson and M. G. Newcombe are co-ordinators for St. Mary's Chapter and Mrs. Roy H. Balke is co-ordinator for St. John's League. Mrs. Allan Chambliss and Mrs. Albert E. Wilson will "deck the halls (and booths) with holly" and see that the "sales-ladies" are gayly garbed to blend in with the Christmas decor. Mrs. E. S. Davids is publicity chairman.

Mesdames F. C. Mockler and Francis G. Burt are co-chairmen of the Gift Booth of St. Mary's Chapter. Assisting will be Mesdames Eugene Robinson and Constance Dawson. Workshops have been held during the year by this group of "sewers"; and they will have gay and practical aprons, dish towels, knitted baby jackets, dolls, and their famous "old-fashioned potholders" as well as various other articles suitable for Christmas giving.

Mrs. F. Waldron Watland of St. John's League will have a table of festive foods for the gourmets, featuring spreads for hors d'oeuvres, Mrs. Stanley B. Brooks' famous fruit cakes, fancy cookies and nuts.

"White Elephants" will be collected and sold by Mrs. Frederick W. Wilhelm of St. Mary's Chapter and her committee, composed of Mesdames William Irwin, E. N. Goddard, and Harold Diehl. Mesdames Lawrence T. Corti and Howard Bowen will be in charge of a large assortment of glamorous costume jewelry next to the "White Elephants."

The "Bakery" is always a busy place at the old-time fair. This year Mesdames David Little and W. A. Sears will again be in charge, assisted by Mrs. J. E. Busey and Mrs. Locke Haney. Delectable breads, cakes, casseroles, cookies, pies and rolls will be waiting for the usual patrons who come early for these goodies baked by the friends of St. Mary's Chapter.

Mrs. William J. Doggett is chairman of the St. John's League Gift Booth, where "Red Riding Hood and Grandmother Dolls," puppets, and an attractive assortment of gift items for Christmas will be featured. Mrs. L. J. Breslin has specialized in making gay aprons for the holiday hostesses. Members of St. John's League who have been attending work-shops during the fall season for the fair are Mesdames William J. Doggett, Roy H. Balke, Heyward Kane, Robert Ahrens, Melville Wolf, Stanley B. Brooks, F. Waldron Watland, Marsh Bull, Barbara Smith, Allan Chambliss, C. E. Leonard, F. P. Faulkner, Harold Hallett, Robert Nourse, L. J. Breslin and Charles Patterson.

Mrs. Edward G. Stopper, a member of St. Mary's Chapter, will be in charge of the "Handkerchief Tree," which will be trimmed with a large assortment of fine handkerchiefs.

Mrs. Clarence A. Mette, of St. Mary's Chapter, will have all sorts of candles and Christmas novelties at her tables. She will also take subscriptions to magazines and will be in charge of the sale of 15 copies of a fascinating booklet entitled "Here I Am, Mother," written and donated by Elizabeth Jaros, a member of St. Mary's Chapter. Mrs. Jaros' book was favorably commented upon by Eleanor Roosevelt and Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago. The book was re-published in 1956 and will be most useful to all who are interested in the ethical rearing of children. It is a lovely bit of common sense all wrapped up by a spiritual woman for sharing with the world.

The traditional "ham luncheon" will be served from noon until 2 p.m. by the Altar Guild. Assisting the directress, Mrs. Eugene A. Ostaggi, will be: Mesdames Milton Gabbs, Albert C. Daniels, W. P. Watrous, William J. Doggett, Charles J. Patterson, Rowland Chapmen, Melville E. Wolf, P. G. Cochrane, H. W. Drath, Kenneth W. Verling, C. William Gumz, Allan T. Hinman, and Alfred W. Nordwell.

The Young People's Fellowship, Richard Newton, president, will conduct the "Old Records and Books" table. Joe Hickerson and Jennifer Shipley are managers of this project.

"Tea" will be served from 3 to 4 p.m. under the chairmanship of Mrs. George W. Tatum, president of St. Mary's Chapter. Hostesses will be Mesdames Farwell Hill, E. S. Davids, Charles S. Kilburn, Alfred H. Smith, J. W. Watrous, Locke Haney, Fred M. Merchant and Mrs. eBnjamin H. Dibblee.

There will also be a special booth where small articles of furniture in good condition will be sold under the management of Mrs. E. C. Jaros.

Mrs. William J. Smith, Mrs. George C. Stackpole, and Mrs. E. S. Davids will be "floor-hostesses" throughout the day.

Christmas Greens Committees Named

Mrs. Marion F. Ludlow of San Rafael, chairman of arrangements for the Decorations Guild's annual Christmas Greens Sale Dec. 16, 17 and 18 at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross, has named Mrs. R. P. Forster of Fairfax as her co-chairman, it was announced today. Mrs. Peter P. Schubert of Greenbrae was named assistant chairman.

Mrs. Raymond Ponath of Greenbrae will be in charge of the workroom crew which will make the wreaths, swags, mistletoe balls and other items of fresh greens to be offered as festive home decorations for the holidays. Co-chairmen of the committee making the traditional Yule logs are Mrs. Helene H. Hjort of Ross and Mrs. Fred H. Sloat of San Anselmo.

In addition to articles of fresh greens, the Guild will offer items made of long-lasting dried materials, according to Mrs. Ludlow. These materials, used for imaginative table arrangements, miniature Christmas trees, wreaths, and plaques, are gathered throughout the year in preparation for the pre-holiday sales.

After their summer travels, Guild members and their friends bring to the Decorations Guild work rooms baskets of pods, dried flowers and decorative weeds from all parts of California as well as other states. Cones of many sizes are bought from the high mountains, and palm fronds and stalks from the desert regions.

Many articles of dried materials are now available at the Decorations Guild Building at the Center, open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. Articles of fresh greens will be available only during the Christmas Greens Sale.

The Christmas Cupboard, offering homemade holiday foods, again will be a feature of the mid-December event, Mrs. Ludlow announced. The Pixie Parents, a Center affiliate, sponsor the Cupboard as their annual contribution to the sale. Mrs. Charles Phalen of Ross is chairman this year.

Hours of the Christmas Greens Sale and Christmas Cupboard will be 6 to 10 p.m. Friday, Dec. 16 and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 17 and 18. Proceeds will benefit the Center. The public is invited.

Melody Of Merry Christmas Theme For Fashion Luncheon

When the familiar white decor at Ondine in Sausalito opens for "Fashions With a View" on Thursday, Dec. 1, the "Melody of a Merry Christmas" will ring out. It will set the mood for four special holiday luncheons that will attract fashion minded women from all parts of the Bay Area who have heard of the distinctive, intimate appeal of the enthusiastically received new Thursday series.

The "Melody of a Merry Christmas," fashionably speaking will be in tune with gala fashions for the holidays from Ruth Gerten's charming Sausalito boutique which has earned an international reputation for fashions with flair since its opening a few holidays ago.

Welcomed as the first holiday "guest-with-a-viewpoint" will be one of San Francisco's first ladies, Mrs. John R. Upton, executive vice president of the San Francisco Symphony Association Women's Committees. Invited to join her is Mrs. Enrique Jorda, wife of the conductor of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

In a Christmas tribute to the San Francisco Symphony as it begins its 49th season on Dec. 7, Mrs. John Willcutt, Mrs. Eugene Hiller, Mrs. Richard Evans, Mrs. Robert Roat and Mrs. John Bellamy Jr. will promenade the holiday fashions gathered from the USA and exciting ports of call in India, Hawaii, France, Austria, Italy, England and Canada.

The fashionable "Melody of a Merry Christmas" will unfold as a holiday symphonic composition: Adagio, busy-day outfits for holiday rushing: Intermezzo, the important inbetweens for exciting Yuletide occasions; Scherzo, light, lithe, and lovely looks at home for the holidays and Finale: Allegro vivace, excitement for after five on any festive evening.

Reservations to enjoy Fashions With a View from the Ondine that has captured the fancy of social and fashion press as well as the Thursday guests, and predictably has become "the place for Thursday luncheon" may be made by calling the restaurant. Luncheon and fashions begin at 12:30 p.m.

Mrs. Richard Albert, the first president of the auxiliary, is the membership chairman, and her hostesses will be board members: Mrs. Frank Rosaman, president; Mrs. James Rideout, Mrs. Ted Pett, Mrs. Preben Jurvig, Mrs. Penimore Cady, Mrs. Richard Albert, Mrs. Lauro Quiros, Mrs. Delman Smith, Mrs. James Cermak, Mrs. Lawrence Witter, Mrs. Robert Taylor and Mrs. Donald Baldwin.

Mrs. James Rideout, president-elect, is in charge of the program. A highlight of the afternoon will be the "Sea Sharps" quartet who are members of the Sweet Adeline Chorus. They are: Mary Lou Robertson, Bobbie Carick, Jean Sutliff and Earlyne Wolff.

Dr. and Mrs. Smith's beautiful old home was built at the turn of the century by Captain and Mrs. Richard Cantwell. Capt. Cantwell was in command of a cutter running to Alaska for many years.

The three-story white house has a sweeping view of the bay and a beautiful hillside garden. Dr. and Mrs. Smith have kept the traditional atmosphere of the house, while completely modernizing and redecorating it.

Among the many projects of the auxiliary are scholarships to deserving students of dentistry, contributions to the cleft palate clinic, and at present they are producing a puppet show to be given in Marin schools as part of the dental health education program.

Tamelpa Parlor Honors Member At A Shower

Following the business meeting conducted by president Mrs. Anthony Damazio refreshments were served on a long table decorated with pinks entwined with maidenhair fern and small button chrysanthemums, miniature storks and various nursery items. It was centered with a huge sheet cake inscribed "welcome baby."

Honored guests attending were Mesdames James W. Stinchcomb Sr. of San Anselmo, C. L. Briant, the honoree's mother, and George N. Walker.

Mrs. Henrietta Faber, deputy grand president of Marinita Parlor 198 of San Rafael informed members of plans formulated for an official visit to be held on Jan. 9.

Mrs. Robert Campagna, the chairman of the "Junipero Serra Statue Fund," reported on proceeds from the sale of Christmas cookies and gingerbread men which she herself baked and wrapped individually.

Preceding the Dec. 18 meeting will be a "dime-a-dip" dinner at 6:45 p.m. Secret Pals will be revealed then.

Holiday Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. Harvie M. Freed of Greenbrae entertained at a buffet Thanksgiving dinner Wednesday night. With them were their son, Norman Freed, who is living in Berkeley where he is a management trainee in merchandising. Norman was graduated from University of California in June. He was president of the Delta Upsilon fraternity house. Also guests at Wednesday night's dinner were Mr. Freed's mother, Mrs. Clarence M. Freed, and Mrs. Freed's mother, Mrs. Hert A. Norman. Both are former Marin residents now living in San Francisco.

Couples Clubs Plan Pageant In Mill Valley

Interesting and varied origins of Christmas traditions will be the theme of a Christmas pageant to be presented Dec. 9 at the Mill Valley Community by two of the church's couples' clubs.

Festivities planned by the Tandems and Voyagers will start with a potluck dinner at 7 p.m.

When the magic of mistletoe is explained to young Marcy Thurston, Santa's proxy will be Don Porter. Assistance in unique portrayals of Christmas traditions will be given by Don and Jean Du Pertuis, Joe and Mary Ann Dodd, Joe Fuller, Phil Philbrick, Jean Kahler, Charles Cutting, Will Symmes, Harry Magill, John Yocum, Charles Smith, Les Jonas, Betts Porter, Don Fleenor and Bob McVey.

The pageant, "The Why of Christmas," owes its origin to Dorothy and Bob Swendeman, Joe and Mary Ann Dodd, Bob McVey, Joe Fuller and Don and Betts Porter, general chairmen.

Committees at work on plans for the evening include Jane and Charles Cutting, decorations and hospitality; Peg Simpson, Joe and Mary Ann Dodd, invitations, and Krieg and Mary Vezie, dinner.

Salvage Shop Holiday Sale Opens Tomorrow

With new gifts donated by members of all the participating organizations, the annual Christmas sale of the Village Salvage Shop in Tiburon will start tomorrow.

The women's organization of the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Richardson Bay claimed the distinction of being the first to arrive with its contribution.

Each year the organizations contribute new gifts with a minimum value of 50 cents. The gifts are saran-wrapped and placed on sale before Christmas. Proceeds are split between the five member organizations which in addition to Westminster Church are St. Hilary's Women's Club, St. Stephen's Guild, the Southern Marin Recreation Center and the Reed District Parent-Teacher Club.

In addition to these gifts women in the area have been dressing dolls for sale. The dolls have been donated to the shop during the year according to shop manager Mrs. Joseph Johnson.

A new representative has joined the Shop's Governing Board. She is Mrs. Charles Locati who will be one of the two representatives from the Southern Marin Recreation Center.

Picture Council Reviews Activities

The Marin Chapter of the Motion Picture Council held its regular meeting at the Tamalpais Theater on Tuesday.

Mrs. Paul A. Hammer, president, reviewed the previous year's activities for the new members, and previewed coming events for the current year. She also gave a report on the Television Workshop she recently attended in Berkeley. This group recommended elimination of violence for violence sake, and suggested the use of authentic historical background material for all western-type television programming.

Following the meeting, a picture was presented for review. The movie, "Desire In the Dust" carried an accurate and realistic title.

Blessed Sacrament Guild Plans Bazaar

Plans are under way for the annual Christmas Bazaar given by the Blessed Sacrament Women's Guild. This year it will be held on Dec. 4, starting immediately after the 7 o'clock mass and running until 4 in the afternoon. Coffee will be served after all the masses.

Co-chairmen Marie Goff and Marie O'Donnell have worked long and hard preparing for this event. They and their committees have promised an exciting array of ~~booths~~ this ~~year~~ with many new innovations.

At 4 o'clock a Chatty Cathy doll will be awarded. This doll comes complete with a wardrobe, fashioned especially for her by a sewing committee, that will charm any little girl. Included in the wardrobe are a sailor outfit, a Blessed Sacrament school uniform, a party dress with tiger print trim, a muu muu for lounging, a nightie with hair brush, rollers and curler, and a lovely skating outfit complete with doll size skates just to fit Chatty Cathy. Tickets for this may be had by calling any member of the Guild or at the bazaar.

Among the many booths will be a religious articles booth, Christmas ornaments, a green thumb booth, candle booth, hand made articles booth, food booth, boutique booth, and something brand new and sure to be a success, an old hat and white elephant booth.

The children will be well provided for with four game booths including a duck pond, nail drive, grab bag, and a throw booth. All the children's booths will be staffed by CYO members, and two fortunate (?) boys will stick their heads through holes to be pelted by wet sponges wielded by the dead-eye dicks of the parish. Two puppet shows will be shown in the afternoon at two and again at three.

All proceeds from this event go towards the school furnishing fund. The bazaar will be held in the Parish Hall Sunday Dec. 4, at 140 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Better Health Through Knowledge

Car Sickness

- Gritty Mouth
- Menopause Defined
- Tapeworm

Q. What can be done to help a child who gets carsick? Are there drugs to take or is it "all in the head?"

A. Several drugs are now available which help prevent carsickness. Your doctor can offer advice along these lines. Motion sickness isn't entirely "imagination," as anyone who has ever been sick can testify. However, excitement and suggestion do play a part. It would be best not to mention the possibility of getting sick to the child. If vomiting occurs, don't make a fuss. Otherwise, the child may employ this means of gaining attention.

Q. What can I do for a gritty feeling in my mouth?

A. If you wear dentures, keep them scrupulously clean. Although this may help, mouth grittiness is not unusual in persons past 50 or so.

Q. Does the menopause end with the cessation of the menses or does it continue?

A. We need to define some terms. "Menopause" literally means cessation of menstrual function. Another term — "climacteric" — denotes a transitional phase or "change of life," of which the menopause is but one manifestation. This transitional period of life normally extends through the 50th year.

Q. I think I have a tapeworm. What medicine can I take? And don't tell me to go to a doctor —I'm too embarrassed.

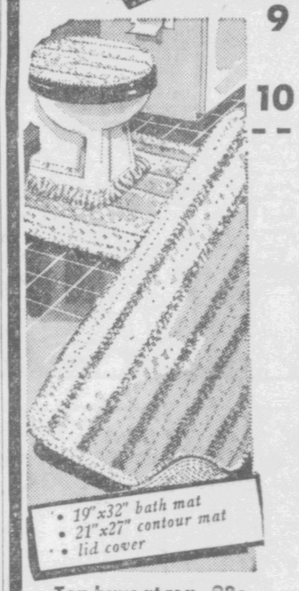

A. You need a spanking (and at your age). Forget your false modesty and see your physician. There are very effective drugs for this condition but they should be used only under the direct supervision of a doctor.

Answers do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician. Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

Clearly Understood Rules Enforced Consistently Are Best For Children

Do you have clear rules for your children? Do you enforce the rules consistently?

Let me tell you about two small friends of mine, Billy and Bobby. They show why rules are important.

Billy and Bobby are 3. They are next-door neighbors. They are bright, peppy, healthy. Their parents love them.

The boys are alike except for one thing. Billy knows what's expected of him. Bobby doesn't.

Billy's folks have clear rules. He knows he must stay out of the street. He can dig in the mud, but he can't bring the mess into the house. He knows when his bedtime comes, and that protests are useless.

The result? He feels secure. He usually cooperates. He's happy. There's a comfortable future ahead for Billy.

Bobby is behind the eight ball. His mother has exaggerated ups and downs. When she is feeling good, Bobby gets by with murder. He makes a shambles of the house and she doesn't care. He takes dangerous chances in the street. He stays up very late.

But when she's feeling low Bobby catches it. Nothing he does is right. He's spanked 10 times an hour.

The result? Bobby has no idea what is expected of him. He feels insecure and afraid. Fear shows in everything he does. He has had nightmares and a disturbing facial tic. Bobby's future is doubtful.

Not many of us can be completely consistent. But we can try. At our worst we could do a better job than Bobby's folks.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "My daughters are 14 and 15. They think they should decide their own bedtime. I insist that on week nights they start to bed about 9:30 and be settled by 10. They say I am unreasonable. Do you think so?"

P.R.

(A) No. I do not. Your girls need definite hours and a regular bedtime. You should make exceptions, of course, for parties and special events.

Crime Increase Told In Report

Crime is on the increase in California according to a report issued by Attorney General Stanley Mosk.

Based on a recent mid-year summary of crime in the State showing a crime rate increase of 17 per cent for the first half of 1960, Mosk stated the full year's figures will show the crime rate to have climbed well above 17 per cent over the 1959 rate.

There were 61,346 crimes reported in the State during July, August and September, the report stated with Los Angeles County reporting more than half the total.

The San Francisco Bay Area reported 11,060 crimes with 2,593 committed in Alameda County, 4,059 in San Francisco City and County and 4,408 in seven other Bay counties.

Church Planning Slides On Hawaii

Color slides from the Hawaiian Islands will be shown at the Assembly of God Church, Blithedale and Sycamore Avenues in Mill Valley tomorrow through Friday evenings, it was announced today.

Showing the pictures which he took in the islands during the past nine years will be Rev. Alfred J. Morrison, pastor of the Scotts Valley Assembly of God Church in Santa Cruz. There will also be a musical program each evening, Morrison said.

Interchange Low Bid Announced

A low bid of $577,229 was opened last week at the State Department of Public Works Office in Sacramento for construction of a cloverleaf interchange at the Marinwood entrance on Highway 101, just north of the Lucas Valley Road.

Charley L. Harney Co. of San Francisco was low bidder.

This project, according to Marin County Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham, will be similar to the interchange now near completion at the nearby entrance to Terra Linda.

Driver 'Improved'

John F. Marchini, 18, of 21 Bayview Terrace in Mill Valley, suffered a laceration of the left eyebrow when the car he was driving skidded off the road at 77 Miller Avenue last night and ran into the bank on the side of the street. Marchini was treated in the Marin General Hospital and released.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

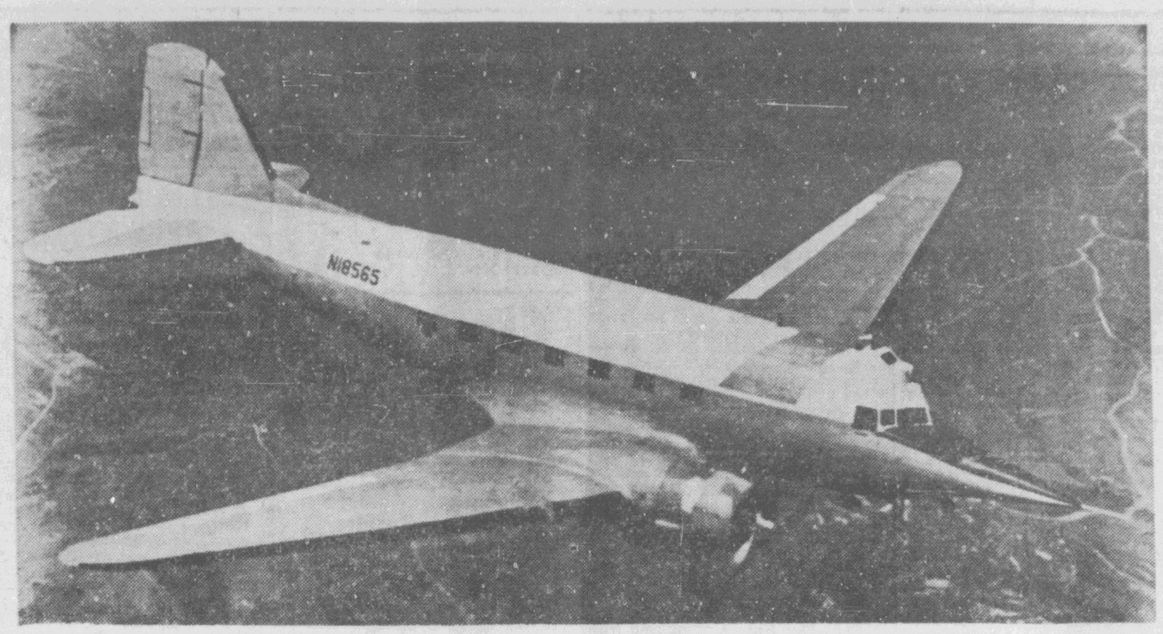

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

ELECTRONICS GEAR IN NEEDLE NOSE

To test the advanced radar and fire control equipment of the F-104G Starfighter, the eight-foot needle nose of a Starfighter has been affixed to the fuselage of a DC-3 transport in a test at the Lockheed plant at Burbank. The nose carries interchangeable electronics gear, while the transport's fuselage contains a complete F-104G cockpit mock-up, plus banks of test and measuring equipment. The bulge above the DC-3's flight station houses the F-104G infrared optical gunsight. By combining components of the two airplanes engineers can study, in flight, the operational characteristics of the all-weather installations designed for multi-mission fighters ordered by several foreign countries.

Two Men, Three Boys Dig Canyon For Semi-Precious Lapis Lazuli

By HAL BORCHERT

UPLAND (AP)—Two men and three boys are digging a hole in the wall of a canyon north of here, convinced that they have discovered a vein of semi-precious gemstone.

The stone is lapis lazuli, a deep-blue stone flecked with gold which is known as the "sapphire of the ancients"

Their mine may be the fourth commercial deposit of lapis in the world and the first one in the United States.

William Peck, of Montclair, and John Ernsberger of Chino, are partners in the mine. Assisting them with the digging are three teen-agers — Peck's son, Phil, 15; and Bob Hoglan, 17, and LeRoy Renz, 15, both of Montclair.

The mine is located in remote Cascade Canyon, an offshoot of San Antonio Canyon.

Lapis lazuli is a compact combination of many minerals, essentially lazurite, but containing hauynite and sodalite. The gold flecks are iron pyrite.

The stone's history goes back to biblical times.

The presence of a lapis deposit in the Cascade Canyon south fork has been known for more than a century, but no one had hit a commercial deposit.

Peck and Ernsberger have found a vein in the obscure north fork which they believe is commercially important. The only commercial deposits now are in Chile, Afghanistan and Siberia.

The U.S. Forest Service apparently believes the men have a commercial deposit. The service has granted them a special use permit, a lease to mine the canyon for lapis only.

Peck and Ernsberger were searching the canyon for years, but neither knew the other was there.

Ernsberger began looking for lapis in 1948 while he was a student at Pomona College. After graduation, he continued his trips on weekends but found nothing very big or very good.

Meanwhile, Peck, a rockhound, had become fascinated with stories of the blue stone which had been found in the canyon. He and his son started panning the stream at the bottom of the canyon just off Mt. Baldy Road. Working up the canyon, they found tiny traces of blue material and then pieces about the size of a pea in the main fork. They soon had to make a decision. They reached the north fork and decided to try it and at the bottom of a waterfall high up the canyon they found a stone the size of a heavyweight's fist.

The men met, but not in the canyon. They were introduced by a mutual friend who knew both and were interested in rocks.

They went to the canyon together for the first time last January and Ernsberger, a geologist, confirmed Peck's belief that he had something. They formed a partnership and applied for the mining permit.

The other two boys, Hoglan and Renz, are members of an Explorer Scout unit and Peck is their adviser.

The five have brought out over 200 pounds of the material this year. They carry it on their backs—there is no other way.

Peck's garage has been transformed into a stone-cutting shop where the miners spend their evenings turning out jewelry for their families and friends.

Peck and Ernsberger do not believe that their discovery will make them wealthy. "The difficulty in bringing out the lapis puts a stop to the wealth idea right away," Ernsberger said.

"We'll let the mine develop itself," Peck said.

N.Y. STATE STUDY

Illegitimacy For Sake Of Welfare Funds Denied

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Do mothers receiving public welfare conceive illegitimate children just to pick up a few more dollars a month?

Director John Wedemeyer of the State Social Welfare Department says no, and he has a new report to back him up.

He notes that the study by New York health and welfare officials is the first to go into the illegitimacy problem with any thoroughness.

It terms as totally false the claims that mothers perpetuate illegitimacy for the sake of collecting aid funds — which brought these comments from Wedemeyer:

"It reflects what we in California have felt for some time, that Aid to Needy Children funds do not encourage immorality.

"It is hardly conceivable that a woman would find it profitable to have a baby just for the sake of $30 more per month, the average additional welfare grant per child."

Some of the study's conclusions, Wedemeyer notes, closely parallel other California findings, namely that:

1. The overwhelming percentage of illegitimate children, more than two-thirds, come from Negro and Mexican-American groups.

2. The problems of illegitimacy grow out of a variety of social, economic and health problems—broken homes, mental retardation and the like.

3. Only 13 per cent of the total illegitimate children are on ANC rolls.

4. The number of illegitimate children, at least among minority groups is about the same whether the family is getting funds or not.

5. It's better for all concerned to support illegitimate children in their homes, whenever possible.

Some Statistics On Yule Buying — You'll Buy More Than You Intended

The period between Thanksgiving and Christmas is one of the heaviest buying seasons of the year. It is two days longer this year than in 1959 — 26 shopping days as against 24.

The buying spree for many has already started. Budgeted or not, your outlay for Christmas presents is likely to exceed what you intended to spend. Based on averages, here is the forecast of your probably disbursements:

If your family has an annual income of less than $7,500, it will pay out about $100 for gifts. This does not include expenditures for Christmas tree. ornaments, dinner and refreshments. Those with higher incomes will spend close to $200 The average family will spend about $147.

On Christmas morning this year, Americans will open an estimated 7.3 billion dollars worth of presents.

Women make about 83 per cent of all Christmas purchases, but men are likely to spend more money. This is because a man's single gift to his wife may cost more than all the rest of their presents put together.

A survey among women has shown that the gifts they most desire (and this is not intended to influence your own plans) are coats, sweaters, watches, sewing machines, rings, hi-fi sets, sofas, dresses, jackets, electric mixers and toasters.

Typical gifts that these same women planned to give their husbands were sweaters, shirts, tools and photographic equipment.

MARINITES IN BUSINESS: The City of San Anselmo's Christmas decorations this year, including the hobgoblins hanging on the lamp posts, are the work of Mrs. Kathleen Duncan of San Rafael. Novelty window display figures are her specialty.

Mrs. Janice R. Magee of San Rafael has been appointed a district manager in this area for FIF Associates, Inc., a distributing organization for shares of Financial Industrial Fund and Financial Industrial Income Fund. Both offer full-time professional investment management and diversified holdings in major business enterprises.

Mutual of New York field underwriter Ed Nordstrom, who has his office in San Rafael and lives in Mill Valley, has qualified for his firm's 1960 Top Club — a group of the top 15 per cent company producers. This entitles him to an expense-paid trip to New York with a week's stay at the Waldorf Hotel.

San Rafael acoustical engineer Dariel Fitzroy has recently returned from Sarasota, Fla., where he participated in the Designs for Learning conference of educators, architects, editors and consultants.

Purpose of the conference was to develop new ideas in school design to accommodate the modern teaching methods being tried experimentally throughout the country.

WHILE THE FULL advantages may not be apparent for the weather at this time of the year, Studebaker Lark is adding a Continental flair to 1961 sedans and hardtops by equipping them with a sliding weatherproof vinyl top that covers a 36 by 28-inch aperture in the roof and slides back on chrome runners.

Still, Skytop Sunroof as it is called, may be something to consider for pleasurable driving during the warm months in Marin. We understand that Larks so equipped are en route to dealers' showrooms.

Rossi Garage, San Rafael distributor, says it has no models of this type in stock or on orders but will endeavor to secure them if desired.

In School 'Who's Who'

Charles Youngclaus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Youngclaus of 10 Court Lane, Fairfax, has been named to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." A 1956 graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, he is a senior at Fresno State College. Youngclaus was recently married to Miss Judy Russell of Madera.

Concert By Orchestra Basso Well Received

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Marinites turned out nearly a thousand strong Friday night at Marin Catholic High School in miserable weather to hear the opening concert of the ninth annual series.

At the conclusion of the program the audience gave Salgo and guest basso Robert Oliver of Los Angeles a lengthy and vigorous ovation.

It was a night of special pleasure to connoisseurs of neglected and out of fashion music of the 19th Century, since the program was made up primarily of neo-romantic works of Richard Strauss and outright romantic Verdi and Bizet.

The "Magic Flute" overture and bass Aria from the same opera were acclaimed. But most of the enthusiasm was reserved for other numbers.

High points were Strauss' "Death and Transfiguration" and Oliver's aria, "Ella Giammai M'Amo" from "Don Carlos."

Having studied and played under Strauss, Salgo, as expected, led the orchestra in an authentic and inspired reading of the symphonic poem that will long be remembered.

Adding immeasurably to the effect of his arias were cellist Jean Mattos Maguire's solo accompaniment and that of the massed cellos.

Other memorable moments were Jean Stevens's pellucid oboe passages in the second movement of Bizet's Symphony No. 1 and the brief but poignant combination of the violin and harp in the opening part of the symphonic poem as played by concertmaster Charles Meacham and harpist Joel Andrews.

The orchestra showed especially well balanced work in the fugal section of "The Magic Flute," with the string choir notable for smooth sostenuto in the adagio beginning of the overture.

The same nicely balanced performance was heard in the sonorous tapestry created by the tutti playing of the Bizet symphony's fugato section, with the first violins outstanding for unanimity in the perpetual motion of the finale.

Ward's Manager Heads Merchants

Adrian Taylor, manager of W. T. Grant Co., was elected vice president; Beverley Sill, president of the First National Bank in the center, was re-elected treasurer, and Louis Malvino of Louis George Men's Apparel was re-elected secretary.

Taylor and Kenneth Landrage, manager of Thrity Drug Store, were elected to two-year terms on the board of directors.

Air Force To Close Three U.S. Bases, Cut Back Fourth

Shift To Missile Strength Brings Shutdown Orders

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force, in a missile-age shakeup of its U. S. operating bases, announced today that it will close three big air bases and reduce a fourth to reserve unit status by June, 1962.

Mitchell Air Force Base, Long Island, N. Y., will be closed by June 1961. Chennault Air Force Base, Lake Charles, La., and MacDill Air Force Base, Tampa, Fla., will be shut down by June, 1962.

Donaldson Air Force Base, Greenville, S.C., now headquarters of a troop carrier wing, will be reduced in personnel and operate as headquarters for a reserve troop carrier squadron. The change will take place by June, 1962.

The Air Force also announced that Hunter Air Force Base, Savannah, Ga., will change from a Strategic Air Command base with B-47 bombers, to a military trasport service base in the spring of 1962.

The Air Force said these and 19 other moves and conversions grew out of a study of changes brought on by its transition from manned airplanes to a mixed force of missiles and aircraft.

Base closings result from a policy of locating support units on as few bases as possible and deploying combat units at bases which can be used for new missions such as missile operations.

The Air Force pointed out that it has scheduled the inactivation of numerous B-47 jet bomber wings and that several air bases no longer will be needed as a result.

It said operation of big strategic missiles, like the Atlas and Titan, can be carried out more effectively from bases which also are used for piloted bombers.

Lumumba Quits Leopoldville In Surprise Move

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—A surprise flight by ousted Premier Patrice Lumumba to his bush country stronghold today brought strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu racing back to Leopoldville, and there were reports he had ordered his troops to arrest Lumumba on sight.

The left-wing Lumumba, under United Nations troop guard in his official residence for the last six weeks, abruptly departed unescorted in a chauffeur-driven car for Stanleyville. He left a note that he would attend the funeral of his infant daughter and then would return to the capital to resume his demand for control of the government.

Lumumba's written statement stressed he was "not going to Stanleyville as a refugee."

His departure immediately recalled reports last week that Lumumba might try to form an independent nation of the eastern Congo district with Stanleyville as its capital. His brother, Louis, is political leader in the city where mob rule has replaced law and order.

Lumumba's month-old daughter died Nov. 18 during treatment in a Swiss hospital. The body was brought back for burial.

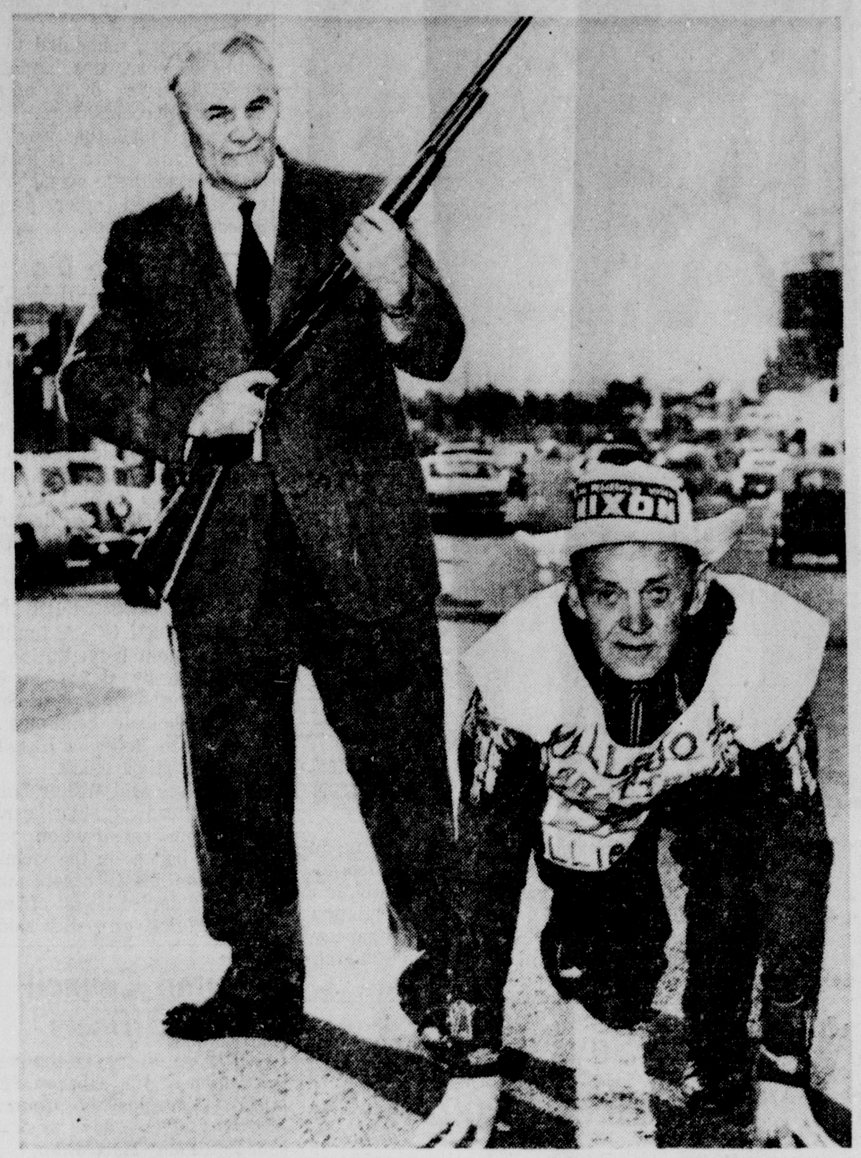

Bay Herring Run Starts

Sausalitans hooked bass right from the edge of the sandspit this morning as start of the herring run brought the bass close to shore in pursuit of their own breakfasts.

The herring run in Richardson Bay attracts bass in from the sea. When the bass chase the herring, the latter surface. Hundreds of seagulls and some pelicans were swooping down to eat the herring this morning.

Bass caught today ranged from five and 13 pounds, said Al Urbais of the Sausalito Boat and Tackle Shop.

The herring are expected to run for about two more weeks, Urbias said. They are a little early this year, normally running in December and January.

ON THE MARK FOR ELECTION PAYOFF

Alexis (Ollie) Ross, Vallejo swimming pool manufacturer who styles himself variously as a count and as "national Republican chairman," bet Tony Valladao, Vallejo bar owner, that Nixon would be elected President. The wager: The loser would have to walk from Vallejo to San Francisco. Ross gets start from Valladao as "official starter" in this photo taken at 10 a.m. today. Forced to go the long way around because pedestrians are forbidden on the Oakland Bay Bridge, Ross hoped to reach San Rafael some time this evening, then detour via Sausalito to the Golden Gate Bridge and the last lap to the San Francisco City Hall. MARIN BAY DEVELOPMENT

Assessment Plan Dinner Meet Set

Latipac-Perini Co. will wine and dine San Rafael city officials in San Francisco this evening to sell them on a $2,728,944 assessment district for Marin Bay.

Stone and Youngberg, the San Francisco investment counseling firm which has set up the proposed assessment district for the Marin Bay developers, has invited all members of the city council, plus City Manager Dan E. Andersen, Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles and City Engineer Dominic Selmi, to the 6 p.m. dinner at the Concordia-Argonaut club.

The dinner, according to the invitations, will be "to discuss the proposed City of San Rafael assessment proceedings for the Marin Bay development."

Details of the assessment district, largest ever proposed in San Rafael, are set forth in a book of some 200 pages, with accompanying maps, prepared by the San Francisco civil engineering firm of Daniel Coleman. (The same firm, incidentally, was hired in September by the city council to prepare a master plan of San Rafael streets and traffic pattern, at a fee of $15,000.)

Assessments per lot would run from $7,250 to $25,000 with two much larger parcels bearing assessments of $48,826 and $104,235, respectively. Lots would be sold with the assessments as encumbrances. Latipac-Perini reportedly has already sold some lots, subject to assessment.

The assessment district is proposed to be set up under the Public Improvement Act of 1911. This would leave sale of the bonds up to the developers, but the city would provide in-

Kennedy Jobs For Acheson, Bowles Hinted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President-elect John F. Kennedy today set up conferences with former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Chester Bowles. Both have been mentioned in connection with key foreign policy posts in the new administration.

Kennedy arranged to meet with Acheson at the home of the former secretary of state this afternoon. He will see Bowles at a breakfast meeting at the Kennedy home tomorrow.

Bowles, who decided not to seek re-election as U.S. representative from Connecticut to devote full time to the Kennedy campaign, has figured in speculation over Kennedy's choice of a secretary of state. He is a former U.S. ambassador to India.

Acheson, a controversial member of the cabinet in the Truman administration, has been mentioned as a possible U.S. representative to the United Nations or the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

His more likely role, however, is a foreign policy advisor—a role he was expected to play at the meeting with Kennedy.

Kennedy also will meet here tomorrow with Gov.-elect Terry Sanford of North Carolina and Bert L. Bennett of Winston-Salem, chairman of the North Carolina Democratic Executive Committee. Kennedy invited them to meet with him.

60-Year Peek Into Future Sees 5-Fold Increase In Marin Population

By RANDALL GOULD

Spectacular growth of Marin County during the next 60 years, including a fivefold population increase to 790,000, is forecast in a report just issued by the U.S. Department of Commerce under the title "Future Development of the San Francisco Bay Area 1960-2020."

Prepared and published for the U.S. Army Engineer District, San Francisco Corps of Engineers, the volume predicts economic, land use, population and reclamation prospects for nine counties as an aid toward achieving maximum use of the area's resources.

An introductory summary says that Marin by the end of this year "will have developed about 14 per cent of its urban land potential, making it the most extensively developed of all North Bay Counties." In 2020 this should have risen to 62.9 per cent.

Marin is lumped with Napa, Solano and Sonoma as now having just under 20 square miles devoted to industrial use but with an expected figure in the year 2020 of nearly 70 square miles for the three counties. But Marin will rise only from a present four to nine square miles 60 years hence.

These same counties now use a little more than 100 square miles for residential and commercial uses but their requirement is expected in this category to rise to about 780 square miles through the next 60 years. During the same period, land devoted to agriculture is expected to diminish from a present 2,400 square miles to just over 1,700 square miles.

Much of the remaining marshland areas throughout the Bay Area will be reclaimed by 1990 for various purposes among which recreation "may be comparatively important," says the survey.

Venezuela Acts To Crush Riots

President Accuses Reds, Calls Out Army

CARACAS (UPI) — President Romulo Betancourt called out the army today to combat wild street rioting which he said was aimed at putting Venezuela under a Communist dictatorship

Constitutional guarantees were suepended throughout the nation for an indefinite period because, Betancourt said, the government will not tolerate "civil war" in Venezuela. As the president spoke, riots raged through downtown Caracas. The presidential palace was put under heavy tank and infantry guard. Street barricades were erected to divert traffic.

The president's decisions were announced to the people over a nationwide radio and television hookup. His speech came after a four-hour emergency session of the cabinet.

SUPPORT DECISION

Top government, army, political and labor leaders supported Betancourt's decision to use troops to end the street rioting which has paralyzed the city.

Betancourt specifically accused the Communist Party and leftist political movements of being responsible for the disorders.

"They form a part of the insurrection which seeks to establish in Venezuela a regime similar to that in Cuba," he declared.

The president's speech came as leftist-led demonstrators surged through the city, provoking frequent clashes with guardsmen and military police.

25 INJURED

At least 25 persons were injured in the first few hours of rioting, most of them tear-gas victims.

Many more persons were injured by flying stones, or trampled by the mobs as they fled in wild disorder before the tear-gas assaults.

It was the fourth—and worst—day of anti-government rioting. At least three persons have been killed and more than 125 injured so far. An estimated 66 persons have been arrested.

Solon Scores Proposal To Fix Drug Price

McCarthy Charges Law Would Also Ban Advertising

State legislation to legalize price fixing of prescription drugs and prohibit their advertising is being planned at the same time a federal grand jury is investigating allegations of price fixing in this field, State Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-Marin) charged today.

He displayed a letter on recommended legislation which called for prohibition of advertising.

MADE STAND CLEAR

"I thought that we (the legislators) had made our stand clear back in May, when we stopped efforts by the State Board of Pharmacy to set up restrictive price advertising rules."

Referring to a hearing at which it was agreed that a state licensing board would overstep its functions and usurp legislative prerogatives in attempting such restrictive legislation; McCarthy alleged, "in effect they are now asking us to clear the way for such a ruling."

BACKS LEGISLATION

He disclosed that he had been given a copy of a letter written by Floyd N. Heffron, executive secretary of the California State Board of Pharmacy, to the Joint Healing Arts Committee appointed by the board.

This said the Pharmaceutical Institute — for which Heffron also has acted as spokesman—is to back legislation "that

New Orleans White Pupils Skip Classes

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Four Negro girls and two white children returned to classes today in two elementary schools which once held more than a thousand white students.

"You've got the whole school to yourself now," shouted a bystander as three Negro girls—all 6-year-olds in the first grade—returned to McDonogh School. It was true. The last white student had left the school before a holiday shut down classes all last week.

At William Frantz School, one Negro girl went back to her first grade class with the two white students, one of whom is a little girl in kindergarten who goes home at noon every day. On Nov. 18, the last day of school before the holiday, there were four whites in Frantz.

The smallest crowds of hecklers since integration began Nov. 14 were on hand in front of the two schools today. And attendance over the entire system increased sharply over the first week of integration.

Siren's Wail Causes Air Raid Scare

The wailing of the Belvedere fire siren across Richardson Bay at 3:30 a.m. today sounded like an air raid warning to many persons.

Three women telephoned the Sausalito Fire Department, three persons called the Belvedere police, the Mill Valley police called Sausalito police, and the county communications center in San Rafael telephoned the Sausalito Fire Department to learn what it was. Several asked if it were an air raid.

The blast was from a new siren of the Belvedere volunteer Fire Department, which sounded to call firemen to put out a blaze in the front seat of Dr. Benton Mathews' car at 54 Peninsula Road.

SPECIAL APPARATUS

Larkspur firemen wearing special breathing apparatus battled a smoky fire yesterday that caused damage estimated at $4500 to a two-story hillside house.

Twenty-three firemen, with three trucks, confined the fire to the rumpus room and garage and had it under control in four or five minutes. But it took some time to get inside, Chief George Bartram reported. "It was about the smokiest fire I've ever seen." he said.

Firemen used the special breathing apparatus—Scott air packs—and a smoke ejector to get into the house.

The chief said the rumpus room and contents were a "total loss" but firemen managed to save some of Briggs' personal records stored there.

Destroyed were antiques, a freezer, icebox, stove, two beds, some mattresses and cushions, Bartram reported. The rest of the frame house had considerable smoke damage.

Cause of the blaze was still under investigation today, but it may have been the electrical wiring, the chief said.

Cites Needs In Defense, Foreign Aid, Education, Research, Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's commission on national goals has outlined a program for America in the 1960s that would cost billions of dollars more of government spending.

This could mean a tax increase, the commission of 11 distinguished Americans concluded in a 30-page report made public by the White House yesterday. A copy was sent to President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Specifically, the commission urged the nation to arm adequately no matter what the cost and to spend billions of dollars more on education, foreign aid, research and cities.

The national goals proposed by the commission also included the elimination of racial segregation, the reduction of unemployment, and a foreign policy that preserves the United Nations while remaining ready to negotiate with the Soviet Union on any reasonable basis.

The commission and its report stem from President Eisenhower's State of the Union message almost two years ago. In it, the president said the nation should define its national purpose and goals.

The report now serves as a legacy from the Eisenhower administration to the incoming Kennedy administration. In several respects, the recommendations resemble the "New Frontiers" program outlined by Kennedy in his campaign.

Eisenhower created the commission last January, naming Dr. Henry M. Wriston as chairman. Dr. Wriston is president-emeritus of Brown University and president of the American Assembly, an educational institution.

The commission said racial segregation should be wiped out by 1970 and barriers in education, voting, housing and other fields should be sharply lowered by that date.

The commission said the United States should maintain and strengthen the military alliances of the free world. But nuclear disarmament should be the ultimate goal.

Foreign aid, the report said, should be increased and shared by all major free nations.

Tax revision also was proposed. The commission said this would include more liberal depreciation allowances for industry and the closing of tax loopholes.

Doctors Say Kennedy Son, Mother Fine

WASHINGTON (AP) — The John F. Kennedys — father, mother, newborn son and small daughter—all appear to be doing splendidly, thank you.

Father from time to time, however, did show some slight signs of harassment.

The word from the Kennedy doctors yesterday was that the baby, John F. Jr., born Friday, was coming along fine, was perfectly healthy and had its first regular feeding — three-quarters of an ounce of powdered milk formula.

NORMAL BABY

Dr. Edward B. Brooks, a pediatrician, said the youngster has reacted entirely normally for a premature baby born by Caesarean section.

One new statistic was provided—John Jr. is 20 inches long. It was announced earlier he has brown hair.

As for mother Kennedy's condition, Dr. John W. Walsh, who performed the Caesarean section, said she was feeling bright and chipper and that "everything is really going beautifully."

SEES HER SON

Mrs. Kennedy saw her son for the first time Saturday evening. She rode a wheelchair to the nursery and her husband, who by then had seen the baby six times on previous visits, went with her.

Kennedy reported his wife pleased and happy. She probably will be discharged from the hospital in about 10 days.

Over the weekend, the president-elect solved one problem —how to tell Caroline about the addition to the family. He informed her that her mother was away getting her a brother.

Yesterday morning the president-elect and Caroline came out of their home and walked three blocks to Mass at Holy Trinity Church.

CARRIES DOLL

Inside the church, Kennedy had his troubles.

Caroline, who had been greeted with "happy birthday" shouts all along the way, was in bubbling spirits and never sat still for an instant.

She sprawled on the kneeling bench. She stretched out on the seat. She ducked under the pew. She clambered over a pew divider and snuggled up to a teen-age girl.

At that point daddy retrieved her. Once more she scrambled under the pew, once more she was retrieved and spent the rest of the service on her father's lap.

ON WAY TO CHURCH—President-elect John F. Kennedy and his 3-year-old daughter, Caroline, leave their Georgetown home on way to church yesterday. It was Caroline's birthday and a small crowd of well-wishers called "Happy Birthday" as she walked with her father. Later Kennedy visited his wife and their new son in Georgetown Hospital. AMA Chief Says Kennedy Has No Medical Mandate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Dr. E. Vincent Askey, president of the American Medical Assn., said today President-elect John F. Kennedy's narrow election victory denied him a mandate to make massive changes in medical care programs.

Askey urged the nation's doctors to pitch in and back the recently approved federal-state program of merical care to the aged, strongly supported by the AMA.

He said this was the best strategy for combating an expected drive by the Kennedy administration to junk the present plan in favor of medical care for the elderly under the social security program.

Askey made the remarks in a speech for the second session of the AMA's 14th clinical meeting in a fighting mood.

His speech sounded the same battle cry as previous speakers —the AMA should not permit Keunedy's election to slow down its vigorous fight against the social security medical proposal.

"While our profession clearly may face a hard struggle in the 87th Congress on the issue of medical care for the aged under socnal security, there is no ground for defeatism," he said.

"The president-elect's margin of victory is so narrow that it would be difficult for even the most zealous adherent to consider this a mandate for a massive program of social change."

ALLEGED RINGLEADER SOUGHT

3 Suspects Face Charges In Southland Kidnaping

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Police today will seek formal complaints from the district attorney charging a married couple and the wife of a suspect still at large with the $200,000 kidnaping of sportsman Anthony Alessio.

The man and two women were arrested in Hollywood Friday, two days after Alessio, 41, was found uninjured following payment of the ransom by his wealthy family.

Police said $77,000 of the ransom was recovered when the three were arrested—but $123,000 of the money in $100 bills and less was still missing and presumed by police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation to be in the hands of three or four suspects still being sought.

Those already arrested are John Gorman, 29, and his wife Ruby, 30, of Monterey Park, and Selma Marrone, 25, of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Marrone is the wife of ex-convict Frank Marrone, 32, a Los Angeles bartender now being sought in the United States, Canada and Mexico as the possible ringleader of the gang that carried out the kidnaping last Tuesday.

Other suspects still at large have not been identified.

Alessio, member of a wealthy California family which among other interests own the Caliente horse racing track in Mexico and the Hotel Del Coronado near here, was grabbed by two armed men Tuesday outside his San Diego home.

Alessio was blindfolded and handcuffed and held for about 32 hours before his family was told where to find him in a motel after payment of the ransom.

Soldiers From Fort Baker Repel 'Enemy' In 3-Day Southern Marin War Exercise

Unit Combines Mock Battle, Construction

Marin civilians were unaware of it, but an armed "enemy" was repelled on the beaches of Southern Marin last week.

The 561st Engineer Company (Port Construction) of Fort Baker turned combat soldiers for a three-day "battle" at Kirby Beach, while constructing a loading ramp at Lime Point and a finger pier at Horseshoe Cove.

The company bivouacked at artillery bunker emplacements on the beach. By noon of the first day, both construction projects were under way, with a a two-week schedule for completion.

TIGHT DEFENSE

A motor convoy was harassed briefly by "guerilla elements" en route to the beach. A command post, field mess and hospital were set up, with outposts manned around a tight defensive perimeter.

But an "aggressor" force, comprised of soldiers from (of all places!) the 16th Base Post Office, commanded by Capt. Alfred Brazeau, was infilitrating the area—its mission to delay work on the projects, disrupt communications and harrass the 561st with rifle and gas attacks.

By 4 p.m. the First Platoon of the 561st, under Second Lt. Jack Rossman, had put up a heavy wooden framework for the ramp at Lime Point. As the second shift of construction workers worked into the night, it was suddenly hit by aggressor machine gun and rifle fire.

AGGRESSORS RETREAT

Sp/5c Earnest Wrench, a welder, described the attack this way, "We were working under lights when they attacked. Even after we cut off the lights, we could spot them by their rifle fire in the night."

Within 30 minutes the aggressors had retreated.

Most of the men were able to grab only a couple hours of sleep during the first two days. On the second day, the aggressors opened up with a cross-fire on the First Platoon. Soldiers from the First Platoon inched their way up the hill, routing the aggressors, who had theoretically suffered a high number of casualties.

Meanwhile, the Second Platoon, led by Second Lt. Richard Broberg, had begun work at Horseshoe Cove by 7 p.m. the first day. Although no attempt was made by the aggressors to attack in the first two days, the dock area was heavily ringed by guards.

AROUND THE CLOCK

Work went on around the clock as huge piles were driven into the ocean's bed. The finger pier, when completed, will be an access point for small craft.

Cajt. A. G. Pieruccini, commanding officer of the 561st, was in charge of the 72-hour test. "One of the main considerations of this test," he said, "is our ability to function as infantry soldiers, if the need arises."

At the project areas and bivouac site, the soldiers, under harrassment from the aggressors, utilized every phase of their 16-week training, from first aid to the processing of prisoners of war.

A team of five umpires headed by Capt. Louis J. Giovane, rated the performance of the 561st during the test.

A the end of the third day, weary but high spirited troops moved from the bivouac area and returned to Fort Baker.

"If this is how it is in combat," exclaimed one soldier, "I'm glad I have had this training."

County Board To Consider Neider Plans

Strawberry property owners are expected to show up in force at the Marin County Board of Supervisors chambers tomorrow afternoon for two items on the agenda have stirred up past excitement, first before the Planning Commission and last week before the supervisors who hastily ordered a continuance.

The continued item, scheduled for 2 p.m., involves two projects approved by the planners —one at what property owners call "the main entrance to Strawberry" where Neider wants to place apartments on 13 acres near Highway 101, the other concerning an artificial 72-acre island east of Strawberry Point.

The island project merely involves Neider's wish to have lot sizes reduced from 10,000 square feet to 7,500. But neighbors have been raising a multitude of other issues ranging from navigation to use of road.

A third project involves property still under water, 25 acres to be filled along the east shoreline of Strawberry Point for erection of what attorney Bryan R. McCarthy has forecast would be the plushiest apartments anywhere to be found, with the finest of situations. The planners turned this down and it now comes up on appeal.

Ten matters sent by the planners in ordinary routine will also be heard after 2 p.m.

BUILDING CODE DUPLICATION WASTES CITED

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Untold millions of dollars are being wasted in California yearly because the state has no uniofrm building code, according to a noted architect.

Prof. Henry Charles Burge, dean of the University of Southern California School of Architecture, said yesterday adoption of a uniform code could result in enough savings to pay for the 1.75-billion-dollar Feather River Project.

"Each year the people of California, its crafts and its businesses are wasting untold millions of dollars because of the towering pile of overlapping, contradicting or duplicating building codes and regulations," Burge said.

He said a uniform code also would free architects from unnecessary costly restrictions which result in poorly designed buildings.

Burge estimated that all of the books of regulations covering all aspects of construction now in effect in California would be about the height of a six-story building if piled one atop the other.

Most new railroad passenger cars are 85 feet long, but on some lines they vary from 60 to 88 feet.

Storm Lashing Way Across Great Plains

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadic winds, thunderstorms, blinding dust and swirling snow drove across the Great Plains as autumn's most severe storm moved eastward into the Mississippi Valley today.

South of the front, gusty winds from the Gulf of Mexico sent the mercury to record heights for the season. Shirtsleeved citizens enjoyed Sunday outings.

As the front advanced, icy winds from the northwest tumbled temperatures and drove blinging snow from Colorado into Nebraska and northwest Kansas. Snow depths had reached four inches early today.

The sharp contrast kicked up severe thunderstorms in Kansas, where a tornado flicked across the edge of Concordia, a town of 7,100. Several buildings were damaged, power lines and trees were knocked down.

Forty miles northwest of Concordia, .55 inch of rain fell in 10 minutes, the Weather Bureau said.

Elsewhere in Kansas, tornadic winds ripped apart buildings on four farms southeast of Wichita. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace R. Walters of Wichita were injured when their car was blown off a highway. A woman was injured by flying debris at Hutchinson.

In New Mexico, ice and snow made roads hazardous in the northern sections and choking dust cut visibility to five miles in other areas. Clara P. Yowell, 58, Hobbs, N.M., was killed in a car that skidded off icy pavement and overturned.

$118 Stolen From Building Concern

Goodman Building Supply Co. at 775 Redwood Highway in Alto was looted of $118 over the weekend, it was reported today by Dick Harris, owner.

Sheriff's deputies said Harris told them the money had been taken from a hiding place in the storeroom, apparently by someone who knew the layout of the building.

The company safe, in which records are kept, was opened but not rifled, Harris said. Undisturbed in the safe were signed payroll checks, he said.

Entry was made, officials said, through a back door of which a window pane had been broken.

The highest altitude in the city of New Orleans is 15 feet, and the lowest four feet below sea level.

Nerves Produce Variety Of Ills

by Dr. Robert W. Pearce

Too many of us have been told, your trouble is nerves, just nerves.

Nervousness is not unusual. But it should not be dismissed lightly. More and more doctors are coming to the conclusion that nervous tension is the result of a chemical imbalance in the body.

Nerves can cause an upset stomach, pains in the chest, legs and other parts of the body. What causes these pains and the chemical imbalance in the body?

Your spine consists of 24 bone segments. These bones sit on top of each other. They have a hole in the center and through this hole passes your spinal cord and the nerves to all parts of your body.

A fall, a sudden twist or even poor posture may move one of these spinal segments or vertebrae slightly out of line. Nerves become pinched when this happens and a chemical imbalance can result. You begin to feel irritable and have pains and eventually break down in health.

Chiropractors use X-ray and other scientific instruments to determine whether your nervous tension is caused by a misaligned spine. They are well-trained to correct such defects and help restore you to health.

BRINGING HOME THE CHRISTMAS TREE

Most of Marin's youngsters probably think Christmas trees grow in tree lots. But when you want a really big one—as the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce did for its Lytton Square holiday display—you have to go to the tree's natural habitat. In this case, the natural habitat was on Marin Municipal Water District land a mile above the Frank Valley Road. The tree was cut down and a trail to it cleared ahead of time. At left, three airmen from the 666th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron hike up to get the tree. They are (from left) A/1c Jesse Acosta, A/3c John Quillen and A/3c Thomas Blanch. In next picture Bob Robertson, chairman of chamber of commerce yule decoration committee, ties chain to foot of big double-trunked tree selected (which was sawed down, not chopped). The tree is next seen ready for tying behind tractor for downhill haul to Mill Valley. At far right, tractor driven by Joe Ponte of Mill Valley Street Department starts the haul. At left is Donald Victorino, city gardener. (Independent-Journal photos by Dick Steinheimer) roads to freeway class. Highway 101 will continue to develop into a true freeway throughout Marin. The same is shown for the Shoreline Highway, despite current effort to modify this to a more leisurely and scenic status.

Connecting these two will be a short freeway section, the existing Lagunitas Road from just north of Point Reyes Station. This is to connect eastward with a big loop. Its southern section will be the present Sir Francis Drake stretch through Tocaloma, Lagunitas, Forest Knolls, San Geronimo, Woodacre, Fairfax and San Anselmo, deviating thence to go through San Rafael to Highway 101.

The other freeway will connect with Novato in a great northerly swing looping along the general line of the Petaluma Highway and Novato Boulevard past the reservoir.

Noting Marin's present rapid southerly-section development, the text says:

"As is at present the case with Marin, major future growth of Napa and Sonoma Counties is most likely to be concentrated in their southern sections which border the bay.

"For a considerable part of the projection period, the character of this growth is likely to be predominately (but not exclusively) suburban. As the southern reaches of Marin and northern East Bay residential areas become more crowded, the Bay Area's expanding population will find the southern portions of neighboring Sonoma and Napa Counties increasingly attractive for residential development."

Because of present high population density, San Francisco is expected to show the least growth, though reaching 1,018,000 by 2020 from 793,000 now. A total Bay Area population of 14.4 million is expected in 60 years from a present 3.8 million.

Overall North Bay population is expected to go up nearly eight times as compared with five times for Marin, and "26 per cent of the total Bay Area population in 2020 will live in the North Bay Counties as compared with 19 per cent in 1990 and 14 per cent in 1960."

Most intensive industrial and commercial development is expected to be in the southern part of the Bay Area, with services providing more jobs than wholesale and retail trade — wholesale business in particular being expected to gravitate more and more toward Los Angeles.

By 2020 it is expected that 2,400 square miles, or two-thirds of the available area, will be in urban use, with the dominant trend one of "urban encroachment onto agricultural lands" and increasingly intensified land use.

The Bay Area is expected to remain a headquarters and operating center for construction activities operating throughout the world. Agriculture, mining, forestry and fishing are expected to provide less employment.

North Bay counties will still have land for urban development in 2020, it is thought but industry, commerce and residential activities will have taken up all land suitable for urban purposes in the South Bay area.

MINK STOLE'S LOST AFTER FAMILY ROW

A $1,500 mink stole appeared lost forever today after a family row between a Greenbrae man and his wife early yesterday.

The husband, Robert Kenneth Weeks, 34-year-old caterer of 150 Corte Balboa, was jailed on a citizen's arrest by his wife, Jeanne Marie. He was free today on $262 bail, scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court on an assault charge tomorrow at 1:30 p.m.

Sheriff's deputies said Mrs. Weeks told them she and her husband began arguing while driving from San Francisco about 4 a.m. yesterday.

The climax of the battle came, she said, when her husband pulled the stole from her shoulders and threw it out the window of the moving car just before they reached the toll plaza of the Golden Gate Bridge.

California highway patrolmen searched the area but found no trace of the fur, they said.

2 Runaway San Jose Boys Picked Up Here

Two boys, 13 and 14 years old, were picked up early today at the north end of the Richardson Bay Bridge, ending a runaway from their San Jose homes.

They admitted to Sheriff's Deputy Dennis Shine that they were running away, he said.

Crime Confab Delegates Win Appeal

NEW YORK (UPI)—The U.S. Court of Appeals today reversed the conviction and sentences of 20 delegates to the Apalachin, N.Y., underworld convention of Nov. 14, 1957. The men had been charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice.

In the opinion of the three-judge panel, "There is nothing in the record of the trial to show that any violation of federal or state law took place or was planned at the gathering. . ."

The 20 delegates to the so-called "hoodlums convention" were sentenced last spring to prison terms running from three to five years and 13 of them were fined $10,000 each.

The men were freed on bail pending their appeal. The decision today upset two years of efforts by federal law enforcement agencies, which had sought to discover the reason for the conclave at Apalachin.

The ruling was a major reversal to the Justice Department's new strategy against alleged crime syndicates. This strategy had been to prosecute for criminal conspiracy in cases where suspected syndicate leaders jointly refused to answer questions on grounds of self-incrimination.

Complaints Oust Three Salesmen

Three self-styled salesmen were hustled out of Marin County last night after numerous complaints from residents in the Homestead area that the men were ringing doorbells and soliciting.

The three, all from Fresno, were Michael Carey, 22; James McLeod, 20, and Robert L. Morris, 20.

They told sheriff's deputies they "were not peddling" but "conducting an educational survey." They said the represented a magazine company.

Officers told them either to apply for solicitors' licenses or leave the county.

Auto Victim Gains

Mrs. Joann Edmundson of 719 Spring Street, Sausalito, was reported as "fair and improving" in Marin General Hospital today. Mrs. Edmundson suffered a broken nose and jaw and other injuries in a Golden Gate Bridge auto accident last Thursday

MISHAP TOLL DIPS DURING HOLIDAY SPAN

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's accident death toll during the four-day Thanksgiving weekend ran lower than for the similar holiday periods of the last two years.

The 597 deaths counted today included 436 in traffic, 52 in fires and 109 in all other types of accidents.

The holiday weekend traffic toll compared with a count of 433 taken for comparative purposes by the Associated Press over a weekend of corresponding length

Last year the 102-hour period from 6 p.m. Thanksgiving eve to midnight the following Sunday yielded 650 dead—445 killed on the highways, 70 in fires and 135 in miscellaneous accidents.

The count the preceding years was 626, including 454 traffic deaths, 54 in fires and 118 in miscellaneous accidents.

Marin Tennis Players Back After Tourney Competition

Two 14-year-old San Rafael High School students were back in school today telling their classmates about the thrill of competing in the National Indoor Junior and Boys Tennis Tournament in St. Louis.

Steve Stockton and Harvey Klyce of San Rafael arrived home last night from the tournament with the satisfaction of having reached the national semi-finals before losing in their doubles play. Stockton also reached the quarter-finals and Klyce the third round in singles play.

The boys, whose trip was financed by contributions from Marin County organizations and individuals, finally were eliminated from doubles play yesterday afternoon in the semi-finals by Bill Bane of Odessa, Tex., and Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex. The score was a well-fought 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Earlier, they advanced to the semi-finals with victories of 6-1, 6-3 over Leo Destopare and Tom Weinstock of St. Louis, and 6-4, 7-5 over Frank Conner and Brian Smith of East St. Louis.

In singles play the fourth-seeded Stockton lost to John Pickens of Alabama in the quarter-finals. A round earlier Klyce was eliminated by Pickens.

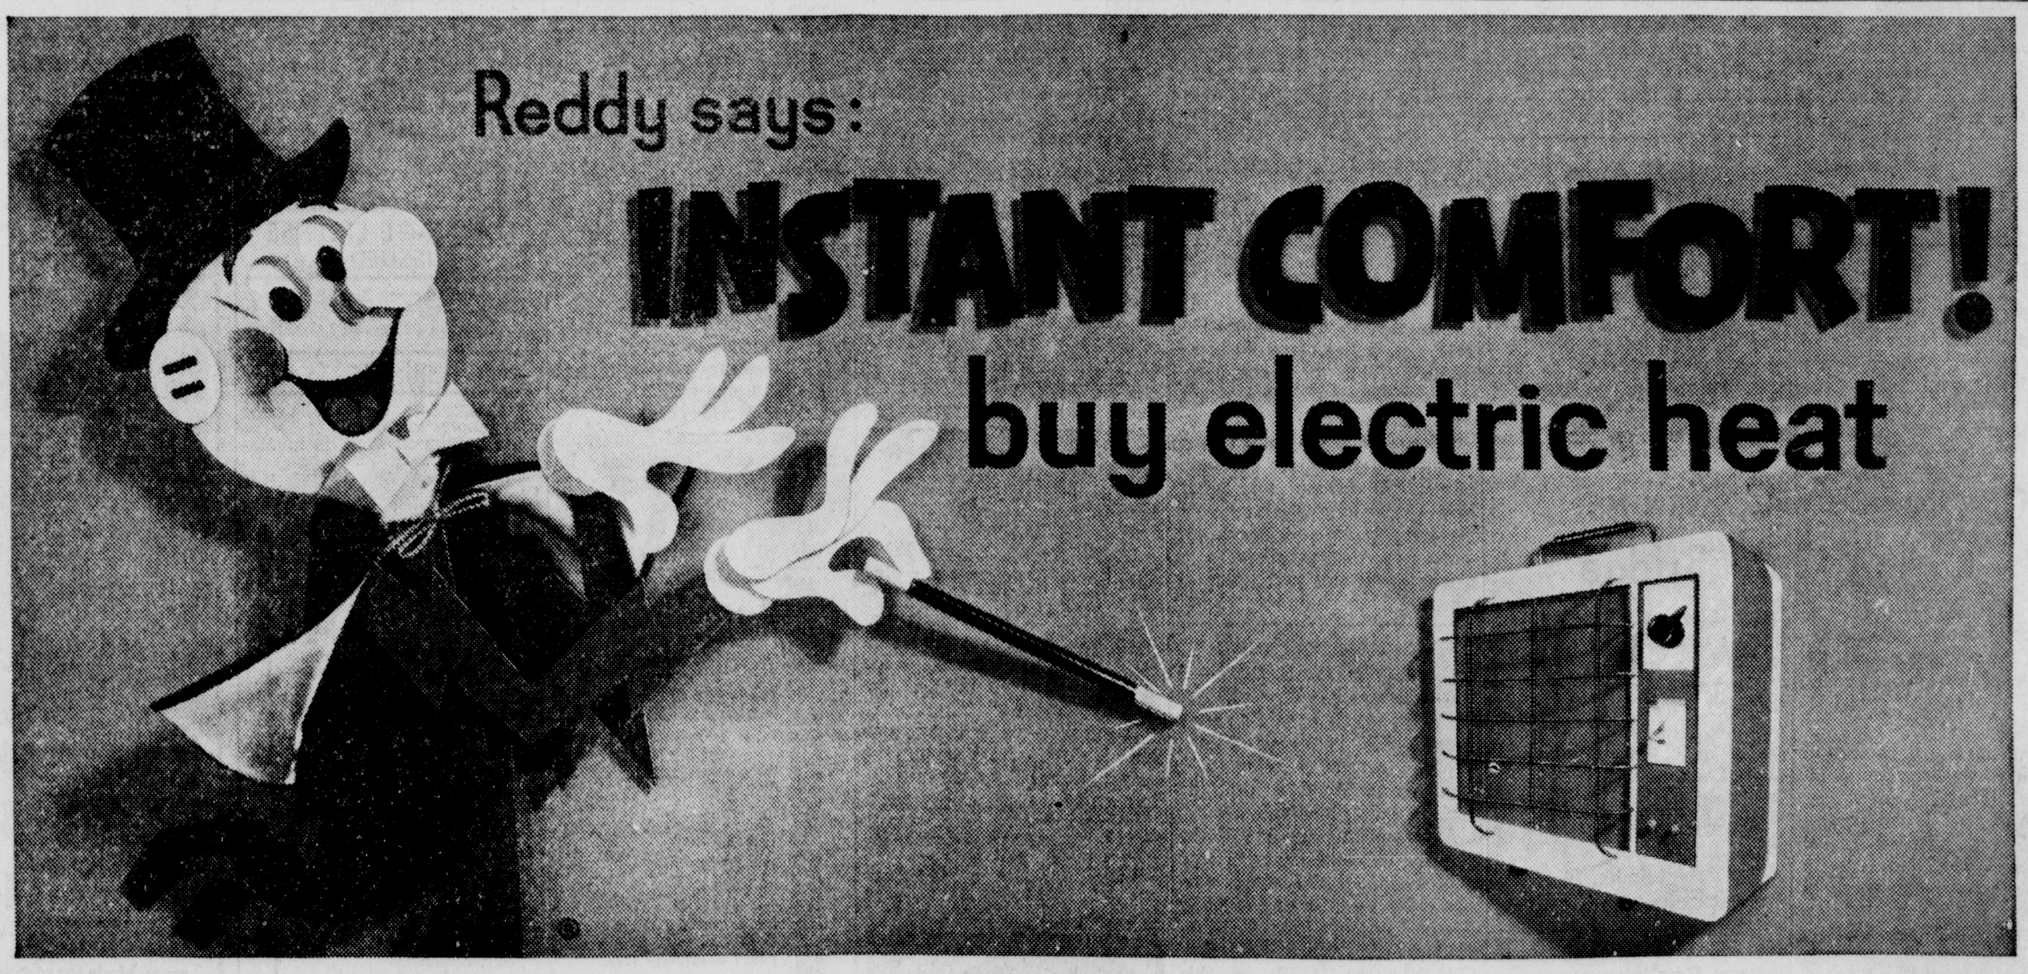

Stockton and Klyce competed in the boys division, 15 years of age and younger.

McCarthy Calls Span Job Waste Of Money

Creation of a $12,000 job of assistant general manager of the Golden Gate Bridge District was stigmatized as "a waste of money" today by State Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-Marin).

Although McCarthy said he thought the manager himself should be "capable, competent and able to carry on all functions of his job," he added that the job itself should be abolished in favor of something better.

"I would recommend the abolition of the general manager's position at the present level," he said, declaring that instead somebody should be hired who would combine administrative ability with a backing of civil and structural engineering knowledge.

"He should be able to carry on the functions of administering the bridge," McCarthy said, "while looking out for all safety precautions in the most important thing, the engineering feature."

McCarthy made clear that he had no criticism of the personal ability of new assistant, William H. Hendricks of San Rafael.

"Bill is very capable," he said. "In fact he could probably do a better job than (James) Adam (the general manager)."

Ultimately the Golden Gate Bridge ought in any case to be brought under a unified arrangement with other bridges in the Bay Area, McCarthy added, although the plan should be one to prevent accumulation of too much power in a few hands.

McCarthy said he did not favor making the Golden Gate Bridge toll-free, but the Richmond Bridge toll should drop from 75 to 25 cents.

Talks Slated On Fate Of Young Slayer

The future of Clifford E. Fortner, teen-age slayer of 12-year-old Lorna Lax, will be discussed tomorrow afternoon in the chambers of Judge N. Charles Brusatori, Marin County juvenile court judge.

Fortner, 16, broke out of Langley Porter Clinic in San Francisco last Tuesday with another clinic inmate, Michael Miller, also 16, of Mill Valley.

Fortner, whose parents live at 65 Hermit Lane, Kentfield, was committed to the clinic April 22. He was accused but never formally charged in the murder of Lorna Lax Nov. 16, 1959, in a Kentfield thicket.

Meeting with Judge Brusatori in closed session at 4:30 p.m. tomorrow will be Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety, Probation Officer Walter Busher and young Fortner's attorney, Thomas P. Boyd.

The juvenile court could send the youth back to the clinic for further treatment or order him tried on a charge of murder.

The two escapees were captured after they ran a stop sign in Mill Valley. Fortner is being held in Marin County Juvenile Hall.

Youth Lands 'Chute Near Front Yard

KINGSTREE, S. C. (AP) — Douglas James, 19, dropped in at his home for dinner one day recently from 2,500 feet above via a strawberry pink parachute.

The youthful sky diver had meant to land in a field a considerable distance from home and had his mother, Mrs. A. K. James, stationed there to drive him home for the mid-day meal. A strong northeast wind carried him to earth near his own front yard.

spection of the work and the county would collect the assessments with taxes. The city would not be liable in case of default.

Coleman's prospectus provides for sale of the bonds at 91 per cent of their face value (such discounts are customary in sale of 1911 Act bonds, which are not regarded as particularly desirable by bond buyers).

Interest on the bonds would be in addition to the $2,728,944 shown as estimated total cost of the district.

The proposal shows acquisition costs for the improvements (streets, curbs, gutters, drainage, sanitary facilities, underground electrical facilities) at $1,875,411, construction cost at $348,996, allowance for contingencies at $34,899, incidental expenses at $224,032 and bond discount at $245,605.

Included in acquisition costs are such items as $99,000 for acquisition of golf course flood easement on 132 acres at $750 per acre, and $149,625 for acquisition of drainage easements at $5,625 per acre.

At the time the vast acreage for what is now being developed as Marin Bay was sold by the McNear family to Latipac Corp., the purchase price was reported at "about four million dollars."

All members of the city council except Fred Jensen indicated today they plan to attend the winner. Jansen is ill at home with a stomach ailment.

Left Arms

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Mrs. J. C. Treanor took her son to the hospital to have the cast on his fractured left arm checked. While waiting for the doctor, Mrs. Treanor counted nine other patients coming and going, each wearing an arm cast. There were seven boys, one girl and an adult man—all with broken left arms.

4 Injured In 3 Collisions On Or Near Gate Bridge

Four persons were hurt in three collisions on or near the Golden Gate Bridge within half an hour of heavy southbound traffic congestion yesterday afternoon.

Two of the collisions were on the bridge and almost simultaneous, involving seven cars with injury of three persons about 5 p.m. Traffic backed up to the Waldo Tunnel. Within a short time one more injury occurred in a three-car crash half a mile south of the tunnel.

Stig Gustav Golden of Redwood City was cited by the California Highway Patrol for speeding after a four-car pile-up on the bridge in which Naji Mehoi Alash of San Francisco was injured.

Two San Francisco secretaries, Elaine Carlsen, 23, and Loretta Cook, 25, were hurt in an almost simultaneous three-car crash on the bridge. Miss Carlson, driver of one of the cars, was treated at Park Emergency Hosital for knee cuts. Miss Cook, after emergency treatment for cuts on the face, was sent to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Ray Robert Smith, 70, of 165 Summit Drive, Corte Madera, suffered a cut on the left leg, for which he received Marin General Hospital treatment, in a three-car crash on the Waldo Grade soon after.

Sea Hunt Goes On, But Hope Dims For Pair

Despite dimming hopes, the search for two Coast Guardsmen, feared drowned off the North Marin Coast last week, continued today and over the weekend in response to pleas from the mother of one of the young men.

The men, Enginemen-Fireman Hugh James McClements, 19, of Cotati, and Boatswain's Mate 1/c Anthony E. Holmes, 24, of Street, Md., were apparently washed overboard while returning from a routine rescue mission in Bodega Bay last Wednesday.

McClements' mother had urged the Coast Guard to continue looking for her son.

On both Saturday and yesterday, a sheriff's mounted posse of 10 led by Joseph Pecora, several Coastguardsmen and about 40 volunteer searchers from the Point Reyes area, combed the beaches for at least 20 miles.

A Coast Guard helicopter was in the air yesterday, officials reported. Coast Guardsmen continued to search the beach area on foot today.

"I think it is safe to assume that the State Board of Pharmacy in effect recommends this type of legislation," said McCarthy.

He said "the consumer is now amply protected as to advertising" but lacks and needs representation on state licensing boards.

"Some of these state boards seem to lose sight of the main reason for their existence," said McCarthy. "They were set up to protect and serve the consumer, not to conspire in price fixing and restriction of trade."

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — A 200-plus-year-old clapboard building, which is said to have housed the country's first weather bureau, is going to be torn down. A new building may be erected on the site.

OBITUARIES

Ex-Engineer On Mountain Railway Dies

John Zuffinetti, who was machinist and engineer on the Mill Valley-Mount Tamalpais scenic railway for 17 years, died yesterday at a local hospital after a short illness. He was 73.

Zuffinetti loved his work on the railway, Engine No. 4 being his pet which he took up the mountain on Sundays. The rest of the week his job was to do maintenance on the railway's equipment.

Many times he would blow the whistle on his way home, pick up one or all four of his sons and give them a lift home to the roundhouse, which was behind the Zuffinetti home at 54 Corte Madera Avenue, Mill Valley.

When the railroad went out of business in 1930, Zuffinetti bought the roundhouse. Later it was torn down and sold.

Zuffinetti was a native of Italy and came to California in 1907, settling first in San Rafael. He got a job laying rails for the Northwestern Pacific Railroad. Next he worked for McNear's Brickyard. After four years he went back to Italy to get married. His wife, Ennocentina, preceded him in death.

He returned to settle in Mill Valley and work for the "crookedest railroad." He joined the Mill Valley Street Department after the railway closed, doing maintenance work. He retired in 1951.

He is survived by four sons, Frank, in the Navy on duty in Hawaii; Mario, also a sailor, on the aircraft carrier Hancock, in the Far East; Charles, auto parts salesman of Mill Valley, and Louis, Novato contractor. He is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Rosa Cantoni of St. Louis, and nine grandchildren.

Zuffinetti was a member of Eagles Aerie 256, San Rafael.

A Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church in Mill Valley. Interment will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley.

AUTO HITS FENCE

Car Interior Bursts Into Flames; 3 Hurt

A woman driver and two passengers suffered burns and bruises on Highway 101 just south of Alto today when a lighted cigarette caused a car interior to burst into flames and the driver to ram a fence.

Judy Tristana, 34, of Forest Knolls, a musician, was driving north at 6:30 a.m. when George Abend of 106 Spruce Street, Fairfax, seated beside her, lit a cigarette. Abend later said he is an artist and had placed some rags saturated with inflammable liquid on the floorboards when he entered the car.

Occupants said the whole car interior seemed suddenly to burst into flame, apparently from the rags. Miss Tristana tried to pull to the roadside but hit a cyclone fence and knocked out 15 feet.

Abend and Miss Tristan were admitted to Marin General Hospital and their conditions were termed satisfactory today. Abend suffered burns of the face, hands, right leg and right knee and Miss Tristan was burned on hands, face and feet.

Another passenger in the rear seat, Jean Baker, 44, also of Forest Knolls, received emergency treatment for a cut right thumb.

Water, Balloons Cause Cop Call

Hobby Recalls History

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—What began as a hobby for Dr. Robert B. Sutton may serve to fill in gaps in the history of education.

Sutton, associate professor of education at Ohio State University, has collected in the past five years more than 2,000 items relating to the history of American education.

Among them are report cards dating back to 1861, an 1827 teacher's contract, an 1849 school newspaper and an 1864 geography reader for Confederate children in Raleigh, N.C.

POWER FAILS, WORK HALTS AT PENTAGON

Lights, elevators, escalators and clocks stopped simultaneously when the power failed at 9:30 a.m. During the blackout, most of the building's 27,500 occupants stood around in corridors lighted by the building's emergency power system.

Meeting Means Liquor Increase

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — It's not unusual for the drinking habits of state legislators to be discussed.

Struggling with the municipal budget, a councilman noted that the legislature meets in Raleigh next spring. The council promptly increased its estimate of liquor store income by $10,000.

Mauritania Becomes Newest African Nation

NOUAKCHOTT, Mauritania (AP)—Mauritania proclaimed its independence of France today and became the 13th French African territory to gain sovereignty this year.

Desert tribesmen danced in the streets of this unfinished capital and Moorish horsemen fired ancient muskets as 57 years of French rule ended.

Claiming Mauritania as its own territory despite the absence of a common frontier, Morocco fought independence unsuccessfully in the United Nations and yesterday held a national day of protest.

Crucial for Mauritania's economic progress is the exploitation of rich iron, copper, oil and probably uranium deposits under its desert surface.

California's Vote Won't Be Official Until Wednesday

SACRAMENTO (AP) — It will be at least Wednesday before California puts out the official vote on the presidential election.

Today was the deadline, but slow returns from the counties prevented the secretary of state's office from certifying the vote.

Asst. Secretary of State Walter Stutler said he was still missing returns from Alameda, Butte, San Diego, Santa Clara and Santa Cruz Counties.

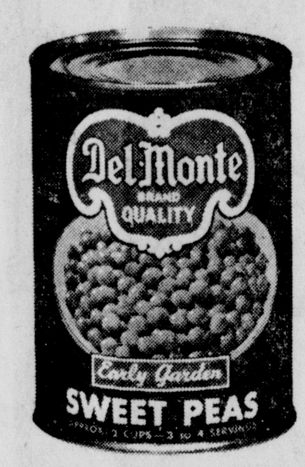

He said he had telephonic reports from San Francisco and Los Angeles pending arrival of their official abstracts.

Stutler said his office could not certify the state vote before Wednesday and that it might be Thursday before the figures are ready.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Marin Needs Responsible, Reliable Taxpayers Group

Everybody's represented but the citizens.

That's what political wags sometimes comment cynically about the situation which envelops our state legislature at Sacramento.

Almost every special interest group you can think of (business, labor, professions, veterans, etc.,) are represented at Sacramento by a "legislative advocate."

"Legislative advocate," of course, is the highly respectable euphemism for the more commonly used term, lobbyist. Regardless of what term is used, they are representatives of citizen groups and, as any legislator will tell you, they perform a very valuable service in providing information to legislators about pros and/or cons of proposed legislation.

To a lesser degree, we have this kind of an arrangement in local government here in Marin. Certain groups make sure that their points of view are known to such as county supervisors, city councilmen, school trustees and others when a matter of special interest is pending.

But as the wags sometimes say, "Everybody's represented but the citizens."

In local government, a taxpayers association is often the best representative that rank-and-file citizens have.

Many communities have highly respected, responsible taxpayers' groups who avail themselves of competent technical assistance to analyze local government expenditures. On the basis of this enlightened approach, they then make constructive recommendations aimed at (1) seeing that taxpayers get their money's worth for public funds spent, (2) bringing increased efficiency to operations of local governments and (3) seeing that worthwhile and necessary governmental services are performed adequately.

Marin could profit immensely from the valuable service that an organization of this kind could perform.

The group who presently use the taxpayers association designation here fail to perform the valued services that groups of similar name perform in other communities. There is abundant evidence to support this conclusion, which we do not have space to review here today.

Let us hope that in days to come there will be a change. Let us hope the day is not too far distant when a group of responsible community leaders will emerge to lead the way in this matter of letting the rank and file of people be heard in the matter of local public expenditures here in Marin.

Marin's Friendly Deer

Our Marin County deer, like those in the national parks, are aware that they are pretty safe. They are, by and large, a bold friendly breed.

Indeed, some harassed Marin gardeners are quite certain that our deer are too chummy and destructive. But balanced against these anti-deer people are those Nature lovers who are sure that a deer in the garden is worth a dozen prize rose-buds anytime.

Even their detractors must admit that with their large, liquid eyes and bounding grace of movement they are very attractive creatures. Study one with its big, mule-ears pink-veined in the sun, its soft, black nose working to catch a dangerous scent, ever alert to bound for the brush.

We know we won't win any friends among those people who regard deer as destructive pests, but we must admit our sympathies are with the deer's friends. Anyone can grow flowers. But it takes a special kind of kindness to support a deer.

NOT HERE T'SAVE ANYONE'S FACE—

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

I-J Editorial A Disservice

EDITOR,
Independent-Jouranl:

Your editorial of Nov. 21 is the antithesis of logic, a disservice to your readers regardless of their political affiliation, and unworthy of your high editorial standards of perception, morality, and patriotism.

You assert the citizens' right to demand a ballot recount and you applaud their determination in exercising that right. But you say if that recount should disclose "enough errors in three or so states so that Richard Nixon would be elected President, it wouldn't be good for the country . . . it would reap nothing but mistrust and suspicion in this country and abroad."

Would it not be a far more pregnant source of mistrust and suspicion if it turns out that John Kennedy's electorial majority hangs on illegal voting in the key states that put him over? While the 33,710,073 voters who did not vote for him may nonetheless be willing to close ranks behind him as President, are they not entitled to expect him to get there legally? Do not the Democrats have just as much at stake in honest elections as the Republicans?

Is not Mr. Kennedy, who is so concerned over America's prestige in the world, equally, concerned that our vaunted free and open elections also be honest elections? I think he must be, because he is a man of integrity. While he could tolerate having less than a plurality of the popular vote, wouldn't it be a terrible mental hazard to face the leaders of other nations if he were vaulted into power by an open and notorious miscarriage at the polling places?

Just as they did in California, the press and other media promptly proclaimed a Kennedy victory in the nation, but the final returns and audit thereof are not yet in, and the electoral college has not yet spoken. It is only two weeks since election day and you speak as though there were some compelling urgency about closing the books and putting this matter behind us. Surely you know that in former pages of America's history, just as good men as Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Nixon have had to wait many weeks for the voters' verdict —and some of them in a climate just as charged with urgency as the present.

Is not Mr. Nixon and his half of the nation just as entitled to a fair shake as Mr. Kennedy. Does the passage of two weeks snuff out that right? The grass roots demand for recount in suspect areas is a spontaneous expression of outrage and indignation. It should be allowed to run its course and the chips to fall as they will. For you to call it sore losing is a gross misreading of human motivation. Your position is just as untenable as that of a Court of Appeals refusing to hear evidence of jury tampering for fear it might change the decision of the lower court or breed distrust of the jury system. If you truly believe in free speech then you should champion it, not only in theory but in practice. And it is not irresponsible to seek out a cancer in our elective process, no matter whether the finger points at Democratic or Republican misfeasance — or both.

By BRUCE COLEMAN

The old-timers are trying to preserve old Sausalito for the new-timers.

And old Shelter Cove laps outside the door. "This cove has been here forever," Miss Stanford says. "This is a magnificent thing . . . nothing should change this beautiful waterfront."

WHY IS MISS STANFORD, active in the preservation-bound Sausalito Foundation, so devoted to keeping water on the waterfront?

"People say I have a selfish interest because I'm on the waterfront," she said. "When I came here in 1948 there wasn't anything here. I packed up the produce and brought it over from San Francisco.

"Sausalito has grown and it can only grow more. It can only be one of the most beautiful places in the world. It is. The property values go from this end of town to the other because of the waterfront—not because of anybody's particular property."

"The waterfront," Miss Stanford adds, "is what brings people to Sausalito. The little harbors, little shops, the Trade Fair. This man (Bill) Conover has done a tremendous thing for the city. I think the ferry boat Berkeley is an interesting thing sitting out there so majestic.

"Boats, we have a state harbor committee. All these little harbors should be developed. The state is furnishing money. There's a great potential here.

"People have said 'What are they going to do with the cove? The city should make money on it.'

"Do these people realize the great amount that is made on tourist trade alone . . . and that taxes from private enterprises wouldn't be half what is received from tourists who are attracted because of the beauty of the waterfront — and nearness to it?

"They said Darwin had a different theory. We came from fish. Maybe that's why people love water. They love to be near it.

"WATER IS an overpowering thing. The forces of water are like the forces of thunder and of a tremendous storm. It's a challenge to people. We're like 'sea's self a pebble cast,' we're so infinitesmal. We're here for a little while. We come like wind, like water we go.

"Sausalito should be preserved forever. I won't be here. If I can, in a small way, preserve the beauty for the years to come, I will."

Miss Stanford put on a shawl over her bare shoulders, took Loretta, the opera star and ballet dancer, out of her cage and walked over to the old piano. Loretta, a parrot, sang "The Girl That I Married" and "I Could Have Danced All Night." Then we took leave. Going out into the night we sniffed the old town air, got into our car and drove along Bridgeway toward home.

HAL BOYLE'S COLUMN

Roman Soldiers Invented Pizza While Stationed In Jerusalam

It's no wonder bees seem so busy. They have to fly a distance equal to two trips around the world just to make a single pound of honey.

How it all began: The pizza pie, a delicacy now rivaling the hot dog in the favor of teen-agers, was invented by Roman soldiers stationed long ago in Jerusalem.

The good old days are now. Prices are about four times as high now as they were in 1900. But the average weekly wage in manufacturing leaped from $12.74 to about $92, a seven-fold increase.

The last straw: A husband in the Pachai caste of India can divorce his wife merely bypicking up a straw and breaking it in two in her presence.

We hear so much about juvenile delinquency we tend to overlook one great wholesome fact: Only one out of every 20 teen-agers gets into any real trouble with the law.

President James A. Garfield, who delivered campaign speeches in German as well as English, also could write Latin with one hand and Greek with the other—simultaneously. Today he'd probably be denounced as an egghead.

So who doesn't make mistakes? Singer Mary Martin originally auditioned for the role of Eliza Doolittle in the smash musical, "My Fair Lady." But she didn't like the songs!

The ancient Greeks were wise enough to discover the earth was round but not smart enough to build a really comfortable bed. Their bedsprings were braided leather thongs stretched between two sideboards — the same kind of springs used 2,000 years later by pioneer American settlers.

YOU MAY NOT be getting any younger, but the U.S. population is. In 1950 some 34 per cent of it was made up of children and teen-agers. The figure now is 40 per cent.

PROSPERITY NOTE: Americans now spend a billion dollars a week paying off their debts on the installment plan.

REMEMBER WHEN

10 YEARS AGO

Marin Woods Park Improvement Assn. directors signed a contract with San Francisco architects to plan a clubhouse to be situated at the highest point off Panoramic Highway overlooking Muir Woods.

20 YEARS AGO

The Marin County Grand Jury planned to spend $1,000 on an investigation into relief chiseling. Warren P. Landon, foreman, said "many taxpayers consider the cost of relief in Marin County to be wholly out of proportion to the population."

Proposed Increases In Taxes Would 'Soak New Car Owners'

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Among all the rumbles concerning forthcoming legislation is one which affects most of the people of California, and some of them more than once. This is the proposal of the state Senate Transportation Committee, headed by Senator Randolph Collier (D-Yreka), for an increase in motor vehicle registration fees to drain more than $66 million a year out of California's auto owners' pockets.

The committee is considering asking increases of $1 in the minimum in lieu tax, and one per cent in the registration renewal fees of all automobiles.

A report to the committee points out this would boost registration fees an "average" of $7.22 for every vehicle in the state of California.

On an "average" basis, this apparently would not be too bad, but when it comes to paying the new taxes, people having late model cars would really be hit by the committee's suggestions.

ADOPTION OF the plan by the legislature, and subsequent approval by Governor Brown, would hit some owners as much as $40 per car. In other words, people who have purchased late model automobiles would be hardest hit by the increase, rather than having it distributed over all motorists, and all motorists use the highways in probably equal amounts.

The tax might be a just one if equal benefits were going to all automobile owners, but in effect, no more benefits accrue to the owner of a new car than to the owner of an old one. The same thing is true under the present system of taxing, which is highly inequitable. The new proposal, thus, is nothing more than a "soak the new car owner" plan to bolster the revenues of the state which, along with the counties, get the in lieu tax money.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A Park Avenue psychoanalyst was driving peacefully on the N. Y. Thruway when a speed maniac rammed him from behind. The analyst leapt from his car waving his fist and screaming, "You idiot! You numbskull! You rat!" Then, suddenly he remembered his profession, and added, "Now tell me why you hate your mother."

There is no reason for a banquet chairman to writhe when a speaker pulls a boner or says something way out of line. As the late William Collier used to point out when he was acting as toastmaster, "It's my job only to introduce the speakers; not guarantee them!"

A big movie star, handsome, dashing — and dumb, was accorded a reception in Japan. Suddenly called upon to speak, with not a ghost writer within hailing distance, the big star floundered, "Er, hello out there! Er—I want to tell you that your flu has caught on real big in the U.S.A.!"

Kennedy Should Not Refuse To Debate With Opponent In 1964

WASHINGTON — Is President-elect Kennedy already preparing to back out of any campaign "debates" in 1964?

One might have thought that the man who so much wanted this year's fifth "debate," would be eager to reschedule it as the first debate of the next campaign!

But Bobby Kennedy is strongly hinting that the answer is NO—no more debating now that the great debater has become President. And when Bobby Kennedy speaks, we have found he usually knows what his brother wants said.

2—Let's have no more of them.

Now, if you believe that a candidate's campaign — even a President's campaign — is entirely his own business and that the voters should have nothing to say about it, then this Kennedy view is quite tenable; that is, since these debates have accomplished their purpose, away with them.

From this viewpoint Robert Kennedy can argue that you can't expect the President of the United States to share his potentially greater audience with his opponent and by so doing raise the challenger to the level of an equal. Franklin Roosevelt wouldn't debate Wendell Willkie and in 1944 would hardly admit that Thomas Dewey was running.

BUT THERE IS another way to look at these debates. As I see it, these debates are not primarily the possession of the candidates, to be used or denied as best suits their tactical advantage. The debates belong primarily to the voters who are entitled to demand that the nominees appear jointly so that they can be viewed and judged face-to-face and their claims examined back-to-back.

This may or may not be good for candidates under all circumstances. Does it matter? It is one of the best means thus far achieved to enable the voters to choose the President. It is not provable that the debates won or lost the election. What is clear is that they heightened public interest in the campaign, brought out constantly larger crowds at the rallies, increased the total vote, and, in my judgment, have an unrealized and great potential for political education.

I AM NOT suggesting that the format of the debates should be unchanged. These joint appearances were experimental. There should be numerous ways to improve them.

One hour seems too short, two hours too long. An hour and a half would be about right and then some of the issues could be discussed more meatily.

I would like to see at least one of the debates conducted without any panel at all — just a moderator. The candidates could take one or even two main subjects and, in addition to direct argument and rebuttal, could ask each other questions.

Furthermore, it seems to me that one of the mistakes was to look at the debates as "quiz shows" and insist that the panel "surprise" the candidates with their questions. I would favor serving advance notice of what the questions will be—as in the question period of the House of Commons. We want the candidates' considered answers, not their off-the-cuff indiscretions. In compensation for serving notice of the questions, the panel should be free to ask the most probing follow-up questions.

If the voters want these debates, I think they can successfully insist upon them.

Revision Urged In State Law On Youngsters

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A special study commission today reported finding an alarming inconsistency and lack of legal protection in the administration of justice for juveniles and said major law revisions are needed.

The report was submitted by the governor's special study commission on juvenile justice, originally appointed by Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, and continued by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The commission said the law leaves youngsters without many of the protections of due process that adults are guaranteed by the constitution.

The commission said not enough distinction is made between actual delinquents and children who are neglected or abandoned. It suggested setting up three categories in the law: One for dependent, neglected or abandoned youngsters whose bahavior indicates a tendency toward delinquency and for for outright law violators.

The commission also recommended extending the right of counsel to minors and their parents and providing court-appointed attorneys for indigents. It said all hearings should be recorded as a basis for appeal.

Engle Declares Demos Still Strong In State

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif.) said today the Democratic Party is "still strong and vigorous" in California despite the majority vote won by Republican Richard M. Nixon in the presidential election.

Engle disagreed with Nixon's comment that his margin over President-elect John F. Kennedy in the state is a preface to Republican victories in California's 1962 elections.

The Democratic senator cited incomplete figures—not counting absentee ballots — showing that Democratic candidates for 30 congressional seats in the Nov. 8 election grossed a half-million vote advantage over their Republican opponents.

In the races for the State Legislature, he said, the Democratic candidates for state senator polled 84,000 more votes than Republicans and Democrats piled up a 609,000 majority in all contests for the Assembly.

Engle said Kennedy lost the state in a contest result reversed on the basis of absentee vote counting because "the iceberg vote was deeper than we thought."

His injuries included a fractured right arm, cuts of left hand, face and head, and both ankles sprained.

Cool Waters New Hero For 49ers

Rookie Passes S. F To Stunning Win Over Colts

BALTIMORE (AP) — Coach Red Hickey of the San Francisco 49ers ought to be thankful today for the poetic justice in the line about the best laid plans of mice and men going astray.

He planned to beat the Baltimore Colts yesterday with a spread offensive formation featuring John Brodie as quarterback standing seven yards back of center.

An improvised play by two rookies and an injured veteran scored the winning touchdown in the 30-22 upset. The Colts (6-3) are now only one-half game ahead of the Chicago Bears 5-3-1 with three games remaining.

The quarterback, Bobby Waters, was throwing the football for the first time in the National Football League. He was in there only because Brodie had been knocked woozy on a tackle by Big Daddy Lipscomb, who wouldn't have been in position to make it if the 49ers weren't using the spread.

Big Daddy, dropping back off the line from his tackle spot, racked up Brodie after the quarterback had run five yards. Brodie lost a tooth and his senses with 7½ minutes to play.

Two minutes later, Lipscomb tackled C. R. Roberts in the 49er end zone to put the Colts ahead 22-20.

And three plays later, Y. A. Tittle, the veteran 49er quarterback who had relieved Brodie despite a recurrent groin injury, was "run over" by Bill Pellington and Ordell Braase of the Colt crunching crew.

He completed his first pro pass for 20 yards to put the 49ers on the Colt 41. He threw his next pass to Dee Mackey, another first year pro from East Texas State.

Mackey caught it around the 25 where he was being hauled to earth by Milt Davis and Bob Boyd.

"I was wriggling toward the sidelines hoping to get out of bounds to stop the clock," related Mackey. "Then I saw R. C. Owens waving his arms for the ball and tossed it to him."

After catching the lateral, Owens had thoughts of going out of bounds, too, to avoid a tackle because he was hurt. "But I saw only Lipscomb in pursuit and took off for the end zone."

ALLEY-OOP PLAY

Owens hurt his shoulder when he caught a 38-yard "alley-oop" pass for a 49er touchdown three seconds before the half ended. He landed on the shoulder after going up high over Boyd to take the purposely thrown skyscraper by Brodie.

Hickey disclosed the 49ers started practicing the spread formation last Tuesday.

"We didn't think we could play the Colts head-on and wanted something different to shake up their defenses a bit," he said.

In the end though, it was the fact that "the boys just stayed in there and fought and scrapped and won it." he admitted.

"We just got the hell beaten out of us," he said, in particular referring to five pass interceptions and a recovered fumble pulled off by the 49ers.

HE'S UP—R. C. Owens of 49ers goes high to snag "alley-oop" pass from John Brodie for touchdown on last offensive play of second quarter against Baltimore Colts yesterday. Field Judge Fred Swearingen watches play. (AP Wirephoto)

HE'S DOWN—Alley-oop pass safely in his arms, the high-flying Owens crashed to end-zone turf with one of his two touchdowns in yesterday's 30-22 upset by the 49ers over Colts. Owens was shaken up on the play and had to be helped off field, but returned in the second half. Frustrated Colt defenders are Bob Boyd (40) and linebacker Bill Pellington (36). (AP Wirephoto)

TITLE IN SIGHT

Eagles Need Only One More Victory

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

OK now, so what can the Philadelphia Eagles do for an encore?

For the second straight time yesterday they beat the defending Eastern Division champion Giants (31-23) with New York's most potent weapon—defense—plus Norm Van Brocklin, and now they need only one victory in three remaining games to get a whack at the National Football League title for the first time in 11 years.

The Eagles get that chance to nail down the Eastern Division title next Sunday when they play the St. Louis Cardinals on the road. And if they miss, then they have added opportunities against the Pittsburgh Steelers and Washington Redskins.

Not so, though, in the Western Division where the defending champion Baltimore Colts are acting as if they don't want the title and the Chicago Bears as if nothing would please them more.

Given a break on Thursday when the Green Bay Packers were upset by the Detroit Lions, the Colts could have helped themselves mightily yesterday, but the San Francisco 49ers outdazzled the champs with an unorthodox passing game for a 30-22 upset victory, while the Bears moved to within a half-game of the Colts by beating the still winless (now 10 in-a-row) Dallas Cowboys, 17-7.

CARDS IMPROVE

The Cards, who seem to improve each week, rallied to tie the Cleveland Browns, 17-17, at St. Louis and the Pittsburgh Steelers proved poor hosts in handing the Washington Redskins a 22-10 beating in other NFL games.

A week ago, after the Eagles had beaten the Giants in New York with the defensive platoon playing a major role, skeptics said, "OK, show me they can do it again."

Well, it took the Eagles a while to get rolling the second tmie with a partisan crowd of 60,457 looking on in Franklin Field, Philadelphia, for the Giants roared to a quick 17-0 lead.

With "gambler" Van Brocklin leading the offense after Dan Burroughs, Bob Freeman and Maxie Vaughn had picked off four interceptions on Giant quarterback George Shaw, the Eagles finally grabbed a 24-23 lead in the fourth period and then added the touchdown that put the game out of reach following recovery of a Giant fumble by Jim Carr.

It was almost as bad for the Browns, too. They held a 17-7 halftime lead, but the Cards kept coming back, closing the gap to 17-10 in the third period on a 23-yard field goal by Gerry Perry, and gaining the tying TD in the final period when Joan Roach connected on a 12-yard toss to Sonny Randall.

BROWNS, N.Y. TIED

Now both the Giants and Browns, who have won all the Eastern Division titles between them since the Eagles took it in 1949, are tied for second with 5-3-1 records compared to Philadelphia's 8-1.

The Colts, now 6-3, simply couldn't cope with San Francisco's passing game in which at times the 49ers had as many as five pass receivers ganged up in one spot. The clinching score came on a 41-yard pass-lateral play involving Rookie Bobby Waters, end Dee Mackey and halfback R. C. Owens with a little more than a minute left to play.

The Bears, who host the Packers next Sunday while the Lions are at Baltimore, struck for two first half touchdowns and then stopped a spirited Dallas bid in the second half to gain their fifth victory against three defeats and a tie. Green Bay and San Francisco are tied for third with 5-4 marks.

Sacramento Quits PCL; Honolulu May Get Franchise

LOUISVILLE (UPI) — Pacific Coast League President Dewey Soriano said the league may operate a franchise in Honolulu next season following the forfeiting of the Sacramento franchise last night by an affirmative vote of seven members.

Soriano said the forfeiture decision was made after William Golsong, president of the Sacramento Solons, failed to show up at the minor league meetings here to confer with PCL officials.

Golsong had notified the league Nov. 15 that he did not intend to operate the club any longer, but league officials asked him to reconsider his decision.

Soriano said a registered letter with a full explanation of of the forfeiture decision was sent to Golsong, who has 10 days to reply to the league.

Two Salt Lake City business men, Maurice Yates and Hal Tate, had been negotiating to buy the Sacramento franchise to move it to Honolulu. Soriano said the league is seriously considering the proposal.

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

Jawn Jay Eats Crow After 49ers Make Champs Look Like Chumps

CONNOLLY

That black feather sticking out of my mouth never saw a turkey. That's crow, brother, that's crow!

Served up with the San Francisco 49ers' 30 to 22 win over the Baltimore Colts yesterday, that crowd tasted better than any Thanksgiving bird I have eaten in many a year.

I don't mind confessing that my lead paragraph for today's rehash of the Colt game was already in my mind. It went: "What have the Colts got that the 49ers don't have? Johnny Unitas, Ray Berry and nine other guys." That scrap of paper went into the bulging drawer marked "B.G." for bum guesses.

In licking the Colts before 58,000 plus home town fans who wanted to be present when the Baltimores put the clincher on the Western Conference Title, the 49ers really rubbed salt into the wounded pride of the two-time champs, making them look like two-timed chumps.

Coach Red Hickey's men played back to the Chicago Bear game of four weeks ago, except they had the benison of Lady Luck for the first time this year. Fumbles and interceptions came up in 49er possession on all but a couple of occasions, each time providing the incentive for just one more big try.

EVEN SO, the 49ers almost played it too fine. This is one of the few times in the past three or four years that a team has given the Colts the lead and points and then pulled the rug out from under them. Not once but often.

Sure the game made us come up with the bum guess. But it also poured gobs of salve on our wounded ego by the way the win was accomplished.

Over and over we have said that surprise is the one thing that most upsets a pro football team, and that the 49ers should use the direct pass from center to give the quarterback more time and extra blockers. So they surprised 'em and blocked 'em.

We have begged Red Hickey to forget some of his leg weary "old men" such as Y. A. Tittle, Joe Perry and Hugh McElhenny, and to use such as C. R. Roberts, Lenny Lyles, Dee Mackey and Bobby Waters. He did and they showed 'em.

WE GROANED when YAT was inserted for the necktied John Brodie, and held our breath when Waters pinch hit for the pinch hitter. Two plays and a winning touchdown made quite a debut for the youngster. But best of all was the coolness with which Waters stepped through the best defense in the league to fire his passes.

We are reminded of the day Waters showed up at the 49er training camp. When the hopelessness of his chances were pointed out to him, Bobby quietly said, "I didn't come all the way out here to get cut from the squad. I'll make it." That he did.

So far this season, all of our pleas have been answered except one. That is to see Tommy Davis run from punt formation on a fourth down with short yardage. And I wouldn't bet that you don't see that happen before the year is over.

WE MUST join the legion of fans who have said to us, "Why oh why don't these bums play every game up to their capabilities?" It is a tough one to figure out, but I think some coaching staffs are going to learn a lesson from a few more of these surprise efforts.

Surprise 'em and yet get 'em guessing. Get 'em guessing and you get 'em loose. Get 'em loose and your patterns start to work. And in pro football, that's over half the battle.

Archie Battles Texan Tonight

DALLAS (AP)—Archie Moore, who had his first fight when his opponent of tonight—Buddy Turman—was just two years old, is favored to win the non-title 10-round bout.

Old Archie, who has been deprived of his world's light heavyweight championship by the National Boxing Assn. for failure to defend it, is more concerned with winning over Turman tonight than what the NBA does.

He lost his last fight, to Italian Giulio Rinaldi, and wants to make up for that. Turman, the Tyler, Tex., heavyweight, also has some making up to do—he was knocked out by Canadian Bob Cleroux his last night out.

BOWL GAME LINEUPS COMPLETED

Gophers Favored In Rose Bowl

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Minnesota rated a 7-point choice today to beat Washington in the Rose Bowl, Missouri was favored by 5½ over Navy in the Orange, Mississippi by 10 over Rice in the Sugar and Arkansas a 6-point pick over Duke in the Cotton Classic.

Odds-makers also tabbed Penn State to beat Oregon by 7 in the Liberty Bowl, Alabama a one-point choice over Texas in the Bluebonnet and Florida by 2 over Baylor in the Gator Bowl.

Navy, Mississippi, Florida and Alabama accepted post-season bids after their victories Saturday. Rice was invited to the Sugar Bowl despite a 12-7 loss to Baylor. Duke was prepping for its season closer against UCLA next Saturday when it received its Cotton offer.

The Naval Academy squad, ranked seventh nationally by the United Press International board of coaches, had to beat back a stirring second half rally by Army to edge the Cadets, 17-12, before accepting the service school's fourth trip to a post-season game.

Navy and Missouri, the No. 5 team in the top 10, will enter the Orange Bowl on Jan. 2 with identical 9-1 records.

Mississippi, ranked third behind Minnesota and Iowa, rode the strong passing arm of Jake Gibbs to chalk up a 35-9 victory over Mississippi State.

Coach Johnny Vaught's crew, making its second straight Sugar Bowl appearance, is undefeated but was held to a 6-6 tie by Louisiana State in a 10-game schedule.

Florida, hoping until the last to back into the Southeastern Conference title, finished its regular season with an 8-2 record by whipping Miami 18-0.

Alabama, the third school in the S.E.C. to accept bowl bid, defeated ninth-ranked Auburn, 3-0, on Tommy Brooker's 22-yard field goal. The Crimson Tide takes an 8-1-1 mark into the Bluebonnet against Texas (7-3) at Houston, Tex., Dec. 17.

Baylor (8-2) knocked Rice (7-3) out of a share of the Southwest Conference crown with Arkansas when substitute quarterback Bobby Ply hit Ronnie Goodwin with a nine-yard touchdown pass in the closing minutes for the victory.

The Major Bowl lineup:

State Semi-Pro Tournament Slated Again In San Rafael

The National Baseball Congress today announced that the 26th annual state tournament for non-professional clubs with players of unlimited age will be staged at San Rafael starting July 21, 1961. A minimum of 16 teams will compete.

Cougress President Ray Dumont said district tournaments and leagues are being franchised throughout California to determine leading teams in state finals.

S. L. "Brick" Swegle of Walnut Creek has been named again to head the California program and supervise the final playoffs.

El Cerrito Hatzell will be the defending state champion, having won the 1960 California state title in San Rafael. The Nesbit-Masonry team of San Jose was runner-up to the 1960 California title in the state tournament.

The 1961 California state champion will qualify directly into the 27th annual National tournament at Wichita, starting Aug. 18, Dumont said.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Raiders Routed As L.A. Nears Pennant

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The American Football League's Los Angeles Chargers can take the Western Division title next Sunday if they stay on their patented recovery formula.

The Chargers were belted a week ago by Buffalo 32-3, which caused coach Sid Gillman to point out that, "The last time we were beaten badly we came back to win four straight and take the lead."

Sure enough, back they came yesterday, beating Oakland 52-28 to drop the Raiders into a a second place tie with Dallas. The Chargers and Raiders go at it again next week, and a Los Angeles victory would insure at least a tie and eliminate Oakland. A victory, plus a Dallas defeat by Houston would clinch matters.

Buffalo blew a 24-point lead in the fourth quarter and was held to a 38-38 tie by the Denver Broncos. No other games were scheduled.

Old reliable Jack Kemp was the man who cranked up the Chargers and sent them on their way. He tossed scoring passes of 69 yards to Don Norton and 63 to Paul Lowe.

Lowe gained 149 yards from scrimmage and Kemp's scoring tosses were his 10th and 11th of the season.

Gene Minge's 15-yard field goal in the final four seconds provided Denver with its tie, but some fancy passing by quarterback Frank Tripucka saved a lot of leg work. Trip hit his favorite target, Lionel Taylor, with three successive TD passes that sliced down a 38-14 Buffalo lead.

Taylor hauled in aerials of 80, 25 and 35 yards.

Bill Atkins kicked field goals of 20, 13 and 31 yards while Elbert Dubenion's twisting, dodging 76 run was the highlight of Buffalo's attack, which seemingly had the game tucked away after a 21-point third period.

Middies Roar Approval Of Orange Bowl

ANNAPOLIS, Md., (UPI) — Coach Wayne Hardin of Navy admitted today that he knows nothing about his Missouri opponent in the Orange Bowl classic, and that anything after last Saturday's Army-Navy game "is purely anti-climattic."

Hardin said it took him all day to unwind from the thrilling 17-12 finish in which Joe Bellino scored one touchdown and saved a Middle defeat in the closing seconds when he intercepted an Army pass on the Navy goal line.

"I think Bellino is the greatest player I've ever seen," Hardin said of his barrel-legged halfback who set a Navy all-time scoring secord this season.

Navy's trip to the Orange Bowl, the first such journey to Miami, Fla., will be the fourth post-season classic for a Naval Academy football team. The Sailors are undefeated in three previous bowl appearances. They tied Washington, 14-14, in the Rose Bowl in 1924, defeated Mississippi 21-0, in a 1955 Sugar Bowl game and whipped Rice, 20-7, at the Cotton Bowl in 1958.

The vote by Navy players for the Orange Bowl was unanimous. There was a resounding roar of approval following the game when Secretary of the Navy William D. Franke asked if they would like to go to Florida for the Orange Bowl.

Truck Driver Wins $62,517 At Track

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico (UPI)—A Los Angeles truck driver was $62,517 richer today after collecting his winnings from the Caliente 5-10 handicap.

Robert Armstrong (of 2231 West 31st Street) correctly tabbed all six winners Saturday in the 5-10 to win the money. When he returned to the track yesterday to collect, Armstrong said his wife did the picking. And the couple would use the money to help out their four married children.

Tests To Determine Cause Of Star's Death

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lengthy laboratory tests will be needed to determine what caused the death of Ralph Anderson, the Los Angeles Chargers' star offensive end, coroner's aides report.

Anderson, 25, died Saturday in the apartment of a girl friend. A doctor said his death was apparently due to natural causes. He suffered from diabetes and had a history of diabetic seizures.

UNDEFEATED CUBAN FAVORED IN S. F. BOUT

Undefeated Luis Rodriguez, who was just 11 years old when Johnny Gonsalves had his first pro fight in 1948, is favored to make the Oaklanders his 35th straight victim when they meet in a 10-round welterweight bout tonight at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium.

The 23-year-old Cuban champion, in line for a welterweight title match early next year, said through interpreters that he expects a tough fight from his clever 30-year-old opponent.

If he makes up his mind to do it—and handlers say he has for this one—the experienced and crafty Gonsalves could five the ambitious contender all he can handle when they start swapping blows.

Promoted by the San Francisco Boxing Club, Inc., the main event will be presented at around 9:45 p.m. The first preliminary bout is scheduled at 8:30. There is no television or radio broadcast.

Vidmar Wins Winter Yacht Race Thriller

By ALFRED MATSON

There were 148 starters in the second Corinthian Midwinter Race Series yesterday, but due to the lack of a sufficient power supply, meaning wind, only about two-thirds of the fleet managed to complete the course.

Keeping up the tradition of summer racing, it was again a battle down to the wire in the IC class between Bob Vidmar's Gypsy and the Rutsan owned by Jake Wosser with the former on top by a few seconds.

In the Cruising Club race, San Francisco Yacht Club entries garnered the win, place and show positions. Dr. Morris Smith was the winner with his Numse, Glen Waterhouse was second in Kay Two and not far behind was Pat Kirrane in the Andale.

STEVENS

It's a grand and glorious feeling when an experiment proves a howling success. That probably accounts for the howls of happiness coming from Game Warden Al Giddings.

The experiment was the planting of 54,000 baby silver salmon in Paper Mill Creek and Tomales Bay in October two years ago. The success part comes from the fact that so far this season 50 silvers have been landed, hundreds have been seen rolling and dozens have been lost. Reports have it that lines have been broken, leaders snapped and even a rod or two has been unable to take it.

Giddings has high hopes that the influx of large silvers will increase as time passes this year. That perhaps the Paper Mill Creek and the Tomales Bay will rank as one of the most productive silver salmon waters extant.

DID I SAY large? Right! Unbelievably large for silver salmon (the average weight of a silver salmon is around eight pounds). Recently Frank Allen took a silver salmon on a fly rod in Paper Mill Creek that weighed 21¾ pounds; Carlton Cherrigan landed one of 20¾ pounds and Mrs. "Bunky" Scanlon, two weeks ago, brought in one 15, one 16 and one 20 pounder.

Last year a silver salmon weighing 22 pounds took first prize in the Field and Stream contest (caught incidently, in Paper Mill Creek). Giddings feels certain a larger one will win this year and that it will come from Paper Mill Creek or Tomales Bay.

APPARENTLY these huge silvers are hard to get. Some of the regulars have fished for several days without landing a single fish—they've had 'em on many times, but didn't land 'em. Broken lines, leaders and one or two rods have been reported.

By the way, just to make it worthwhile, there has been some high grade striper fishing in Tomales Bay lately. Not many fishermen out after them. Giddings scouted the Bay last week. Used a fly rod and a half-ounce sinker and sardine bait. Hooked, played and landed a 22-pound striper along with the other two to make his limit. He told me his boat was the only one on the bay.

Speaking of boats — you can launch your own or rent one from Campbell's Golden Hinde Boatel at Inverness. Five of the skiffs may be had with outboard motors.

WERE I to try for a trophy silver in Paper Mill Creek or Tomales Bay, I would try a spinner (Bear Valley or Colorado) either with one side painted red, or with some red streamers of yarn or such. I'd troll at various speeds, preferably with oars instead of a motor. Just imagine hooking a 20-pound silver salmon on your spinning rod or your fly rod. If I used a fly, guess I'd try the Shrimp Fly first.

But you are probably a better fisherman than I am and will have your own ideas. At any rate, a flock of good luck to you.

Bruin Bill Kilmer Is Back Of Week

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bill Kilmer of UCLA was named Big Five "Back of the Week" today after the single wing wizard tailback led his fellow Bruins to a 16-9 victory over Utah.

The 187-pound Azusa senior boosted his All-American candidacy Saturday by tossing six passes good for 60 yards and one touchdown, setting up a field goal and scoring a TD of his own. In 27 carries he gained 180 yards.

Before the game Kilmer led the conference in total offense and punting. The only time he kicked Saturday it was a 61-yarder that raised his 41.7-yard average.

Trojans Lose Finale, Look To Next Year

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Southern California—with a dismal 4-6 season behind it — looks with optimism toward 1961.

Twelve Trojans, including the McKeever twins, are seniors. But Coach John McKay maintains optimistically that he can still come up with an impressive array of experienced varsity talent.

Southern Cal wound up its season Saturday, buried 17-0 in rain and mud by a driving Notre Dame squad.

The Irish, finishing an even more gloomy (2-8) year than USC scored on a field goal after taking the opening kickoff at Memorial Coliseum.

Sophomore quarterback Daryle LaMonica of Fresno engineered all the Notre Dame scores. He carried the ball 10 times for 53 yards and completed one of two passes for 18 yards.

The Trojans nearly got on the scoreboard as the clock ran out but Maples dropped a pass near the goal as the gun sounded.

Minnesota Signs Ed Lopat As Coach

LOUISVILLE (UPI)—The signing of Eddie Lopat as pitching coach of the Minnesota Twins ended a one-year effort to obtain the former Yankee star, Clark Griffith revealed today.

Lopat was hired yesterday by the Twins, formerly known as the Washington Senators, and will succeed Bob Swift, who was the Senators' pitching coach last season.

"We tried to get Lopat as our pitching coach a year ago because we thought he was the ideal man to help the kind of staff we have," Griffith said.

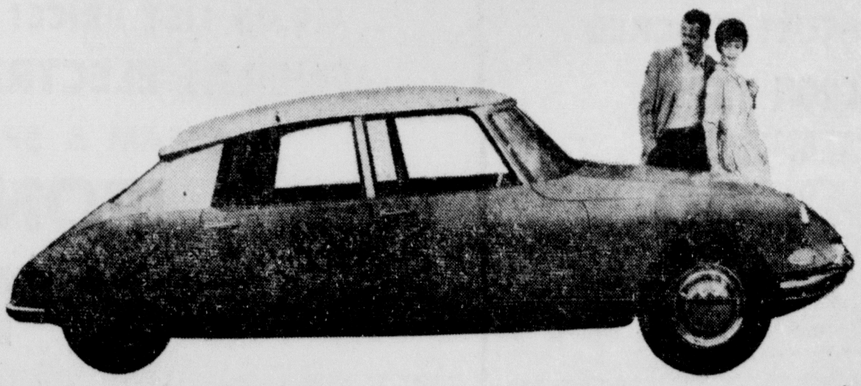

Lopat declined to sign with the Senators last year because he felt he had a chance to succeed Casey Stengel as Yankee manager.

Lopat, 42, had an American League record of 166 victories and 112 defeats. He appeared in five World Series with the Yankees, winnng four games and losing one.

Christmas Greens Committees Named

Mrs. Marion F. Ludlow of San Rafael, chairman of arrangements for the Decorations Guild's annual Christmas Greens Sale Dec. 16, 17 and 18 at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross, has named Mrs. R. P. Forster of Fairfax as her co-chairman, it was announced today. Mrs. Peter P. Schubert of Greenbrae was named assistant chairman.

Mrs. Raymond Ponath of Greenbrae will be in charge of the workroom crew which will make the wreaths, swags, mistletoe balls and other items of fresh greens to be offered as festive home decorations for the holidays. Co-chairmen of the committee making the traditional Yule logs are Mrs. Helene H. Hjort of Ross and Mrs. Fred H. Sloat of San Anselmo.

In addition to articles of fresh greens, the Guild will offer items made of long-lasting dried materials, according to Mrs. Ludlow. These materials, used for imaginative table arrangements, miniature Christmas trees, wreaths, and plaques, are gathered throughout the year in preparation for the pre-holiday sales.

After their summer travels, Guild members and their friends bring to the Decorations Guild work rooms baskets of pods, dried flowers and decorative weeds from all parts of California as well as other states. Cones of many sizes are bought from the high mountains, and palm fronds and stalks from the desert regions.

Many articles of dried materials are now available at the Decorations Guild Building at the Center, open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. Articles of fresh greens will be available only during the Christmas Greens Sale.

The Christmas Cupboard, offering homemade holiday foods, again will be a feature of the mid-December event, Mrs. Ludlow announced. The Pixie Parents, a Center affiliate, sponsor the Cupboard as their annual contribution to the sale. Mrs. Charles Phalen of Ross is chairman this year.

Hours of the Christmas Greens Sale and Christmas Cupboard will be 6 to 10 p.m. Friday, Dec. 16 and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 17 and 18. Proceeds will benefit the Center. The public is invited.

Melody Of Merry Christmas Theme For Fashion Luncheon

When the familiar white decor at Ondine in Sausalito opens for "Fashions With a View" on Thursday, Dec. 1, the "Melody of a Merry Christmas" will ring out. It will set the mood for four special holiday luncheons that will attract fashion minded women from all parts of the Bay Area who have heard of the distinctive, intimate appeal of the enthusiastically received new Thursday series.

The "Melody of a Merry Christmas," fashionably speaking will be in tune with gala fashions for the holidays from Ruth Gerten's charming Sausalito boutique which has earned an international reputation for fashions with flair since its opening a few holidays ago.

Welcomed as the first holiday "guest-with-a-viewpoint" will be one of San Francisco's first ladies, Mrs. John R. Upton, executive vice president of the San Francisco Symphony Association Women's Committees. Invited to join her is Mrs. Enrique Jorda, wife of the conductor of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

In a Christmas tribute to the San Francisco Symphony as it begins its 49th season on Dec. 7, Mrs. John Willcutt, Mrs. Eugene Hiller, Mrs. Richard Evans, Mrs. Robert Roat and Mrs. John Bellamy Jr. will promenade the holiday fashions gathered from the USA and exciting ports of call in India, Hawaii, France, Austria, Italy, England and Canada.

The fashionable "Melody of a Merry Christmas" will unfold as a holiday symphonic composition: Adagio, busy-day outfits for holiday rushing: Intermezzo, the important inbetweens for exciting Yuletide occasions; Scherzo, light, lithe, and lovely looks at home for the holidays and Finale: Allegro vivace, excitement for after five on any festive evening.

Reservations to enjoy Fashions With a View from the Ondine that has captured the fancy of social and fashion press as well as the Thursday guests, and predictably has become "the place for Thursday luncheon" may be made by calling the restaurant. Luncheon and fashions begin at 12:30 p.m.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Better Health Through Knowledge

Car Sickness

- Gritty Mouth
- Menopause Defined
- Tapeworm

Q. What can be done to help a child who gets carsick? Are there drugs to take or is it "all in the head?"

A. Several drugs are now available which help prevent carsickness. Your doctor can offer advice along these lines. Motion sickness isn't entirely "imagination," as anyone who has ever been sick can testify. However, excitement and suggestion do play a part. It would be best not to mention the possibility of getting sick to the child. If vomiting occurs, don't make a fuss. Otherwise, the child may employ this means of gaining attention.

Q. What can I do for a gritty feeling in my mouth?

A. If you wear dentures, keep them scrupulously clean. Although this may help, mouth grittiness is not unusual in persons past 50 or so.

Q. Does the menopause end with the cessation of the menses or does it continue?

A. We need to define some terms. "Menopause" literally means cessation of menstrual function. Another term — "climacteric" — denotes a transitional phase or "change of life," of which the menopause is but one manifestation. This transitional period of life normally extends through the 50th year.

Q. I think I have a tapeworm. What medicine can I take? And don't tell me to go to a doctor —I'm too embarrassed.

A. You need a spanking (and at your age). Forget your false modesty and see your physician. There are very effective drugs for this condition but they should be used only under the direct supervision of a doctor.

Answers do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician. Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, Nov. 28, the 333rd day of the year with 33 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Mars and Mercury.

The evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1520, Ferdinand Magellan entered the Pacific Ocean and became the ~~first~~ European to sail that body of water from the East.

In 1863, the nation observed the first Thanksgiving Day set aside by national proclamation.

In 1866, celebrated American actor David Warfield was born.

In 1895, America's first auto race began on a 55-mile course from Chicago's Jackson Park to Evanston, Ill.

A thought for today: French writer Alexandre Dumas the younger said: "Business? It's quite simple. It's other people's money."

Clearly Understood Rules Enforced Consistently Are Best For Children

Do you have clear rules for your children? Do you enforce the rules consistently?

Let me tell you about two small friends of mine, Billy and Bobby. They show why rules are important.

Billy and Bobby are 3. They are next-door neighbors. They are bright, peppy, healthy. Their parents love them.

The boys are alike except for one thing. Billy knows what's expected of him. Bobby doesn't.

Billy's folks have clear rules. He knows he must stay out of the street. He can dig in the mud, but he can't bring the mess into the house. He knows when his bedtime comes, and that protests are useless.

The result? He feels secure. He usually cooperates. He's happy. There's a comfortable future ahead for Billy.

Bobby is behind the eight ball. His mother has exaggerated ups and downs. When she is feeling good, Bobby gets by with murder. He makes a shambles of the house and she doesn't care. He takes dangerous chances in the street. He stays up very late.

But when she's feeling low Bobby catches it. Nothing he does is right. He's spanked 10 times an hour.

The result? Bobby has no idea what is expected of him. He feels insecure and afraid. Fear shows in everything he does. He has had nightmares and a disturbing facial tic. Bobby's future is doubtful.

Not many of us can be completely consistent. But we can try. At our worst we could do a better job than Bobby's folks.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "My daughters are 14 and 15. They think they should decide their own bedtime. I insist that on week nights they start to bed about 9:30 and be settled by 10. They say I am unreasonable. Do you think so?"

P.R.

(A) No. I do not. Your girls need definite hours and a regular bedtime. You should make exceptions, of course, for parties and special events.

Crime Increase Told In Report

Crime is on the increase in California according to a report issued by Attorney General Stanley Mosk.

Based on a recent mid-year summary of crime in the State showing a crime rate increase of 17 per cent for the first half of 1960, Mosk stated the full year's figures will show the crime rate to have climbed well above 17 per cent over the 1959 rate.

There were 61,346 crimes reported in the State during July, August and September, the report stated with Los Angeles County reporting more than half the total.

The San Francisco Bay Area reported 11,060 crimes with 2,593 committed in Alameda County, 4,059 in San Francisco City and County and 4,408 in seven other Bay counties.

Church Planning Slides On Hawaii

Interchange Low Bid Announced

A low bid of $577,229 was opened last week at the State Department of Public Works Office in Sacramento for construction of a cloverleaf interchange at the Marinwood entrance on Highway 101, just north of the Lucas Valley Road.

Charley L. Harney Co. of San Francisco was low bidder.

This project, according to Marin County Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham, will be similar to the interchange now near completion at the nearby entrance to Terra Linda.

Driver 'Improved'

John F. Marchini, 18, of 21 Bayview Terrace in Mill Valley, suffered a laceration of the left eyebrow when the car he was driving skidded off the road at 77 Miller Avenue last night and ran into the bank on the side of the street. Marchini was treated in the Marin General Hospital and released.

ELECTRONICS GEAR IN NEEDLE NOSE

To test the advanced radar and fire control equipment of the F-104G Starfighter, the eight-foot needle nose of a Starfighter has been affixed to the fuselage of a DC-3 transport in a test at the Lockheed plant at Burbank. The nose carries interchangeable electronics gear, while the transport's fuselage contains a complete F-104G cockpit mock-up, plus banks of test and measuring equipment. The bulge above the DC-3's flight station houses the F-104G infrared optical gunsight. By combining components of the two airplanes engineers can study, in flight, the operational characteristics of the all-weather installations designed for multi-mission fighters ordered by several foreign countries.

Two Men, Three Boys Dig Canyon For Semi-Precious Lapis Lazuli

By HAL BORCHERT

UPLAND (AP)—Two men and three boys are digging a hole in the wall of a canyon north of here, convinced that they have discovered a vein of semi-precious gemstone.

The stone is lapis lazuli, a deep-blue stone flecked with gold which is known as the "sapphire of the ancients"

Their mine may be the fourth commercial deposit of lapis in the world and the first one in the United States.

William Peck, of Montclair, and John Ernsberger of Chino, are partners in the mine. Assisting them with the digging are three teen-agers — Peck's son, Phil, 15; and Bob Hoglan, 17, and LeRoy Renz, 15, both of Montclair.

The mine is located in remote Cascade Canyon, an offshoot of San Antonio Canyon.

Lapis lazuli is a compact combination of many minerals, essentially lazurite, but containing hauynite and sodalite. The gold flecks are iron pyrite.

The stone's history goes back to biblical times.

The presence of a lapis deposit in the Cascade Canyon south fork has been known for more than a century, but no one had hit a commercial deposit.

Peck and Ernsberger have found a vein in the obscure north fork which they believe is commercially important. The only commercial deposits now are in Chile, Afghanistan and Siberia.

The U.S. Forest Service apparently believes the men have a commercial deposit. The service has granted them a special use permit, a lease to mine the canyon for lapis only.

Peck and Ernsberger were searching the canyon for years, but neither knew the other was there.

Ernsberger began looking for lapis in 1948 while he was a student at Pomona College. After graduation, he continued his trips on weekends but found nothing very big or very good.

Meanwhile, Peck, a rockhound, had become fascinated with stories of the blue stone which had been found in the canyon. He and his son started panning the stream at the bottom of the canyon just off Mt. Baldy Road. Working up the canyon, they found tiny traces of blue material and then pieces about the size of a pea in the main fork. They soon had to make a decision. They reached the north fork and decided to try it and at the bottom of a waterfall high up the canyon they found a stone the size of a heavyweight's fist.

The men met, but not in the canyon. They were introduced by a mutual friend who knew both and were interested in rocks.

They went to the canyon together for the first time last January and Ernsberger, a geologist, confirmed Peck's belief that he had something. They formed a partnership and applied for the mining permit.

The other two boys, Hoglan and Renz, are members of an Explorer Scout unit and Peck is their adviser.

The five have brought out over 200 pounds of the material this year. They carry it on their backs—there is no other way.

Peck's garage has been transformed into a stone-cutting shop where the miners spend their evenings turning out jewelry for their families and friends.

Peck and Ernsberger do not believe that their discovery will make them wealthy. "The difficulty in bringing out the lapis puts a stop to the wealth idea right away," Ernsberger said.

"We'll let the mine develop itself," Peck said.

N.Y. STATE STUDY

Illegitimacy For Sake Of Welfare Funds Denied

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Do mothers receiving public welfare conceive illegitimate children just to pick up a few more dollars a month?

Director John Wedemeyer of the State Social Welfare Department says no, and he has a new report to back him up.

He notes that the study by New York health and welfare officials is the first to go into the illegitimacy problem with any thoroughness.

It terms as totally false the claims that mothers perpetuate illegitimacy for the sake of collecting aid funds — which brought these comments from Wedemeyer:

"It reflects what we in California have felt for some time, that Aid to Needy Children funds do not encourage immorality.

"It is hardly conceivable that a woman would find it profitable to have a baby just for the sake of $30 more per month, the average additional welfare grant per child."

Some of the study's conclusions, Wedemeyer notes, closely parallel other California findings, namely that:

1. The overwhelming percentage of illegitimate children, more than two-thirds, come from Negro and Mexican-American groups.

2. The problems of illegitimacy grow out of a variety of social, economic and health problems—broken homes, mental retardation and the like.

3. Only 13 per cent of the total illegitimate children are on ANC rolls.

4. The number of illegitimate children, at least among minority groups is about the same whether the family is getting funds or not.

5. It's better for all concerned to support illegitimate children in their homes, whenever possible.

Drunken Driver Gets $263 Fine

Lamar Q. Wyatt, 55, salesman living at 355 Vista Grande, Greenbrae, must spend five days in Marin County Jail and pay $263 fine for drunken driving.

Two other motorists drew six months probation and $158 fine each. Their driving is restricted for the next 90 days. The two are Theodore George Burton, 27, of Healdsburg, caught on Highway 101 last July 1; and James Joseph Carney, 34, painter living at 59 Edison Avenue Corte Madera, who was caught on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in San Anselmo on Sept. 12.

(A Thrice-Weekly Column)

Some Statistics On Yule Buying — You'll Buy More Than You Intended

The period between Thanksgiving and Christmas is one of the heaviest buying seasons of the year. It is two days longer this year than in 1959 — 26 shopping days as against 24.

The buying spree for many has already started. Budgeted or not, your outlay for Christmas presents is likely to exceed what you intended to spend. Based on averages, here is the forecast of your probably disbursements:

If your family has an annual income of less than $7,500, it will pay out about $100 for gifts. This does not include expenditures for Christmas tree, ornaments, dinner and refreshments. Those with higher incomes will spend close to $200 The average family will spend about $147.

On Christmas morning this year, Americans will open an estimated 7.3 billion dollars worth of presents.

Women make about 83 per cent of all Christmas purchases, but men are likely to spend more money. This is because a man's single gift to his wife may cost more than all the rest of their presents put together.

A survey among women has shown that the gifts they most desire (and this is not intended to influence your own plans) are coats, sweaters, watches, sewing machines, rings, hi-fi sets, sofas, dresses, jackets, electric mixers and toasters.

Typical gifts that these same women planned to give their husbands were sweaters, shirts, tools and photographic equipment.

MARINITES IN BUSINESS: The City of San Anselmo's Christmas decorations this year, including the hobgoblins hanging on the lamp posts, are the work of Mrs. Kathleen Duncan of San Rafael. Novelty window display figures are her specialty.

Mrs. Janice R. Magee of San Rafael has been appointed a district manager in this area for FIF Associates, Inc., a distributing organization for shares of Financial Industrial Fund and Financial Industrial Income Fund. Both offer full-time professional investment management and diversified holdings in major business enterprises.

Mutual of New York field underwriter Ed Nordstrom, who has his office in San Rafael and lives in Mill Valley, has qualified for his firm's 1960 Top Club — a group of the top 15 per cent company producers. This entitles him to an expense-paid trip to New York with a week's stay at the Waldorf Hotel.

San Rafael acoustical engineer Dariel Fitzroy has recently returned from Sarasota, Fla., where he participated in the Designs for Learning conference of educators, architects, editors and consultants.

Purpose of the conference was to develop new ideas in school design to accommodate the modern teaching methods being tried experimentally throughout the country.

WHILE THE FULL advantages may not be apparent for the weather at this time of the year, Studebaker Lark is adding a Continental flair to 1961 sedans and hardtops by equipping them with a sliding weatherproof vinyl top that covers a 36 by 28-inch aperture in the roof and slides back on chrome runners.

Still, Skytop Sunroof as it is called, may be something to consider for pleasurable driving during the warm months in Marin. We understand that Larks so equipped are en route to dealers' showrooms.

Rossi Garage, San Rafael distributor, says it has no models of this type in stock or on orders but will endeavor to secure them if desired.

In School 'Who's Who'

Charles Youngclaus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Youngclaus of 10 Court Lane, Fairfax, has been named to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." A 1956 graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, he is a senior at Fresno State College. Youngclaus was recently married to Miss Judy Russell of Madera.

Concert By Orchestra Basso Well Received

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Marinites turned out nearly a thousand strong Friday night at Marin Catholic High School in miserable weather to hear the opening concert of the ninth annual series.

At the conclusion of the program the audience gave Salgo and guest basso Robert Oliver of Los Angeles a lengthy and vigorous ovation.

It was a night of special pleasure to connoisseurs of neglected and out of fashion music of the 19th Century, since the program was made up primarily of neo-romantic works of Richard Strauss and outright romantic Verdi and Bizet.

The "Magic Flute" overture and bass Aria from the same opera were acclaimed. But most of the enthusiasm was reserved for other numbers.

Having studied and played under Strauss, Salgo, as expected, led the orchestra in an authentic and inspired reading of the symphonic poem that will long be remembered.

Adding immeasurably to the effect of his arias were cellist Jean Mattos Maguire's solo accompaniment and that of the massed cellos.

Other memorable moments were Jean Stevens's pellucid oboe passages in the second movement of Bizet's Symphony No. 1 and the brief but poignant combination of the violin and harp in the opening part of the symphonic poem as played by concertmaster Charles Meacham and harpist Joel Andrews.

The orchestra showed especially well balanced work in the fugal section of "The Magic Flute," with the string choir notable for smooth sostenuto in the adagio beginning of the overture.

The same nicely balanced performance was heard in the sonorous tapestry created by the tutti playing of the Bizet symphony's fugato section, with the first violins outstanding for unanimity in the perpetual motion of the finale.

Ward's Manager Heads Merchants

Adrian Taylor, manager of W. T. Grant Co., was elected vice president; Beverley Sill, president of the First National Bank in the center, was re-elected treasurer, and Louis Malvino of Louis George Men's Apparel was re-elected secretary.

Taylor and Kenneth Landrage, manager of Thrity Drug Store, were elected to two-year terms on the board of directors.
